Mood and Trope John Brenkman, 2020-01-28 Reconnect s affect studies with major issues in literary studies philosophy and aesthetics a fundamental contribution to this emergent field Jonathan Culler Cornell University author of Structuralist Poetics In Mood and Trope John Brenkman introduces two provocative propositions to affect theory that human emotion is intimately connected to persuasion and figurative language and that literature especially poetry lends precision to studying affect because it resides there not in speaking about feelings but in the way of speaking itself Engaging modern philosophers Kant Nietzsche Heidegger and Deleuze Brenkman explores how they all approach the question of affect primarily through literature and art He draws on the differences and dialogues among them arguing that the vocation of criticism is incapable of systematicity and instead must be attuned to the singularity and plurality of literary and artistic creations In addition he confronts these four philosophers and their essential concepts with a wide array of authors and artists including Pinter and Poe Baudelaire Jorie Graham and Li Young Lee Shakespeare Tino Sehgal and Francis Bacon Filled with surprising insights Mood and Trope provides a rich archive for rethinking the nature of affect and its aesthetic and rhetorical stakes Combining philosophical inquiry with brilliant interpretive readings Brenkman draws out the distinctive imbrications of mood and trope across a range of modern poetic projects Amanda Anderson Brown University author of Psyche and Ethos Brenkman shows us how literature has extended and deepened the possibilities of feeling and knowledge of feeling alike Susan Stewart Princeton University author of The Open Studio Essays on Art and Aesthetics Eminently readable Choice Aesthetics David E. Cooper, 1997-12-08 This is the first volume to be published in an exciting new series of classic collections in philosophy Narrativity, Coherence and Literariness Eva Sabine Wagner, 2020-06-08 The search for the defining qualities of narrative has produced an expansive range of definitions which largely unconnected with each other obscure the notion of narrativity rather than clarifying it The first part of this study remedies this shortcoming by developing a graded macro model of narrativity which serves three aims Firstly it provides a structured overview of the field of narrative elements and processes Secondly it facilitates the classification of narratological approaches by locating them on different stages of narrativity Finally it focuses attention on narrative dynamics as interpretative processes by which readers seek to produce narrative coherence The second part of this study identifies three different narrative dynamics which characterise Laclos s Dangerous Connections Kafka s Castle and Toussaint s novels Wagner bases her analyses of these dynamics not only on the texts themselves but also on the ways in which literary scholars imbue the texts with narrative coherence This book provides a long overdue systematisation of the jumbled field of theories of narrativity and opens new perspectives on the difficult relationship between narrative theory and interpretation Life as Art Zachary Simpson, 2012-09-27 Life as Art brings the resources of contemporary aesthetics since Nietzsche to bear on the problems of how one integrates the aesthetic emphases of meaning liberation and creativity into one s daily life By linking together the aesthetic and ethical accounts of critical theorists phenomenologists and existentialists into a coherent view on the artful life Life as Art shows the ways in which much of contemporary Continental theory has been concerned with alternative ways of constructing one's own life Seen as a unified phenomenon life as art signifies an active attempt to create a life which bears the resistance openness and creativity found in artworks

Fictions Markus Gabriel, 2024-03-12 From ancient philosophy to contemporary theories of fiction it is a common practice to relegate illusory appearances to the realm of the non-existent like shadows on the wall of Plato's cave Contrary to this traditional mode of drawing a metaphysical distinction between reality and fiction Markus Gabriel argues that the realm of the illusory fictional imaginary and conceptually indeterminate is as real as it gets Being in touch with reality need not and cannot require that we overcome appearances in order to grasp a meaningless reality which exists out there outside and maybe even beyond our minds Human mindedness Geist exists in the mode of fictions through which we achieve self-consciousness This novel approach provides a fresh perspective on our existence as subjects who lead their lives in the light of self-conceptions Fictions also develops a social ontology according to which the social unfolds as a constant renegotiation of dissent of different points of view onto the same reality Thus we cannot ever hope to ground human society in a fiction-free realm of objective transactions However this does not mean that truth and reality are somehow outdated concepts On the contrary we need to enlarge our conception of reality so that it fully encompasses ourselves as specifically minded social animals This major new work of philosophy will be of interest to students and scholars throughout the humanities and to anyone interested in contemporary philosophy and social thought

Political Thought and Political History Moshe Gammer, 2004-08-02 This volume is limited to contributions by Professor Kedourie's previous students It reveals the far-reaching range of his interests and the immense expanse of his horizons The first part deals with philosophy political thought and ideology and the second with history and politics
