Competition, Choice, and Incentives in Government Programs

Albert Morales, John M. Kamensky, 2006 Since the 1980s the language used around market based government has muddled its meaning and polarized its proponents and critics making the topic politicized and controversial Competition Choice and Incentives in Government Programs hopes to reframe competing views of market based government so it is seen not as an ideology but rather as a fact based set of approaches for managing government services and programs more efficiently and effectively

America Inc.? Linda Weiss, 2014-04-01 For more than half a century the United States has led the world in developing major technologies that drive the modern economy and underpin its prosperity In America Inc Linda Weiss attributes the U S capacity for transformative innovation to the strength of its national security state a complex of agencies programs and hybrid arrangements that has developed around the institution of permanent defense preparedness and the pursuit of technological supremacy She examines how that complex emerged and how it has evolved in response to changing geopolitical threats and domestic political constraints from the Cold War period to the post 9 11 era Weiss focuses on state funded venture capital funds new forms of technology procurement by defense and security related agencies and innovation in robotics nanotechnology and renewable energy since the 1980s Weiss argues that the national security state has been the crucible for breakthrough innovations a catalyst for entrepreneurship and the formation of new firms and a collaborative network coordinator for private sector initiatives Her book appraises persistent myths about the military commercial relationship at the core of the National Security State Weiss also discusses the implications for understanding U S capitalism the American state and the future of American primacy as financialized corporations curtail investment in manufacturing and innovation
