Academy of Learning: Your Complete Preschool Lesson Plan Resource - Volume 2, Out of Time Robert Slifkin, 2013-08-31 Focusing on the thirty-three paintings that Philip Guston exhibited at the Marlborough Gallery in 1970 this in-depth account reconsiders the history of postwar American art and the conception of figuration in modern art history. Through a myriad of cultural touchstones including evidence from literary and musical vogues of the period Robert Slifkin examines the role of history as both artistic medium and creative catalyst to Guston's practice as a painter. Slifkin employs a wealth of visual examples, archival materials, and original scholarship to situate Guston's paintings within broader artistic debates of the time using the cultural movement of the sixties as its orienting foreground. This historical framework provides an interface between the notions of time in art and time in the material world. Lively and edifying Slifkin's comprehensive text productively complicates the prescribed traditions of postwar art history and in turn shifts our perception of Guston and his place in the domain of modern art.

Rejuvenile Christopher Noxon, 2007-04-24 Once upon a time boys and girls grew up and set aside childish things. Nowadays moms and dads skateboard alongside their kids and download the latest pop song ringtones. Captains of industry pose for the cover of BusinessWeek holding Super Soakers. The average age of video game players is twenty-nine and rising. Top chefs develop recipes for Easy Bake Ovens. Disney World is the world's top adult vacation destination that's adults without kids. And young people delay marriage and childbirth longer than ever in part to keep family obligations from interfering with their fun, fun, fun. Christopher Noxon has coined a word for this new breed of grown-up rejuveniles. And as a self-confessed rejuvenile he's a sympathetic yet critical guide to this bright and shiny world of people who see growing up as winding down, exchanging a life of playful flexibility for anxious days tending lawns and mutual funds. In Rejuvenile Noxon explores the historical roots of today's juveniles hint all roads lead to Peter Pan the toyification of practical devices car cuteness is at an all time high and the new gospel of play He talks to parents who love cartoons more than their children do twenty somethings who live happily with their parents and grown ups who evangelize on behalf of all ages tag and Legos And he takes on the Harrumphing Codgers who see the juvenile as a threat to the social order Noxon tempers stories of his and others juvenile tendencies with cautionary notes about lost souls whose taste for childish things is creepy at best Exhibit A Michael Jackson On balance though he sees juveniles as optimists and capital R Romantics people driven by a desire to hold on to the part of ourselves that feels the most genuinely human We believe in play in make believe in learning in naps And in a time of deep uncertainty we trust that this deeper more adaptable part of ourselves is our best tool of survival Fresh and delightfully contrarian Juvenile makes hilarious sense of this seismic culture change It's essential reading not only for grown ups who refuse to act their age but for those who wish they would just grow up Pixar with Lacan Lilian Munk
