Dean, 2011-04-21 Lieutenant General Sir Frank Berryman is one of the most important yet relatively unknown officers in the history of the Australian Army Despite his reputedly caustic personality and noted conflicts with some senior officers Berryman was crucial to Australia s success during the Second World War But did the man known as Berry the Bastard deserve his reputation Bold calculating and talented Berryman was at the forefront of operations that led to the defeat of the Japanese and his operational planning secured Australia s victories at Bardia Tobruk and in New Guinea during the Pacific War With access to rare private papers Peter Dean charts Berryman s special relationships with senior US and Australian officers such as MacArthur Chamberlin Blamey Lavarack and Morshead and explains why the man poised to become the next Chief of General Staff would never fulfil his ambition The War in North Africa, 1940-1943 Colin F. Baxter, 1996-03-30 Few of the major campaigns of World War II aroused as much controversy as the War in North Africa 1940 1943 Figures such as Rommel Montgomery and Eisenhower would become world famous because of the fighting in North Africa This book opens with seven historiographical essays that evaluate and critically assess the major contributions to the literature on the War in North Africa It then includes an alphabetically arranged bibliography of the 504 entries cited in the essays The material is easily accessible with cross references between the text and the bibliography and a full index The volume includes chapters on the Desert War 1940 42

the Axis Powers in North Africa Montgomery Alam Halfa and El Alamein TORCH the Landings in French North Africa and the Tunisian Campaign Full attention is given to questions and issues historians have raised on such controversies as the Auchinleck Montgomery dispute the debate over Operation TORCH and the Darlan affair Emphasis is on English language works but the most significant Italian German and French works are cited and assessed The book has been written for use in public college university and institutional libraries and to serve general readers and military historians Australia's War 1939-45 Joan Beaumont, 2020-09-10 The Second World War was a dominant experience in Australian history For the first time the country faced the threat of invasion The economy and society were mobilised to an unprecedented degree with 550 000 men and women or one in twelve of a population of over 7 million serving in the armed forces overseas Social patterns and family life were disrupted Politically the war gave a new legitimacy to the Australian Labor Party which had been confined to the wilderness of the Opposition at the Federal level for most of the inter war years The powers of the Federal government increased and a new momentum for social reform was generated at the popular and governmental level In the international sphere the war fundamentally shook Australian confidence in the power on which it had relied for generations Great Britain It generated a sense of independence in Australian foreign policy and initiated a new if halting and problematic realignment towards the United States In this accessible book Joan Beaumont Kate Darian Smith David Lee David Lowe Marnie Haig Muir Roy Hay and David Walker consider the range of Australia's experience of this conflict In a single volume they draw together the many aspects of the war and distil the current state of historical scholarship Australia's War 1939-45 will be invaluable to tertiary students and of enormous interest to the reader concerned with the social political and military history of Australia A companion volume on the First World War is also available Field Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery, 1887-1976 Colin F. Baxter, 1999-10-30 In the desperate summer of 1942 Hitler seemed to be on the verge of victory in Russia and the Middle East With Rommel nearing Cairo a little known lieutenant general Bernard Montgomery took charge of what Churchill called a baffled and bewildered British 8th Army Assuming command Montgomery issued his famous order Here we will stand and fight If we can't stay here alive then let us stay here dead and led the Army to one of the Allies' greatest victories El Alamein Monty became an instantly recognizable Allied leader but as a man with strong views unbending principles and outspoken frankness he was both loved and disliked praised and criticized This bibliography presents and evaluates the extensive body of literature that has grown up around the controversial Field Marshal Any serious study of World War II military campaigns must confront Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery an individualist with both admirers and detractors This book provides an extensive historiographical overview of the literature in Part I and a bibliography of significant works in Part II It is a basic reference and research guide for the student scholar and general reader General Vasey's War David Horner, 2016-10-18 To his troops he was Bloody George a hard bitten professional soldier technically competent and tactically proficient His brigade bore the brunt of the fighting in Greece He commanded the entire Australian force in Crete in the battle against German airborne invaders He directed the Australian advance from Kokoda and presided over the defeat of the Japanese in the savage battles of the beachheads But there was more to Major General George Vasey than his impressive record Through the existence of a remarkable collection of letters to his wife Jessie we have a rare opportunity to get inside the mind of this successful commander The picture that emerges is one that his closest comrades knew one of compassion and humanity a commander who genuinely cared for the well being of his men General Vasey's War analyses Vasey's military performance but it also allows us to share Vasey's private thoughts his frustrations and triumphs his hopes and cares Through a unique insight into one man's war we are rewarded with a better understanding of the practice of warfare during those momentous years Oboe One, Tarakan, 1945 Peter Stanley, 2025-07-02

In 1945 the small island of Tarakan off Borneo's coast became the unlikely stage for one of the Second World War's most gruelling campaigns As part of General Douglas MacArthur's plan to liberate the Netherlands Indies Australian soldiers launched Operation Oboe One a mission to capture Tarakan's airstrip What was meant to last three weeks stretched into two months of bitter jungle warfare claiming 240 Australian lives and 1 500 Japanese defenders The airstrip's strategic goal faltered but the courage and sacrifice of those who fought there remain untold Through vivid narratives and exhaustive research Oboe One brings this obscure battle to life uncovering the grit and camaraderie of the Second Australian Imperial Force These citizen soldiers faced dense jungles hidden mines and relentless enemy fire embodying professionalism and resilience in the war's final days Their experiences reveal not just the hardships of combat but the unique ethos of a generation shaped by a vanished Australia an era of robust unpolished camaraderie and quiet determination This compelling account revisits Tarakan through the eyes of its participants and confronts lingering questions about the campaign's necessity Was it a strategic misstep or a justified sacrifice within the larger Pacific war effort Tarakan challenges readers to remember the forgotten honour the fallen and understand the extraordinary men whose lives were forever marked by this brutal campaign For those seeking to explore the human cost of war Tarakan is an essential tribute to courage leadership and the enduring echoes of an extraordinary Australian legacy Twentieth-Century War and Conflict Gordon Martel, 2014-07-28
