Love Hate And Fear In Canadas Cold War:

Love, Hate, and Fear in Canada's Cold War Richard Cavell, 2004 A major theme emerging from Love Hate and Fear in Canada's Cold War is that many issues associated with the Cold War in Canada actually preceded World War II and continue to haunt us today

Love, Hate, and Fear in Canada's Cold War Richard Cavell, 2004-06-02 The essays in Love Hate and Fear in Canada's Cold War present a Cold War different in many respects from the familiar one of anti communist hysteria In Canada the Cold War raised issues of national self representation that went beyond international political tensions related to capitalistic versus communistic regimes If the discourse of the Cold War in Canada was anti communist it was also anti American in many ways Drawing on a number of disciplinary approaches and examining what Michel Foucault called the discursive practices of the period the contributors examine how in the Cold War the personal became the political through the state's attempt to regulate sexuality in pulp fiction in film and in public spaces A major theme emerging from Love Hate and Fear in Canada's Cold War is that many issues associated with the Cold War in Canada actually preceded World War II and continue to haunt us today This has become particularly apparent after the terrorist attacks of September 2001 when politicians began employing the rhetoric of the War on Terror and invoking issues of border security immigration and refugee quotas and harmonization of policies

Czech Refugees in Cold War Canada Jan Raska, 2018-08-24 During the Cold War more than 36 000 individuals entering Canada claimed Czechoslovakia as their country of citizenship A defining characteristic of this migration of predominantly political refugees was the prevalence of anti communist and democratic values Diplomats industrialists politicians professionals workers and students fled to the West in search of freedom security and economic opportunity Jan Raska's Czech Refugees in Cold War Canada explores how these newcomers joined or formed ethnocultural organizations to help in their attempts to affect developments in Czechoslovakia and Canadian foreign policy towards their homeland Canadian authorities further legitimized the Czech refugees anti communist agenda and increased their influence in Czechoslovak institutions In turn these organizations supported Canada's Cold War agenda of securing the state from communist infiltration Ultimately an adherence to anti communism the promotion of Canadian citizenship and the cultivation of a Czechoslovak ethnocultural heritage accelerated Czech refugees socioeconomic and political integration in Cold War Canada By analyzing oral histories government files ethnic newspapers and community archival records Raska reveals how Czech refugees secured admission as desirable immigrants and navigated existing social cultural and political norms in Cold War Canada

Thorn, 2016-07-22 In From Left to Right Brian Thorn explores what motivated Canadian women to become politically engaged in the 1940s and 50s Although women in these decades are often depicted as being trapped in the suburbs caring for children baking pies and leaving politics to men they joined diverse political parties including the Social Credit Party the Co operative Commonwealth Federation and the Communist Party of Canada Thorn argues controversially that while women on the left and right had different goals their activism continued to be informed by maternalism They used their roles as wives and mothers to influence their parties positions on war and unions to break down barriers between the private and public spheres and to push for a new world order Along the way they laid the foundations for the 1960s feminist movement      Creating Postwar Canada Magda Fahrni, Robert Rutherford, 2008-07-01 Creating Postwar Canada showcases new research on this complex period exploring postwar Canada s diverse symbols and battlegrounds Contributors to the first half of the collection consider evolving definitions of the nation examining the ways in which Canada was reimagined to include both the Canadian North and landscapes structured by trade and commerce The essays in the latter half analyze debates on shopping hours professional striptease the provider role of fathers interracial adoption sexuality on campus and illegal drug use issues that shaped how the country defined itself in sociocultural and political terms This collection contributes to the historiography of nationalism gender and the family consumer cultures and countercultures      Timing Canada Paul Huebener, 2015-12-01 From punch clocks to prison sentences from immigration waiting periods to controversial time zone boundaries from Indigenous grave markers that count time in centuries rather than years to the fact that free time is shrinking faster for women than for men time shapes the fabric of Canadian society every day but in ways that are not always visible or logical In Timing Canada Paul Huebener draws from cultural history time use surveys political statements literature and visual art to craft a detailed understanding of how time operates as a form of power in Canada Time enables everything we do as Margaret Atwood writes without it we can t live However time also disempowers us divides us and escapes our control Huebener transforms our understanding of temporal power and possibility by using examples from Canadian and Indigenous authors including Jeannette Armstrong Joseph Boyden Dionne Brand Timothy Findley Lucy Maud Montgomery Gabrielle Roy and many others who witness question dismantle and reconstruct the functioning of time in their works As the first comprehensive study of the cultural politics of time in Canada Timing Canada develops foundational principles of critical time studies and everyday temporal literacy and demonstrates how time functions broadly as a tool of power privilege and imagination within a multicultural and multi temporal nation      Queerly Canadian, Second Edition Scott Rayter, Laine
