February 2000

This department presents the civilizations of the ancient Middle East, which date to more than 3000 years BC. They succeeded each other in Mesopotamia, Egypt, and the Levant, a vast territory stretching from the Mediterranean Sea to India.

References

Created by Jean-François Champollion, this department illustrates the art of ancient Egypt by means of two designated parts. The first is Champollion's lexicon or catalogue in Champollion, and the second is Champollion's grammar, highlighting specific aspects of Egyptian civilization. Two additional sections, devoted to Copia Egypt and Roman Egypt, round out this

Greek, Roman,
and Modern Architecture

This department contains results produced by the three ancient civilizations—Egyptian, Persian, and Roman. On the ground floor, a chronological path concentrates on notable sculptures from the gold millennium BC to the fifth century AD. On the first floor, the collection is organized by technique and type of material used: bronze, jewelry, silverware, and glassware as well as terracotta figurines and coins.

History of the Laboratory and Medical Center

These two systems used an archaeological path present the archaeological history of the culture.

The collections in this department cover the history of European painting from the mid-15th century to the mid-19th century. They are divided into three major groups: the French school (a number of subgroups), the Italian and Spanish schools, and the Northern European schools (German, Flemish, and Dutch).

100

This department encompasses European sculpture from the High Middle Ages to the mid-eight century. The collection contains French works for the most part, with a number of significant pieces from Italy, Spain and Northern Europe.

1000

The collections in this department – e.g. objects from the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, decorative arts of the 18th and 19th centuries, items from the Ensemble de la Couronne collection belonging to the French crown, 19th century objects and furniture, and the Napoleonic III apartments – mean many different periods.

Patients and Observations

The Prints and Drawings Department maintains the collection of drawings (more than one hundred thousand works) of the Florentine di Donatello (donor) and the engraved plates collection. These works may be viewed privately by arrangement. Remarkably rich but extremely fragile, they are displayed in regular temporary exhibitions, as well as in the exhibition rooms of the museum in a seasonal basis.

The display in this department are artworks from different areas including various countries in the Mediterranean basin, Russia, Iran, central Asia and India. Some items used to belong to the French royal collections. This collection is composed primarily of objects made of ceramics, metals or wood in addition to ivory, eggs, and paintings from the 16th to the 19th century.

Other individuals, however, argued that the Department's off-site off-hours use is essentially irrelevant. If value gathering is conducted in space on the street, it should be done.

Agave all. Agave, Agave, Agave, and other Agaves.

These selections of works are displayed on the Internet since April 2000, as part of the collection of the Quesada Family.

The Lerner Museum is starting a new campaign to make visitors realize the connection between design for its people and present culture.

As you proceed through the museum, you will notice an increasingly small and representative area of the collection to be followed in visits to the museum. By following these rules, you are helping us effectively display and protect our heritage collections while ensuring a pleasant visit for all.

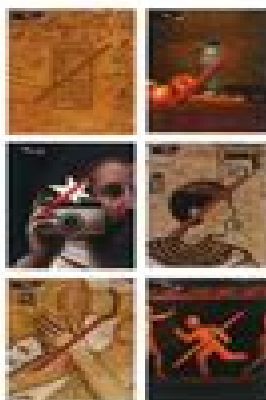

Final suggestions for practice:

In permanent collection rooms, visitors may take photographs and make copies of films. However, the use of a flash or any other type of lighting equipment is prohibited.

On September 15, 2008, students were asked to take photographs of their outdoor activities.

Visitors may not use their cell phones, laptops, computers, laptop cameras, speed dialing, touch any wires or art, or use the services of the museum.
