Rapport betreffende eene gehouden enquête naar de arbeidstoestanden in de industrie van strootjes en inheemsche sigaretten op Java B. van der Reyden, 1936 Workers, Unions and Politics John Ingleson, 2014-01-30 In Workers Unions and Politics Indonesia in the 1920s and 1930s John Ingleson revises received understandings of the decade and a half between the failed communist uprisings of 1926 1927 and the Japanese occupation in 1942 They were important years for the labour movement It had to recover from the crackdown by the colonial state and then cope with the impact of the 1930s depression Labour unions were voices for greater social justice for stronger legal protection and for improved opportunities for workers They created a discourse of social rights and wage justice They were major contributors to the growth of a stronger civil society The experiences and remembered histories of these years helped shape the agendas of post independence labour unions Working on Labor Marcel M. van der Linden, Leo Lucassen, 2012-08-09 Using comparative and long term perspectives the seventeen essays in this collection discuss the development of labor relations and labor migrations in Europe Asia and the US from the thirteenth century to the present Tobacco in Global Perspective, 1780-1960 Alexander van Wickeren, Jean Stubbs, William Gervase Clarence-Smith, 2024-12-24 This edited collection provides an in depth analysis of the imperial colonial and postcolonial history of tobacco from 1780 to 1960 which was one of the major periods of change in the global tobacco economy It brings together case studies from known and lesser known tobacco regions of the world to interrogate tobacco s second globalisation a concept little employed by historians thus far but one which encapsulates tobacco s central role in Europe s imperial expansion beyond the Atlantic and the social political and cultural transformations of global capitalism taking place during the period The collection fills a gap in the study of commodities of empire which has examined tobacco primarily for the early modern Atlantic world or for single empires during the later period It invites comparison across borders encompassing political economic and sociocultural history and with a particular emphasis on trade knowledge and labour juxtaposes micro histories with a macro historical perspective Together the studies in the volume testify to the importance of tobacco in new places and among new players challenging the confines of national and imperial historiographical frameworks They demonstrate the rising dominance of new powerful forces including transnational corporations but also a wide range of actors in conflict and negotiation within territorial and imperial confines By systematically taking into account the agency in Europe s apparent peripheries and the Global South they critique a simple assumption of the dominance of the West Chapter 11 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com A Demographic History of the Indonesian Archipelago H. Gooszen, 2021-12-06 The author offers a reconstruction of regional variations in the growth of the indigenous population of Indonesia from 1880 till the Japanese invasion in 1942 The demographic components of population growth migration fertility and mortality are not only presented as demographic statistics but also interpreted as the aggregate effects of major events in the lives of indigenous people Hence migration is described in relation to employment opportunities the social structure and tradition fertility is examined in the light of aspects of family formation including marriage customs and birth control practices and mortality is linked to epidemics and Western health care Embedding Agricultural Commodities Willem van Schendel, 2016-06-17 Over the past 500 years westerners have turned into avid consumers of colonial products and various production systems in the Americas Africa and Asia have adapted to serve the new markets that opened up in the wake of the European encounter The effects of these transformations for the long term development of these societies are fiercely contested How can we use historical source material to pinpoint this social change This volume presents six different examples from countries in which commodities were embedded in existing production systems tobacco coffee sugar and indigo in Indonesia India and Cuba to shed light on this key process in human history To demonstrate the effectiveness of using different types of source material each contributor presents a micro study based on a different type of historical source a diary a petition a mail report a review a scientific study and a survey As a result the volume offers insights into how historians use their source material to construct narratives about the past and offers introductions to trajectories of agricultural commodity production as well as much new information about the social struggles surrounding them

Women and the Colonial State Elsbeth Locher-Scholten, 2000 Woman and the Colonial State deals with the ambiguous relationship between women of both the European and the Indonesian population and the colonial state in the former Netherlands Indies in the first half of the twentieth century Based on new data from a variety of sources colonial archives journals household manuals children s literature and press surveys it analyses the women state relationship by presenting five empirical studies on subjects in which women figured prominently at the time Indonesian labour Indonesian servants in colonial homes Dutch colonial fashion and food the feminist struggle for the vote and the intense debate about monogamy of and by women at the end of the 1930s An introductory essay combines the outcomes of the case studies and relates those to debates about Orientalism the construction of whiteness and to questions of modernity and the colonial state formation

Indonesian Women in Focus E.B. Locher-Scholten, A. Niehof, 2022-07-18 This volume contains a selection from the papers presented at an interdisciplinary symposium on Images and ideas concerning women and the feminine in the Indonesian archipelago organized in 1984 by the Werkgroep Indonesische Vrouwenstudies WIVS a Dutch interdisciplinary study group on Indonesian women In the present volume now in its second printing notions about women in Indonesia in past and present are treated in relation to their actual positions The articles deal with cultural definitions of sex roles and their social implications and thus link up with the current academic interest in gender studies The contributions occupy varying positions on an imaginary scale ranging from an approach primarily concerned with underlying cultural principles to one focused on the social context Some show a clearly culturalist approach dealing with female symbols in Balinese offerings female figures in Indonesian agricultural myths and Tolaki views on procreation and production The contributions on the images of women in Indonesian literature views on the prostitute in colonial society and the position of women in marriage in Madura and the Minahasa more or less take an intermediate position The sociological approach may be found in the contributions on the life of the educational pioneer Rahmah EI Yunusiya on Indonesian Chinese women on priyayi women at the Central Javanese courts and in modern Jakarta and on women s labor in pre war and present day Java Recurring themes such as sexual dualism ibuisim and the questions of female power and authority create unity in the diversity of regions and topics represented

Indonesia's Export Crops 1816-1940 P. Creutzberg, 2012-12-06 Women, Work and Colonialism in the Netherlands and Java Elise van Nederveen Meerkerk, 2019-05-07 This book makes an important contribution to the history of household labour relations in two contrasting societies It deserves a wide readership Anne Booth SOAS University of London UK By exploring how colonialism affected women s work in the Dutch Empire this carefully researched book urges us to rethink the momentous implications of colonial exploitation on gender roles both in periphery and metropolis Ulbe Bosma the Free University of Amsterdam the Netherlands In this exciting and original book Elise van Nederveen Meerkerk exposes how colonial connections helped determine the status and position of women in both the Netherlands and Java The effects of these connections continue to shape women s lives in both colony and metropole today Jane Humphries University of Oxford UK Recent postcolonial studies have stressed the importance of the mutual influences of colonialism on both colony and metropole This book studies such colonial entanglements and their effects by focusing on developments in household labour in the Dutch Empire in the period 1830 1940 The changing role of households and particularly women s economic activities in the Netherlands and Java one of the most important Dutch colonies forms an excellent case study to help understand the connections and disparities between colony and metropole The author contends that colonial entanglements certainly existed and influenced developments in women s economic role to an extent both in Java and the Netherlands However during the nineteenth century more and more distinctions in the visions and policies towards Dutch working class and Javanese peasant households emerged Accordingly a more sophisticated framework is needed to explain how and why such connections were both intentionally and unintentionally severed over time

Fox, 1980 The Making of a Periphery Ulbe Bosma, 2019-07-30 Island Southeast Asia was once a thriving region and its products found eager consumers from China to Europe Today the Philippines Indonesia and Malaysia are primarily exporters of their surplus of cheap labor with more than ten million emigrants from the region working all over the world How did a prosperous region become a peripheral one In The Making of a Periphery Ulbe Bosma draws on new archival sources from the colonial period to the present to demonstrate how high demographic growth and a long history of bonded labor relegated Southeast Asia to the margins of the global economy Bosma finds that the region's contact with colonial trading powers during the early nineteenth century led to improved health care and longer life spans as the Spanish and Dutch colonial governments began to vaccinate their subjects against smallpox The resulting abundance of workers ushered in extensive migration toward emerging labor intensive plantation and mining belts European powers exploited existing patron client labor systems with the intermediation of indigenous elites and non European agents to develop extractive industries and plantation agriculture Bosma shows that these trends shaped the postcolonial era as these migration networks expanded far beyond the region A wide ranging comparative study of colonial commodity production and labor regimes The Making of a Periphery is of major significance to international economic history colonial and postcolonial history and Southeast Asian history Political Corruption Michael Johnston, 2017-09-29 Corruption is once again high on the international policy agenda as a result of globalization the spread of democracy and major scandals and reform initiatives But the concept itself has been a focus for social scientists for many years and new findings and data take on richer meanings when viewed in the context of long term developments and enduring conceptual debates This compendium a much enriched version of a work that has been a standard reference in the field since 1970 offers concepts cases and fresh evidence for comparative analysis Building on a nucleus of classic studies laying out the nature and development of the concept of corruption the book also incorporates recent work on economic cultural and linguistic dimensions of the problem as well as critical analyses of several approaches to reform While many authors are political scientists work by historians economists and sociologists are strongly represented Two thirds of the nearly fifty articles are based either on studies especially written or translated for this volume or on selected journal literature published in the 1990s The tendency to treat corruption as merely a synonym for bribery is illuminated by analyses of the diverse terminology and linguistic techniques that help distinguish corruption problems in the major languages Recent attempts to measure corruption and to analyze its causes and effects quantitatively are also critically examined New contributions emphasize especially corruption phenomena in Asia and Africa contrasts among region and regime types comparing U S state corruption incidence European Party finance and corruption assessments of international corruption rating project analyses of international corruption control treaties unintended consequences of anti corruption efforts Cumulatively the book combines description richness analytical thrust conceptual awareness and contextual articulation Indonesia ,1980 Buruh, Serikat, dan Politik John Ingleson,2015-01-01 Masa masa akhir 1920an hingga akhir 1930an di Indonesia lebih banyak dilihat sebagai masa masa yang lesu dan tidak menarik bukan hanya karena depresi ekonomi dunia ikut menghantam wilayah koloni melainkan juga karena luapan aktivisme politik dari dekade sebelumnya ditumpas dan dikekang dengan ketat oleh pemerintah kolonial Melacak sumber sumber dari majalah majalah terbitan serikat buruh artikel artikel koran dan laporan laporan dinas intelijen kolonial dari periode tersebut John Ingleson berusaha menunjukkan bahwa di dalam ruang gerak yang sempit itu sesungguhnya berlangsung suatu pergulatan menarik dari para aktivis buruh dan politik yang terus berjuang mencari celah untuk menantang pihak majikan negara kolonial serta kepasrahan masyarakat itu sendiri Cara cara konfrontatif ditinggalkan dan sebagai gantinya serikat serikat buruh memusatkan aktivitas pemenuhan kesejahteraan anggotanya melalui inisiatif inisiatif dana gotong royong kursus kursus bahasa konsultasi hukum dlsb Melalui wahana inilah kaum buruh perkotaan belajar berorganisasi dan berpolitik sementara majalah majalah serikat yang menjangkau sampai lapis bawah masyarakat perkotaan berperan penting dalam mendorong gagasan tentang Indonesia merdeka Pengalaman penguatan masyarakat dari era inilah yang kemudian menjadi landasan gerakan buruh pasca kemerdekaan Indonesia Buku persembahan penerbit MarjinKiri MarjinKiri Checklist of Southeast Asian Serials Yale University.
