The Prevention and Intervention of Genocide Samuel Totten, 2017-09-08 Over the last twenty years the world has witnessed four major genocides There was the genocide in Iraq 1988 in Rwanda 1994 in Srebrenica 1995 and in Darfur 2003 and continuing Most observers agree there is an urgent need to assess the international community's efforts to prevent genocide and to intervene once a genocide is under way in an effective and timely manner This volume the latest in a widely respected series on the subject of genocide provides an overview of a host of issues germane to this task The book begins with a cogent discussion of the issues of prevention and intervention during the Cold War years The second chapter discusses the abject failures and moderate though in some cases highly controversial successes at prevention and intervention carried out in the 1990s and early 2000s Further chapters examine latest efforts to develop an effective genocide early warning system and examine the complexity of and barriers to prevention The pros and cons of sanctions and the problems of enforcement and evaluation their effectiveness are then discussed Conflicts between state sovereignty and the protection of threatened populations are examined both in historical context and by incorporating the latest thinking Later chapters treat the issue of intervention why and how it has met with only limited success Concentrating on Rwanda and Srebrenica chapter 8 discusses various peace operations that were abject failures and those that were moderately successful The concept of an anti genocide regime is examined in terms of progress in developing such a regime as well as what the international community must do in order to implement it Chapters discuss key issues related to post genocidal periods those that need to be addressed in order to establish stability in a wounded land and populace as well as to prevent future genocides The final chapter asks whether bringing perpetrators to justice has any impact in breaking impunity ensuring deterrence and bringing about reconciliation The contributors to the volume are all noted scholars some of whom specialize in the study of genocide and others who specialize in such areas as early warning peacekeeping and sanctions Bosnian Security After Dayton Michael A. Never again the world has vowed time and again since the Holocaust Yet genocide ethnic cleansing and other mass atrocity crimes continue to shock our consciences from the killing fields of Cambodia to the machetes of Rwanda to the agony of Darfur Gareth Evans has grappled with these issues firsthand As Australian foreign minister he was a key broker of the United Nations peace plan for Cambodia As president of the International Crisis Group he now works on the prevention and resolution of scores of conflicts and crises worldwide The primary architect of and leading authority on the Responsibility to Protect R2P he shows here how this new international norm can once and for all prevent a return to the killing fields The Responsibility to Protect captures a simple and powerful idea The primary responsibility for protecting its own people from mass atrocity crimes lies with the state itself State sovereignty implies responsibility not a license to kill But when a state is unwilling or unable to halt or avert such crimes the wider international community then has a collective responsibility to take whatever action is necessary R2P emphasizes preventive action above all That includes assistance for states struggling to contain potential crises and for effective rebuilding after a crisis or conflict to tackle its underlying causes R2P's primary tools are persuasion and support not military or other coercion But sometimes it is right to fight faced with another Rwanda the world cannot just stand by R2P was unanimously adopted by the UN General Assembly at the 2005 World Summit But many misunderstandings persist about its scope and limits And much remains to be done to solidify political support and to build institutional capacity Evans shows compellingly how big a break R2P represents from the past and how with its acceptance in principle and effective application in practice the promise of Never
