Remaking Peasant China:

Reconstructing Twentieth-century China Kjeld Erik Brødsgaard, David Strand, 1998 This text argues that the underlying theme of China's development trajectory in the 20th century is reconstruction Contributors examine how movements and transitions have affected China at regular periods during this century

Freeing China's Farmers: Rural Restructuring in the Reform Era David Zweig, 2016-09-16 A comprehensive analysis of China's rural reforms this book links local experiences to national policy showing the dynamic tension in the reform process among state policy local cadre power and self interest and the peasants search for economic growth Key topics covered include the responsibility system privatization and changing property rights industrialization social conflict cadre corruption urban rural relations conflict over land rural urbanization and the impact of globalization The introduction skillfully integrates the themes that run throughout this work and the concluding chapter focuses on current and future problems in rural China

Cooperative and Collective in China's Rural Development: Between State and Private Interests Eduard B. Vermeer, Frank N. Pieke, Woei Lien Chong, 2024-12-06 Following China's successful decollectivization diverse new organizational forms arose in response to different local situations The contributors dissect the relationships among the emerging class of entrepreneurs local officials and their family members and associates

Women's Work in Rural China Tamara Jacka, 1997 Based on interviews with rural Chinese women officials and social scientists and on Chinese newspapers journals and academic reports Analyses the situation of women of Han nationality with rural household registration most of whom worked in townships and villages but some of whom worked in cities Delineates patterns in gender divisions of labour in the context of economic reform

Restoration and Development of the Degraded Loess Plateau, China Atsushi Tsunekawa, Guobin Liu, Norikazu Yamanaka, Sheng Du, 2013-08-23 This book presents state of the art scientific evidence and technological innovations to restore lands on the Loess Plateau of China known worldwide for its serious land degradation and desertification problems Supported by a rapidly developing Chinese economy and the dissemination of effective technology the Grain for Green Project and Western Development Action launched by the Chinese government have resulted in successful ecological restoration and protection over the past 30 years These programs have contributed not only to conservation of soil and water but also to economic development At the same time however these developmental interventions have brought new challenges that have not yet been fully addressed The book describes 1 case studies of success and failure in practice including rare success stories of combating desertification 2 technical issues such as erosion control and breeding of stress tolerant plant species and socioeconomic measures taken by the Chinese government and lending policies with support from the World Bank and 3 comprehensive measures against desertification such as water and wind erosion salinization and deforestation This volume is recommended for researchers and students above the undergraduate level in diverse fields including soil science rural engineering social technology and civil engineering biology ecology climatology physical and human geography and developmental economics among others It also serves as a valuable resource for engineers government officials and NPOs and NGOs involved in afforestation ecological restoration combating desertification disaster prevention and sustainable rural development

How Migrant Labor is Changing Rural China Rachel Murphy, 2002-09-19 One of the most dramatic and noticeable changes in China since the introduction of economic and social reforms in the early 1980s has been the mass migration of peasants from the countryside to urban areas across the country Murphy's in depth fieldwork in rural China offers a rich basis for her findings about the impact of migration on many aspects of rural life inequality the organization of agricultural production land transfers livelihood diversification spending patterns house building marriage education the position of women social stability and state society relations Her analysis focuses on the human experiences and strategies that precipitate shifts in national and local policies for economic development and the responses of migrants non migrants and officials to changing circumstances obstacles and opportunities This pioneering study is rich in original source materials and anecdotes as well as useful comparative examples from other developing countries

Handbook of Contemporary Behavioral Economics Morris Altman, 2006 This groundbreaking handbook of original works by leading behavioral economists is the first comprehensive articulation of behavioral economics theory At a time when conventional approaches have failed to resolve key economic concerns the book provides a provocative alternative view of how economic decisions are actually made

Unstately Power Lynn T. White, III, 2015-06-03 A critique of America's flawed Asia policy that centres on US Japan relations but harkens back to the same disastrous views that drew America into Vietnam The technique is a narrative flow of short vignettes woven into longer chapters the main strands are personal reflections and interviews

Democracy and Democratization Michael Moran, Geraint Parry, 2015-04-29 Following the collapse of the former regimes of Eastern and Central Europe and Latin America the choice of all of the democratising countries was to move towards liberal democracy Likewise in Africa many authoritarian regimes seem to be in retreat perhaps most significantly in South Africa Democracy seems to be the only valued political system of the late twentieth century so that even China for example describes itself as the people's democratic dictatorship So have we really as Francis Fukuyama suggested reached the end of history Should we not look seriously at the tension between liberalism and democracy which have led to dissatisfaction with the liberal model in countries such as Britain and France Is it not important to discuss the real problems of stabilisation and survival which the democratising countries are experiencing This timely collection examines questions of central concern to scholars and practitioners of politics It looks at both the concept of democracy and the process of democratisation combining theoretical chapters by historians of ideas and political theorists with empirical chapters on the process of democratisation in Eastern Europe China The Middle East and Latin America as well as in established democracies such as Britain and France

China's Rural-Urban Inequality in the Countryside Yan Gao, Shailaja Fennell, 2018-03-15 This book approaches the issue of rural urban inequality through fieldwork conducted in a specific township Zuogang in Qinggang County part of Heilongjiang Province in northeastern China Presenting painstaking fieldwork in a single location it successfully illuminates fundamental aspects of the reality and the complexity of rural urban inequality that cannot be found in macro level studies most of which are prepared by economists The book offers a unique combination of rigorous economic analysis with insightful social and anthropological analysis as well as revealing interviews with local government officials This approach provides a rich tapestry of rural perceptions of rural urban inequality With in depth analysis and empirical evidence on questions concerning the development and root causes of urban rural disparities the book significantly enriches our understanding of the widely discussed issue of rural urban income inequality but from the unique perspective of rural China

Unstately Power Lynn T. White,1998 Women and Politics in the Third World Haleh Afshar,2005-07-26 Women and Politics in the Third World is the first comprehensive textbook on women s political activities in the third world It provides a feminist analytical perspective on the specific forms of resistance organisation and negotiation by women in third world states Using case studies the book focuses on difference as a theoretical basis for investigating feminine political activism Though Western analysts have attributed weakness to terms such as motherhood marriage and domesticity as choices made by non Western women the contributors show that such strategies are used by women to pursue particular goals such as seeking resources welfare or freedom from oppression for their children These strategies the book suggests should not be classified as unimportant or temporary and can be highly effective even within such discourses as Islamic fundamentalism The contributors highlight differing political approaches in regions as diverse as Latin America South East Asia China and the Middle East

Sources of Chinese Economic Growth, 1978-1996 Chris Bramall,2000-09-14 This analysis of the political economy of growth in the era of Deng Xiaoping takes issue with the growth accounting methodologies and market centred explanations which characterize so much of the literature on transition era China By adopting an approach which echoes the pioneering work of Chalmers Johnson Alice Amsden and Robert Wade on other East Asian Economies and which makes full use of the rich statistical materials that have become available since 1978 this book shows that Chinese growth was driven by a combination of state led industrial policy and the favourable infrastructural legacies of the Maoist era And in giving due weight to the sheer complexity of the growth process by looking in detail at the experience of four very different Chinese regions it avoids over simplistic macroeconomic generalization Nevertheless even this type of approach is inadequate because it fails to explain why industrial policy has been so much more successful in China than in other countries This book therefore goes beyond the development state approach to argue that state autonomy in China reflected the remarkably equal distribution of income and wealth at the end of the 1970s and paradoxically the destruction of party structures and institutions during the Cultural Revolution The policy implications are stark The Chinese experience demonstrates that industrial policy and state spending on physical and social infrastructure can produce rich rewards conversely slavish reliance on foreign direct investment and trade are likely to limit the pace of growth But attempts to replicate China's success in Latin America sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia will fail because their governments will not resist rent seeking by classes and interest groups Moreover as the state becomes weaker in the wake of the re-emergence of a powerful capitalist class even Chinese growth may prove unsustainable India Briefing Alyssa

Ayres, Philip Oldenburg, 2002 A history of modern Russia Kort begins by providing an overview of the historical background he then begins with the establishment of the Bolshevik Dictatorship and then tells the story of Communist Russia before concluding with a section on the first 10 years of post-Soviet Russia The Chinese Economy under Deng Xiaoping

Robert F. Ash, Y. Y. Kueh, 1996-08-22 This book brings together distinguished contributors to create an essential reference volume on the future of China in the 1990s The editors and contributors identify the main trends in the economy cover the important topics carefully and comprehensively and provide thought-provoking analysis of the likely future directions for China's growth Chinese Families in the Post-Mao Era Deborah Davis, Stevan Harrell, 1993-10-02 This collection of essays concerns both urban and rural Chinese communities ranging from professional to working class families The contributors attempt to determine whether and to what extent the policy shifts that followed Mao Zedong's death affected Chinese families Economics of Marketable Surplus Supply Ping Zong, John Davis, 2018-10-26 Published in 1998 Chinese farm households have been at the centre of the rural reform process since the introduction of the Household Responsibility System in the late 1970s There can be little doubt that for decades to come they will continue to be a focus of interest both in academic and political circles This is particularly true in relation to their role of grain sector when we consider the prominent position of grain in China's political economy There is also intense global interest in the impact of the reform process on the country's future grain self-sufficiency and trade This book is ambitious in both its scope and remit Its primary focus is the behaviour of the marketable surplus element of farm households grain supply since the beginning of the reform period The early chapters provide very valuable insights into the nature of the rural reform process it then looks at the impact of the reforms on the structure of rural economy in general and farm households in particular This part of the book is rich in statistics on the reform period In the analytical section the emphasis is on the difficult area of household modelling covering both theoretical and empirical aspects Despite the data limitations which the authors acknowledge these chapters provide very valuable analyses of the grain price changes In particular their use of models which capture the interdependencies between grain marketable surplus supply is a genuine contribution This book should be read by anyone with an interest in the rural reform process in China and will be of particular relevance to students scholars and the policy community

China's Retreat from Equality Carl Riskin, Zhao Renwei, Li Shih, 2016-07-08 A collection of 13 essays based on two national surveys of household income in China in 1985 and 1995 and prepared and carried out by the research team These essays explore a wide range of aspects of the rapidly changing income distribution during this period From Commune to Capitalism Zhun Xu, 2018-06-22 Socialism and capitalism in the Chinese countryside Chinese agrarian change in world historical context Agricultural productivity and decollectivization The political economy of decollectivization The achievement contradictions and demise of rural collectives Issues & Studies ,1991
