Crisis-consciousness and the Novel Eugene Hollahan, 1992 This book examines the emergence of modern consciousness as consciousness develops historically in one cultural form: prose fiction narrative. The book represents a critical history of crisis, arguably the most characterizing single word in the modern world and a major figuration or trope. Eugene Hollahan has studied the history of this important word within the development of the English language novel from Samuel Richardson to Saul Bellow. After establishing a heuristic model for such a critical history, Hollahan tracks the word characterized by George Eliot in Felix Holt, the Radical as a great noun through two and a half centuries of narratives by major novelists with contextualizing excursions into discourses in related fields such as autobiography, philosophy, theology, and social science. Hollahan contextualizes his study of English language narrative fiction by examining the writings of crisis rhetoricians in the eighteenth century (Thomas Paine), nineteenth century (Thomas Carlyle, J. S. Mill, and J. H. Newman), and twentieth century (Karl Barth, Edmund Husserl, T. S. Kuhn, and Richard M. Nixon). Such varied and powerful crisis rhetorics establish a matrix of language and ideas for the crisis-centered novels. Hollahan surveys these novels, including major works by Samuel Richardson, Walter Scott, Jane Austen, George Eliot, George Meredith, George Gissing, George Moore, D. H. Lawrence, E. M. Forster, James Joyce, Lawrence Durrell, Robert Coover, and Saul Bellow. Hollahan's description of the crisis trope interfaces with various critical issues such as canonical inclusion, reader response, and deconstruction. On the whole, his book acknowledges current critical issues but endeavors to remain basically a critical history. It attempts to demonstrate that the crisis-riddled modern world and the crisis-conscious novel are analogous and coeval. Crisis begins as Aristotle's term for logical plot structuring, becomes Longinus's term for emotional exacerbation, and eventually enters into a variety of critical and narrative formulations: Matthew Arnold's cultural centrality, Henry James's existential aestheticism, Lawrence's self-defining sexuality, Marshall Brown's revolutionary turning point, Paul de Man's error-ridden criticism, Floyd Merrell's cut into the primordial flux, Durrell's reborn self, and Bellow's analysis of hysterical escapism. Broadly speaking, Hollahan argues that any crisis trope will enable or even necessitate a unique confluence of writerly and readerly skills. In Louis Lambert Balzac, urged, "What a wonderful book one would write by narrating the life and adventures of a word." The story Hollahan narrates fulfills Balzac's expectations as it depicts writer after writer working out influential representations of human life in terms of crisis-consciousness centering upon George Eliot's great noun, crisis. Historically, Hollahan demonstrates such consciousness comes to define modern humanity.

Schwarz,2004-10-22 Daniel R Schwarz has studied and taught the modern British novel for decades and now brings his impressive erudition and critical acuity to this insightful study of the major authors and novels of the first half of the twentieth century An insightful study of British fiction in the first half of the twentieth century Draws on the author s decades of experience researching and teaching the modern British novel Sets the modern British novel in its intellectual cultural and literary contexts Features close readings of Hardy s Jude the Obscure Conrad s Heart of Darkness and Lord Jim Lawrence s Sons and Lovers and The Rainbow Joyce s Dubliners and Ulysses Woolf s Mrs Dalloway and To the Lighthouse and Forster s A Passage to India Shows how these novels are essential components in a modernist cultural tradition which includes the visual arts Takes account of recent developments in theory and cultural studies Written in an engaging style avoiding jargon Outlandish Nico Israel,2000 Outlandish addresses geographical displacement as a lived experience in the twentieth century as a predicament of writing and as a problem for theory It focuses on the work of three transnational writers from diverse backgrounds working in different genres Joseph Conrad the Ukrainian born Polish novelist and storywriter living in Britain at the turn of the century Theodor W Adorno the German Jewish philosopher and sociologist transplanted to Los Angeles during the Second World War and Salman Rushdie the Indian born British novelist and journalist recently released from the peculiar conditions of his notorious houseless arrest The author argues that Conrad Adorno and Rushdie emblemize significant shifts over the course of the century from a modernist expression of almost universal deracination to a post Auschwitz disarticulation of home and subjectivity to an emergent conceptualization of displacement in terms of migrancy hybridity and flow He theorizes a mode of reading between exile and diaspora two fundamentally different descriptions of displacement and allows the outlandish writing of these three figures to complicate this seemingly continuous trajectory Drawing on texts from literary theory philosophy psychoanalysis anthropology and geography the author explores what he calls the rhetoric of displacement the struggle to assert identity out of place He reads this writing predicament against the backdrop of the century's salient economic and technological changes political upheavals and mass migrations In doing so he draws attention to those aspects of exile and diaspora that have remained insufficiently considered their relation to nationalism and colonialism to authority and institutionality and above all to broader questions of subjectivity race location and language as these concepts themselves subtly change over the course of the century A Wilderness of Words Theodore Billy,1997 Beginning with a detailed discussion of Conrad's ambivalence toward the function of language and the meaning of fiction Ted Billy explores the problematical sense of an ending in Conrad's tales and novellas Billy demonstrates that Conrad's endings instead of reinforcing the meaning of the narrative or lending finality actually provide a contrasting perspective that clashes with the narrative's general drift Poetics of Place Dermot McCarthy,1991 Ralph Gustafson's personal growth as a poet during a career which spans more than half a century in many ways reflects the development of modern Canadian poetry as a whole A Poetics of Place provides the only available examination of the career of this pre eminent Canadian poet as well as insightful new readings of almost all his poems Contested Masculinities Nalin Jayasena,2013-10-18 Exploring how English masculinity that was so contingent on the relative health of the British imperial project negotiated the decline and ultimate dissolution of the empire by the middle of the twentieth century this book argues that by defining itself in relation to indigenous masculinity English masculinity began to share a common idiom with its colonial other The rhetoric of indigenous masculinity therefore both mimicked and departed from its metropolitan counterpart The study combines an interdisciplinary approach with a focus that is not limited to a single colonial society but ranges from colonial Bengal Burma Borneo and finally to colonial Australia European Writers in Exile Robert C. Hauhart,Jeff Birkenstein,2018-10-26 European Writers in Exile collects a series of original essays that address the writers universal existential dilemma when viewed through the lens of exile who am I where am I from and what do I write and to whom While we often understand the term exile to refer to writers who have either been forced to leave their home country or region or chosen self exile this term need not be defined so narrowly and the contributors to this volume explore a range of interesting and evolving definitions Various countries in Europe have long been both a refuge for people and writers from many countries and a strife torn region which has forced many to flee within the continent or beyond it The phrase in exile involves writers moving across borders in multiple directions and for multiple reasons including for reasons of duress or personal quest and these themes are addressed and critiqued in these essays This volume naturally examines the cataclysmic and near universal exilic experiences relating to the world wars including essays on Thomas Mann Vladimir Nabokov Hannah Arendt and Leo Strauss Additionally essays address the unique early twentieth century experiences of Emile Zola Franz Kafka Joseph Conrad and James Joyce More contemporary essay subjects include Milan Kundera Norman Manea Eva Hoffman Caryl Phillips and W G Sebald This collection of transnational globalized European literature studies envisions understanding the intersection of our contemporary world and various writers in exile in new cultural historical spatial and epistemological frameworks How does literary production in an increasingly globalized world when seen from exile affect a view back towards a country or region left behind Or conversely how does exile push a writer to look outward to new transnationalized spaces These and other questions are important to investigate Taken in sum European Writers in Exile offers an academically rigorous important and cohesive volume The Secret Agent (First International Student Edition) (Norton Critical Editions) Joseph Conrad, 2016-10-14 A masterly study of the inner workings of the disordered minds whose aim is destruction violence and the overturning of law and order by means of bombs The London Observer 1907 This Norton Critical Edition includes The first English book edition of the novel 1907 accompanied by explanatory footnotes Four illustrations Contemporary sources that informed Conrad's writing of the novel including newspaper accounts of the Greenwich Bomb Outrage articles from the anarchist press earlier fictional treatments of the Martial Bourdin case the inspiration for Adolph Verloc and important texts related to anarchism and fin de siècle culture Seven wide ranging critical essays by Ian Watt Terry Eagleton Martin Ray Hugh Epstein Gail Fincham Peter Lancelot Mallios and Michael Newton A Chronology and a Selected Bibliography *REAL.
