Downcanyon Ann Zwinger,2015-11-01 Every writer comes to the Colorado River in the Grand Canyon with a unique point of view Ann Zwinger s is that of a naturalist an observer at the river s brim Teamed with scientists and other volunteer naturalists Zwinger was part of an ongoing study of change along the Colorado In all seasons and all weathers in almost every kind of craft that goes down the waves she returned to the Grand Canyon again and again to explore look and listen

From the thrill of running the rapids to the wonder in a grain of sand her words take the reader down 280 miles of the ever flowing energetic whooping and hollering galloping river Zwinger s book begins with a bald eagle count at Nankoweap Creek in January and ends with a subzero snowy walk out of the canyon at winter solstice Between are the delights of spring in side canyons the benediction of rain on a summer beach and the chill that comes off limestone walls in November Her eye for detail catches the enchantment of small things played against the immensity of the river the gatling gun love song of tree frogs the fragile beauty of an evening primrose ravens always in close attendance like lugubrious sharp eyed nineteenth century undertakers and a golden eagle chasing a trout with wings akimbo like a cleaning lady after a cockroach As she travels downstream Zwinger follows others in history who have risked and occasionally lost their lives on the Colorado Hiking in narrow canyons she finds cliff dwellings and broken pottery of prehistoric Indians Rounding a bend or running a rapid she remembers the triumphs and tragedies of early explorers and pioneers She describes the changes that have come with putting a big dam on a big river and how the dam has affected the riverine flora and fauna as well as the rapids and their future Science in the hands of a poet this captivating book is for armchair travelers who may never see the grandiose Colorado and for those who have run it wisely and well Like the author readers will find themselves bewitched by the color and flow of the river and enticed by what s around the next bend With her they will find its rhythms still in the mind long after the splash and spray and pound are gone Grand Canyon Place Names Gregory McNamee,2004 Stories behind the names of the fabulous sights in Arizona s famous National Park A Walk in the Park Kevin Fedarko,2024-05-28 Two friends zero preparation one dream An account of the epic misadventure of a 750 mile odyssey on foot through the heart of America s most magnificent national park and the grandest wilderness on earth Woman of the River Richard Westwood,2019-09-02 The great adventurer who helped make whitewater rafting a beloved national pastime comes to vivid life in this rollicking biography Georgie White Clark adventurer raconteur eccentric first came to know the canyons of the Colorado River by swimming portions of them with a single companion She subsequently hiked and rafted portions of the canyons increasingly sharing her love of the Colorado River with friends and acquaintances At first establishing a part time guide service as a way to support her own river trips Clark went on to become perhaps the canyons best known river guide introducing their rapids to many others both on the river via her large capacity rubber rafts and across the nation via magazine articles and movies Georgie Clark saw the river and her sport change with the building of Glen Canyon Dam enormous increases in the popularity of river running and increased National Park Service regulation of rafting and river guides Adjusting though not always easily to the changes she helped transform an elite adventure sport into a major tourist activity Into the Unknown Michael P. Ghiglieri,2024-09-15 Veteran wilderness guide Michael P Ghiglieri takes you into the unknown among white water rapids crocodiles hippos gorillas lions and impossible waterfalls His riveting memoir not only serves up true high adventure it also presents the ecology natural history conservation or the lack of it and exploration history of nine far flung wilderness regions across the globe including the never to be repeated white water run on the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon during the Bureau of Reclamation's 1983 super flood of ninety seven thousand cubic feet per second the first summit to sea descent of the Alas River exploring Sumatra's new Gunung Leuser National Park a last redoubt for wild orangutans and other rare species and the impossible run of the Alsek River from the Yukon to Alaska in the world's largest international conservation area Into the Unknown reveals what the natural world looks like through a professional's eyes during adventure travel when things start sliding toward the edge This insider memoir recounts ten sagas of extreme expeditions into Earth's most amazing wilderness regions to illustrate their realities science allure history risks to life and limb and ultimate fates Many of these regions have now vanished to progress Others are imperiled Only a few are protected But all are or were places where exotic beauty and danger are inseparable

Grand Canyon, A Century of Change Robert H. Webb, 2021-11-30 Photographs made in Grand Canyon a century ago may provide us today with a sense of history photographs made a century later from the same vantage points give us a more precise picture of change in this seemingly timeless place Between 1889 and 1890 Robert Brewster Stanton made photographs every 1/2 miles through the river corridor for the purpose of planning a water level railroad route and produced the largest collection of photographs of the Colorado River at one point in time Robert Webb a USGS hydrologist conducting research on debris flows in the Canyon obtained the photographs and from 1989 to 1995 replicated all 445 of the views captured by Stanton matching as closely as possible the original camera positions and lighting conditions Grand Canyon a Century of Change assembles the most dramatic of these paired photographs to demonstrate both the persistence of nature and the presence of humanity Unexpected longevity of some plant species effects of animal grazing and expansion of cacti are all captured by the replicate photographs More telling is evidence of the impact of Glen Canyon Dam increased riparian vegetation new marshes aggraded debris fans and eroded sand bars In the accompanying text Webb provides a thorough analysis of what each pair of photographs shows and places the project in its historical context

Complementing his narrative are six sidebar articles by authorities on Canyon natural history that further attest to a century of change. The level of detail obtained from the photographs represents one of the most extensive long term monitoring efforts ever conducted in a national park; it is the most detailed documentation effort ever performed using repeat photography. Much more than simply a picture book, Grand Canyon: A Century of Change is an environmental history of the river corridor, a fascinating book that clearly shows the impact of human influence on Grand Canyon and warns us that its future is very much in our hands.

A River Running West Donald Worster, 2002-11-28. If the word hero still belonged in the historian's lexicon, it would certainly be applied to John Wesley Powell: intrepid explorer, careful scientist, talented writer, and dedicated conservationist. Powell led the expedition that put the Colorado River on American maps and revealed the Grand Canyon to the world. Now comes the first biography of this towering figure in almost fifty years, a book that captures his life in all its heroism, idealism, and ambivalent, ambiguous humanity. In A River Running West, Donald Worster, one of our leading Western historians, tells the story of Powell's great adventures and describes his historical significance with compelling clarity and skill. Worster paints a vivid portrait of how this man emerged from the early nineteenth century world of immigrants, fervent religion, and rough and tumble rural culture, and barely survived the Civil War battle at Shiloh. The heart of Worster's biography is Powell's epic journey down the Colorado in 1869, a tale of harrowing experiences, lethal accidents, and breathtaking discoveries. After years in the region collecting rocks and fossils and learning to speak the local Native American languages, Powell returned to Washington as an eloquent advocate for the West, one of America's first and most influential conservationists. But in the end, he fell victim to a clique of Western politicians who pushed for unfettered economic development, relegating the aging explorer to a quiet life of anthropological contemplation. John Wesley Powell embodied the energy, optimism, and westward impulse of the young United States. A River Running West is a gorgeously written, magisterial account of this great American explorer and environmental pioneer, a true story of undaunted courage in the American West.

Grand Canyon, 2006. Ann Zwinger plumbs the very soul of this majestic place, exploring the deserts along the Colorado's banks in order to examine things that often go unnoticed against a backdrop of overwhelming grandeur. Whether drawing our attention to a newly unfurled evening primrose, a ladybug at work on a leaf full of aphids, or the amazing appearance of a humpback chub slipping through the water like a pewter ghost, she opens a new window on the Canyon at river level to show us that small things of overpowering beauty can be found in a place whose intrinsic splendor is nothing less than staggering.
