Building Resilience to Trauma Elaine Miller-Karas,2015-02-20 After a traumatic experience survivors often experience a cascade of physical emotional cognitive behavioral and spiritual responses that leave them feeling unbalanced and threatened Building Resilience to Trauma explains these common responses from a biological perspective reframing the human experience from one of shame and pathology to one of hope and biology It also presents alternative approaches the Trauma Resiliency Model TRM and the Community Resiliency Model CRM which offer concrete and practical skills that resonate with what we know about the biology of trauma In programs co sponsored by the World Health Organization the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee ADRA International and the department of behavioral health of San Bernardino County the TRM and the CRM have been used to reduce and in some cases eliminate the symptoms of trauma by helping survivors regain a sense of balance Clinicians will find that they can use the models with almost anyone who has experienced or witnessed any event that was perceived as life threatening or posed a serious injury to themselves or to others The models can also be used to treat symptoms of vicarious traumatization and compassion fatigue

Care for the Sorrowing Soul Duane Larson,Jeff Zust,2017-10-26 Moral Injury is now recognized as a growing major problem for military men and women Operant conditioning can overwhelm moral convictions and yet the question of whether to shoot or not to shoot often will never have a settled answer Certain theories and treatment models about MI have been well developed but too often overlook root issues of religious faith The authors propose a new model for understanding moral injury and suggest ways to mitigate its virtually inevitable occurrence in pre combat training and ways to resolve MI post trauma with proven spiritual resources People outside the military too among whom the incidence of MI also is a growing threat will benefit from this analysis The stories of the injured their shaping and their telling are the key and there are many illumining stories of moral injury and recovery Those who suffer MI their families and caregivers including counselors pastors and faith communities will find hope giving first steps toward the healing of MI in this book historical Jesus the resurrection and miracles Questions of Miracle Robert A. H. Larmer,1996 This collection of essays explores new avenues in the ongoing debate on miracles and sheds light on various theological and philosophical issues Presented as a dialogue between Robert Larmer and other leading philosophers in the field all sides of the issues are provocatively explored US Army Psychiatry in the Vietnam War Norman M. Camp,2014 NOTE NO FURTHER DISCOUNT FOR THIS PRODUCT OVERSTOCK SALE Significantly reduced list price This book tells the mostly forgotten story of the accelerating mental health problems that arose among the troops sent to fight in South Vietnam especially the morale discipline and heroin crisis that ultimately characterized the second half of the war This situation was unprecedented in U S military history and dangerous and reflected the fact that during the war America underwent its most divisive period since the Civil War and as a result the war became bitterly controversial The author is a career Army psychiatrist who led a psychiatric unit in Vietnam In the years following his return he was dismayed to discover that the Army had conducted no formal review of this alarming situation including from the standpoint of military psychiatry and had lost or destroyed all of the pertinent clinical records In addition to permitting a study of the psychological wounds and their treatment in Vietnam these records would have been priceless in the treatment of the legions of veterans who presented serious adjustment problems and Post traumatic Stress Disorder As a consequence Dr Camp has been relentless in combing the professional civilian and surviving military literature including unpublished documents to construct a compelling narrative documenting the successes and failures of Army psychiatry and the Army leadership in Vietnam in responding to these psychiatric and behavioral challenges The result is a book that is both scholarly and intensely personal includes vivid case material and anecdotes from colleagues who also served there and is replete with illustrations and correspondence It presents the story of Vietnam in a fresh manner through the psychiatrist s eyes and sensibilities Mad at God Lee Milliner,2021-06-23 Mad at God unwraps the mystery of the Old Testament prophet s wisdom through Lee Milliner s own experience as a seasoned military chaplain and combat veteran and we are given an invitation to peer into the soul of the despairing believer that we may find our own way through perplexity and pain Heartfelt and heartrending this book taps into the hard earned wisdom of scripture in a way that is understandable and affirming We are allowed to wrestle with the angst and anger that come with facing inexpressible pain and untold sorrow There are no holds barred This book tackles the one place few are willing to go into the eye of the storm that is the crisis of faith But it s here that recovery is received real and available for all who have the courage to move toward the salvation found in our Redeemer From the Foreword by Margaret Kibben Chaplain US House of Representatives Twenty sixth Chief of Navy Chaplains 2 Psychological Interventions in Times of Crisis Laura Barbanel,Robert J. Sternberg,2005-11-18 There is controversy as to whether psychological interventions in the aftermath of disaster are helpful or not This book addresses these controversies and describes the responses that psychologists have made in different parts of the world to disaster Causality and Psychopathology Patrick Shrout

PhD, Katherine Keyes MPH, Katherine Ornstein MPH, 2010-12-29 Part of the new American Psychopathological Association Series Containing contributions from leading scholars of causal thinking in epidemiology and psychopathology research this volume is based on presentations at the ground breaking 2008 meeting of the American Psychopathological Association The authors explore the meaning of causal statements that are made from statistical and experimental evidence then they suggest novel approaches to analyze these statements and thus make them more informative and medically rigorous The collection of chapters uniquely includes both methodological contributions and detailed assessments of how causal inferences can be made when considering research results on developmental psychopathology clinical psychopharmacology personality disorders post traumatic stress disorder and psychiatric genetics In analyzing causal references the authors examine controversies surrounding various disorders and their treatment Brain Injury and Mental Retardation C. Thomas Gualtieri, 2002 This authoritative resource is ideal for those caring for patients with traumatic brain injury TBI and mental retardation MR syndromes The text is structured in an easy to follow format five chapters on brain injury syndromes five chapters on mental retardation syndromes four chapters devoted to other neuropathic conditions that are common to both and six chapters that feature the drugs and how to use them The drug section is tailored to the psychiatric disorders relevant to these specific patient populations Studying Tree Responses to Extreme Events Achim Bräuning, Andreas Bolte, Cristina Nabais, Sergio Rossi, Ute Sass-Klaassen, 2017-06-05 Trees are among the longest living organisms They are sensitive to extreme climatic events and document the effects of environmental changes in form of structural modifications of their tissues These modifications represent an integrated signal of complex biological responses enforced by the environment For example temporal change in stem increment integrates multiple information of tree performance and wood anatomical traits may be altered by climatic extremes or environmental stress Recent developments in preparative tools and computational image analysis enable to quantify changes in wood anatomical features like vessel density or vessel size Thus impacts on their functioning can be related to climatic forcing factors Similarly new developments in monitoring cambial phenology and mechanistic modelling are enlightening the interrelationships between environmental factors wood formation and tree performance and mortality Quantitative wood anatomy is a reliable indicator of drought occurrence during the growing season and therefore has been studied intensively in recent years The variability in wood anatomy not only alters the biological and hydraulic functioning of a tree but may also influence the technological properties of wood with substantial impacts in forestry On a larger scale alterations of sapwood and phloem area and their ratios to other functional traits provide measures to detect changes in a tree's life functions and increasing risk of drought induced mortality with possible impacts on hydrological processes and species composition of plant communities Genetic variability within and across populations is assumed to be crucial for species survival in an unpredictable future world The magnitude of genetic variation and heritability of adaptive traits might define the ability to adapt to climate change Is there a relation between genetic variability and resilience to climate change Is it possible to link genetic expression and climate change to obtain deeper knowledge of functional genetics To derive precise estimates of genetic determinism it is important to define adaptive traits in wood properties and on a whole tree scale Understanding the mechanisms ruling these processes is fundamental to assess the impact of extreme climate events on forest ecosystems and to provide realistic scenarios of tree responses to changing climates Wood is also a major carbon sink with a long term residence impacting the global carbon cycle How well do we understand the link between wood growth dynamics wood carbon allocation and the global carbon cycle Papers contribution to this Research Topic will cover a wide range of ecosystems However special relevance will be given to Mediterranean type areas These involve coastal regions of four continents making Mediterranean type ecosystems extremely interesting for investigating the potential impacts of global change on growth and for studying responses of woody plants under extreme environmental conditions For example the ongoing trend towards warmer temperatures and reduced precipitation can increase the susceptibility to fire and pests The EU funded COST Action STREeSS Studying Tree Responses to extreme Events a SynthesiS addresses such crucial tree biological and forest ecological issues by providing a collection of important methodological and scientific insights about the current state of knowledge and by opinions for future research needs
