Retrieving Experience Subjectivity And Recognition In Feminist Politics:

Retrieving Experience Sonia Kruks, 2018-09-05 In Retrieving Experience Sonia Kruks engages critically with the postmodern turn in feminist and social theory. She contends that although postmodern analyses yield important insights about the place of discourse in constituting subjectivity, they lack the ability to examine how experience often exceeds the limits of discourse. To address this lack and explain why it matters for feminist politics, Kruks retrieves and employs aspects of postwar French existential theory, a tradition that she argues postmodernism has obscured by militantly rejecting its own genealogy. Kruks seeks to refocus our attention on the importance for feminism of embodied and lived experiences. Through her original readings of Simone de Beauvoir and other existential thinkers including Sartre, Fanon, and Merleau-Ponty, and her own analyses inspired by their work, Kruks sheds new light on central problems in feminist theory and politics. These include debates about subjectivity and individual agency, questions about recognition and identity politics, and discussion of whether embodied experiences may sometimes facilitate solidarity among groups of different women. Retrieving Experience

Sonia Kruks, 2001. Situating the subject: Panopticism and shame. Foucault, Beauvoir, and feminism. The politics of recognition. Sartre, Fanon, and identity politics. Identity politics and dialectical reason beyond an epistemology of provenance. Going beyond discourse. Feminism, phenomenology, and women's experience. Phenomenology and difference on the possibility of feminist world travelling. Simone de Beauvoir's Political Thinking Lori Marso, Patricia Moynagh, 2024-04-22 By exploring the life and work of the influential feminist thinker Simone de Beauvoir, this book shows how each of us lives within political and social structures that we can and must play a part in transforming. It argues that Beauvoir's careful examination of her own existence can also be understood as a dynamic method for political thinking. As the contributors illustrate, Beauvoir's political thinking proceeds from the bottom up, using examples from individual lives as the basis for understanding and transforming our collective existence. For example, she embraced her responsibility as a French citizen as making her complicit in the French war against Algeria. Here she sees her role as an oppressor. In other contexts, she looks to the lives of individual women, including herself, to understand the dimensions of gender inequality. This volume's six tightly connected essays home in on the individual's relationship to community and how one's freedom interacts with the freedom of other people. Here Beauvoir is read as neither a liberal nor a communitarian. The authors focus on her call for individuals to realize their freedom while remaining consistent with ethical obligations to the community. Beauvoir's account of her own life and the lives of others is interpreted as a method to understand individuals in relations to others and as within structures of personal, material, and political oppression. Beauvoir's political thinking makes it clear that we cannot avoid political action. To do nothing in the face of oppression denies freedom to everyone, including oneself. Manufactured Uncertainty Lorraine Code, 2020-11-01 In this provocative work, Lorraine Code returns to the idea of epistemic responsibility as developed in her influential 1987 book of the same name to confront the telling new challenges we now face to know the world with some sense of responsibility to other knowers and to the sustaining nonhuman world

Manufactured Uncertainty focuses centrally on the environmental and cultural crises arising from postindustrial man made climate change which have spawned new forms of passionately partisan social media that directly challenge all efforts to know with a sense of collective responsibility

How can we agree to act together

Code asks even in the face of inevitable uncertainty given the truly life threatening stakes of today s social and political challenges

How can we engage responsibly with those who take every argument for an environmentally grounded epistemology as an unacceptable challenge to their assumed freedoms comforts and rights

Through searching critical dialogue with leading epistemologists cultural theorists and feminist scholars this book poses a timely challenge to all thoughtful knowers who seek to articulate an expanded and deepened sense of epistemic responsibility to a human society and a natural world embraced together in the most inclusive spirit self fashioning and the problems of identity politics It bridges the genres of political science sociology philosophy and even self help It draws on current debates in psychology philosophy and political science as well as art and literature to address a serious life issue that has important political and ethical implications Multiple Selves denies that we have a single identity are unique or could use either identity or uniqueness as a source of political and ethical guidance We are a jumble of multiple self and social identifications that change in character and rise and fall in importance over time Some of these identifications are reinforcing others are in conflict and all are context dependent The book offers a critique of identity politics on both the right and the left It proposes more realistic ways of self fashioning described as much as a social as an individual enterprise Recognition of our fragmented selves can produce important ethical insights and greater psychological contentment
