Buildings that Have Disappeared Or Been So Altered as to be Denatured.... John Mead Howells, 1963 Re-creating the American Past Richard Guy Wilson, Shaun Eyring, Kenny Marotta, 2006

Although individually and collectively Americans have many histories the dominant view of our national past focuses on the colonial era The reasons for this are many and complex touching on stories of the country's origins and of the founding fathers the privileged position in history granted the thirteen original colonies and the ways in which the nation has adjusted to change and modernity But no matter the cause the result is obvious images and forms derived from and related to America's colonial past are the single most popular form of cultural expression Often conceived solely in architectural terms from the red brick and white trimmed buildings that recall eighteenth century James River estates to the clapboarded saltboxes that recall early New England Colonial Revival is in fact better understood as a process of remembering In Re-creating the American Past architectural historian Richard Guy Wilson and a host of other scholars examine how and why Colonial Revival has persisted in modern times The volume contains essays that explore Colonial Revival expressions in architecture landscape architecture historic preservation decorative arts and painting and sculpture as well as the social intellectual and cultural background of the phenomena Based on the University of Virginia's landmark 2000 conference The Colonial Revival in America Re-creating the American Past is a comprehensive and handsome volume that recovers the origins characteristics diversity and significance of the Colonial Revival situating it within the broader history of American design culture and society

The Early Architecture Of Western Pennsylvania Charles Morse Stotz, 2023-07-13 A new edition of this long unavailable classic reproduces photographic prints made from original negatives and features an extensive analytical introduction by the noted architectural historian Dell Upton Before the 1936 publication of The Early Architecture of Western Pennsylvania the architectural heritage of a region prominent in the history of early America had been almost totally neglected Based on a four year survey conducted by the Pittsburgh chapter of the American Institute of Architects Charles Morse Stotz's book provides the definitive description and analysis of structures ranging from log houses to colonial and Georgian structures to examples of the pre Civil War Gothic revival The volume defines the local architectural idiom as an expression of the frontier and early industrial societies that played such an important part in the history of nineteenth century America This oversized volume of 416 black and white photographs 81 measured drawings and an extensive text presents a splendid array of early dwellings barns and other outbuildings churches arsenals banks inns commercial buildings tollhouses mills and even tombstones Time has proved this work to be the definitive record of an architectural heritage that was fast disappearing with the economic boom of World War II and the postwar years The Early Architecture of Western Pennsylvania is also a work of precision beauty and integrity The drawings ignore alterations made after 1960 and show the buildings in their original condition giving special attention to details such as window sashes shutters cornices and roofs The floor plan of each structure is included and line drawings display the profiles of moldings and ornamentation Signature stones and hardware convey the quality of the early craftsmen's work In all cases stone joining has been faithfully drawn joint for joint to record the charm of old wall patterns This new edition makes a landmark book available to a new generation of readers one especially aware of the importance of architectural preservation and guarding the history of the Western Pennsylvania region Architecture and Town Planning in Colonial North America James D. Kornwolf, Georgiana Wallis Kornwolf, 2002 Incorporating more than 3 000 illustrations Kornwolf's work conveys the full range of the colonial encounter with the continent's geography from the high forms of architecture through formal landscape design and town planning From these pages emerge the fine arts of environmental design an understanding of the political and economic events that helped to determine settlement in North America an appreciation of the various architectural and landscape forms that the settlers created and an awareness of the diversity of the continent's geography and its peoples Considering the humblest buildings along with the mansions of the wealthy and powerful public buildings forts and churches Kornwolf captures the true dynamism and diversity of colonial communities their rivalries and frictions their outlooks and attitudes as they extended their hold on the land Colonial Revival Maine Kevin Murphy, 2004-05 Colonial Revival Maine provides an account of how this interest in the classical influences of colonial and federal era buildings engaged the imagination of a group of architects and their draftsmen in the late nineteenth century Together these designers created the charming streetscapes and bucolic retreats that today dot the Maine coast Architecture in the United States, 1800-1850 William Barksdale Maynard, 2002-01-01 This study traces the development of American architecture from the age of Jefferson to the antebellum era providing a survey of this important period W Barksdale Maynard overturns the long accepted notions that the chief theme of early 19th century American architecture was a patriotic desire to escape from European influence and that competing styles chiefly reflected the American struggle for cultural uniqueness Instead deep and consistent aesthetic ties especially with England shaped American architecture and house designs Maynard shows that the Greek Revival in particular was an international phenomenon with American achievements inspired by British example and with taste taking precedence over patriotism A Dictionary of Architecture and Landscape Architecture, Historic and Archeological Preservation United States.
