herds that prepare the way for the settlers who come after The high plains of the Upper Missouri and its tributary rivers were first Opened and are still held by the stockmen and the whole civilization of the region has received the stamp of their marked and individual characteristics They were from the South not from the East although many men from the latter region came out along the great transcontinental railway lines and joined them in their northern migration About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
