Jonna Katto, 2019-11-11 This book tells the history of the changing gendered landscapes of northern Mozambique from the perspective of women who fought in the armed struggle for national independence diverting from the often told narrative of women in nationalist wars that emphasizes a linear plot of liberation Taking a novel approach in focusing on the body senses and landscape Jonna Katto through a study of the women ex combatants lived landscapes shows how their life trajectories unfold as nonlinear spatial histories This brings into focus the women s shifting and multilayered negotiations for personal space and belonging This book explores the life memories of the now aging female ex combatants in the province of Niassa in northern Mozambique looking at how the female ex combatants experiences of living in these northern landscapes have shaped their sense of socio spatial belonging and attachment It builds on the premise that individual embodied memory cannot be separated from social memory personal lives are culturally shaped Thus the book does not only tell the history of a small and rather unique group of women but also speaks about wider cultural histories of body landscape relations in northern Mozambique and especially changes in those relations Enriching our understanding of the gendered history of the liberation struggle in Mozambique and informing broader discussions on gender and nationalism this book will be of interest to students and scholars of African history especially the colonial and postcolonial history of Lusophone Africa as well as gender women s history and peace and conflict studies

Nationalism and Territoriality in Barue and Mozambique André Van Dokkum, 2020-05-06 Nationalism as an ideology coupling self conscious peoples to fixed territories is often seen as emerging from European historical developments also in postcolonial countries outside Europe Andr van Dokkum's Nationalism and Territoriality in Barue and Mozambique shows that this view is not universally true The precolonial Kingdom of Barue in what is now Mozambique showed characteristics generally associated with nationalism giving the country great resilience against colonial encroachment Postcolonial Mozambique on the other hand has so far not succeeded in creating national coherence The former anti colonial organization and now party in power Frelimo has always stressed national unity but only under its own guidance paradoxically producing disunity

Gender and Social Movements Bahati M. Kuumba, 2001-09-05 Do men and women experience participation in social movements differently Are gender roles reproduced or undermined during a struggle for liberation In this brief text examining gender roles in social movements M Bahati Kuumba shows how liberation struggles are viewed through women's eyes and how gender affects women's mobilization strategies and outcomes in social movement organizations Using two well known examples the American civil rights movement and the South African national liberation movement Kuumba documents the circumscribed roles of women the unheralded role of movement leaders such as Ella Baker and Frances Baard and how gender affected movement activities and results Gender and Social Movements is the ideal text to introduce a sophisticated view of race and gender into social movement courses

Challenge To Imperialism Carol B. Thompson, 2019-08-27 Challenge to Imperialism is the first comprehensive analysis of the Zimbabwean struggle for independence in its international context Based on extensive research in the southern African region and on interviews with the ZANU and ZAPU leaders in exile during the war this study is an analysis of the crucial support given to the Zimbabwean nationalists by the five Frontline States Angola Botswana Mozambique Tanzania and Zambia The book begins with a summary of the variable relations among the Frontline States and between those states and the Zimbabwean nationalists More than once Frontline governments put Zimbabwean nationalists in their own jails as tensions arose over leadership conduct of the war and terms for peace Yet the Frontline States maintained their support in spite of the extremely high cost to their own economic development How could these weak and economically dependent states confront the dominant interests in the region Was Lancaster House simply a capitulation to imperialist interests a constitution forced on the nationalists by the beleaguered Frontline States This theoretical analysis addresses the complexity of these questions and suggests lessons for the current struggles in Namibia and in South Africa Further Dr Thompson discusses the formation of the Southern African Development Coordination Conference SADCC as an attempt to transform the Zimbabwean political victory into regional economic cooperation This study of the political and economic background of Zimbabwean independence is important not only to those concerned about Zimbabwe and southern Africa but also to those interested in the nature of liberation struggles and in the role of the state in developing countries
