Kate Douglas Wiggin (1856-1923) was an American educator and author of children's stories, most notably the classic children's novel Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm. She started the first free kindergarten in San Francisco in 1878, the Silver Street Free Kindergarten. Kate Wiggin devoted her adult life to the welfare of children in an era when children were commonly thought of as cheap labor.

Thread of Life Mike Doiron, 2013-04-09 Thread of Life: An Adoption Story is the true story of an adopted child's journey to find his birth parents. The adoption process can often leave many unanswered questions for the adoptee, the adopted parents, and even the eventual offspring of an adopted child. It has been said that adoption is more like a marriage than a birth, with two or more individuals each with their own unique mix of needs, patterns, and genetic history coming together with love, hope, and commitment for a future together. You become a family not because you share the same genes but because you share love for each other. Mike Doiron's original intent was to try to fill in some of the gaps: genealogically, medically, and perhaps even mentally, as he began his adult life following university. The endeavor took him down a path of self-discovery and adventure. When he began to chronicle what he had learned, he decided that he wanted to share his findings with others. For him, Thread of Life is not meant to be a guidebook for families of adoption but rather a documented true story sharing personal insights from his own journey to answer the questions many adopted children ponder as they become adults.

You've Got to Be Kidding! Pat Williams, Ruth Williams, 2011-08-10 Kid Tested and Tested: Guidance for Parents in the Trenches, The Inside Track to Raising Kids. Most of us find raising one, two, or maybe three or four children to be challenging enough. The idea of parenting a half dozen seems almost crazy and more children than that impossible. But Pat and Ruth Williams have together raised and are continuing to raise nineteen kids. More importantly, they've not just survived the process; they've loved it. What do they know? that the rest of us don't What does it take to make a family of any size not only work but thrive After bringing up nineteen kids as biological parents adoptive parents single parents and step parents Pat and Ruth Williams have gained a volume of insights and experience that will enrich your home strengthen your family and help you be the parent you want to be Inside you'll find counsel that really works whether you're raising one child one dozen or more or any number in between

Advocate and Family Guardian, 1857 Conceiving People Daniel Groll, 2021-08-24 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International license It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations Each year tens of thousands of children are conceived with donated gametes sperm or eggs By some estimates there are over one million donor conceived people in the United States and of course many more the world over Some know they are donor conceived Some do not Some know the identity of their donors Others never will Questions about what donor conceived people should know about their genetic progenitors are hugely significant for literally millions of people including donor conceived people their parents and donors But the practice of gamete donation also provides a vivid occasion for thinking about questions that matter to everyone What is the value of knowing who your genetic progenitors are How are our identities bound up with knowing where we come from What obligations do parents have to their children And what makes someone a parent in the first place In Conceiving People Identity Genetics and Gamete Donation Daniel Groll argues that people who plan to create a child with donated gametes should choose a donor whose identity will be made available to the resulting child This is not Groll argues because having genetic knowledge is fundamentally important Rather it is because donor conceived people are likely to develop a significant interest in having genetic knowledge and parents must help satisfy their children's significant interests In other words because a donor conceived person is likely to care about having genetic knowledge their parents should care too Jean Paton and the Struggle to Reform American Adoption E. Wayne Carp, 2014-02-10 Jean Paton 1908-2002 fought tirelessly to reform American adoption and to overcome prejudice against adult adoptees and women who give birth out of wedlock Paton wrote widely and passionately about the adoption experience corresponded with policymakers as well as individual adoptees promoted the psychological well being of adoptees and facilitated reunions between adoptees and their birth parents E. Wayne Carp's masterful biography brings to light the accomplishments of this neglected civil rights pioneer who paved the way for the explosive emergence of the adoption reform movement in the 1970s Her unflagging efforts over five decades helped reverse harmful policies practices and laws concerning adoption and closed records struggles that continue to this day Ebony, 1982-05 EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing Founded in 1945 by John H.
