The Revelation of God in History John F. Haught, 2009-03-01 Revelation of God in History John F. Haught, 1988-10-01 Revelation as History Rolf Rendtorff, Trutz Rendtorff, Ulrich Wilkens, 1968 David Granskou s translation into English of Revelation as History makes available to the English speaking world for the first time one of the controversial works of modern theology In it a group of young German theologians led by Wolfhart Pannenbrg of Mainz University propose a reinterpretation of the concept of revelation that is directed against both the Barthian and the Bultmannian understanding of the word of God as the basis of theology Bultmann who is skeptical of the historic character of Christian revelation holds that the divine will is known only through God's word as contained in Scripture Barth strongly emphasizes the uniqueness of God s revelation in Christ Pannenberg and his group hold as limited these authoritarian ideas of the divine word and of the obedience it calls for and argue instead that all of history is an indirect revelation of God's existence The idea of the divine word and of the obedience it calls for and argue instead that all of history is an indirect revelation of God's existence The idea of the divine word is not excluded in their reinterpretation but it is reinstituted to a more modest and subordinate role within the context of revelation as history Pannenberg first reviews the modern history of the concept of revelation introduces the theme of the book and constructs the framework of the presentation The subsequent exegetical investigations by Rolf Rendtorff and Ulrich Wilkens argue the evidence for the case in the Israelite and primitive Christian testimonies of faith expressed in the Old and New Testaments Pannenberg then fully states the new interpretation of revelation as history and Trutz Rendtorff concludes with an exploration of the problems created by this point of view when applied to the church Revelation as History represents a significant attempt to resolve the conflicting positions of the existential and historical schools of thought on the theological issue of revelation one that rejects the authoritarian style of theological thought in favor of an open rationality combined with a concern for the substance of the Christian tradition Publisher The History of God Speaking Les Martin, 2021-08-12 Surely most evangelicals would affirm the Bible is the Word of God It is the record of what God has spoken what He wanted us to know it is the revelation of Himself and His will He has declared that what He has given to us is sufficient for us If all we can know about God can only be found in the pages of Scripture is that enough Does He still speak and if so how If He speaks personal revelation to individual believers what is to be done with such revelation Is that assumed revelation as authoritative and accurate as the biblical text Can we know for sure that it came from God The answers to these questions carry serious consequences We need to carefully examine what God has recorded in order to accurately understand how God has spoken and how He continues to speak The Pentateuch Henry God and History in the Book of Revelation Michael Gilbertson, 2003-07-24 This is an interdisciplinary study Cowles, 1874 which constructs a dialogue between biblical interpretation and systematic theology It examines how far a reading of the Book of Revelation might either support or question the work of leading theologians Wolfhart Pannenberg and J rgen

Moltmann on the theology of history exploring the way in which the author of Revelation uses the dimensions of space and time to make theological points about the relationship between God and history The book argues that Revelation sets the present earthly experience of the reader in the context of God's ultimate purposes by disclosing hidden dimensions of reality both spatial embracing heaven and earth and temporal extending into the ultimate future Dr Gilbertson offers a detailed assessment of the theologies of history developed by Pannenberg and Moltmann including their views on the nature of the historical process and the use of apocalyptic ideas in eschatology The History of the Future Marvin Blackburn, Timothy D. Blackburn, 2002-11-01 The History of the Future God's Revelation of events before they occur Many avoid the Book of Revelation and other apocalyptic Scripture because of complexity and puzzling imagery Finally a book that clearly explains end times within the context and flow of Scripture while remaining succinct and readable Through an exposition of God s Word this book will enable you to reach a Biblically based understanding of end times and our eternal future Pentateuch, In Its Progressive Revelations of God to Men; Designed For Both Pastors And People Henry Cowles, 2023-09-24 Reproduction of the original The publishing house Megali specialises in reproducing historical works in large print to make reading easier for people with impaired vision Trinity and History Scott P. Rice, 2022-04-21 How does God relate to the world What difference does our understanding of God make for conceiving of God's relation to us Christian theology has seen a flourishing of activity in response to these questions under a common doctrinal theme Trinity That said proposals for understanding how God relates to the world through the Trinity of God's being otherwise known as the relationship between the immanent and the economic Trinity vary significantly This book reflecting on the work of four modern theologians Dorner Barth Pannenberg and Jenson offers a set of constructive proposals on key issues relating to the God world relation including a way to understand divine immutability without denying God's living history with others and a trinitarian notion of divine sovereignty that demonstrates how God transcends history from within the structures of time At each step along the way the author conveys how Trinity opens up a richer more expansive conception of God's relation to us This book shows how Trinity serves the practical work of theology as faith seeking understanding The Self-revelation of God Samuel Harris, 1886

Humanity in the Mystery of God Jennifer Cooper,2009-06-30 Schillebeeckx s theology is a reflection on the nature of God who is both creator and redeemer his theology is a treatise on the God who is God for humanity This means of course that his theology is always both a reflection on the nature of God and on the meaning of humanity and hence there is a theological anthropology at the centre of his whole theological enterprise The definition of humanity is given in the relationship between the mystery of God the God who is both transcendent and immanent and the mystery of humanity For Schillebeeckx the meaning of humanity is revealed and established in the mystery of God as a vocation to intimacy with God This intimacy is described both as a dependence upon God and as a situated freedom and hence the description of humanity which emerges from Schillebeeckx s treatise on God holds together humanity s metaphysical and moral significance At the heart of this theocentric anthropology is its christological structure Schillebeeckx develops a sacramental christology in light of his interpretation of Christ s incarnation The relation of incarnation to the death resurrection and glorification of Christ establishes a sacramental theological anthropology The meaning of humanity is given in its creative salvific sanctifying participative and personal relation to the God who is God both of creation and of covenant This book develops an interpretation of Schillebeeckx s theological anthropology by analysing his theology of revelation and grace and by examining the christological structure of his theology This christology centres on an interpretation of the incarnation in which the fully personal nature of Christ s humanity is key This christology establishes the sacramental nature of humanity and hence Schillebeeckx s description of the meaning of human nature is also a theological description of the meaning of human action

A Commentary on the Holy Scriptures Johann Peter Lange,Philip Schaff,1869

The Church Standard ,1900 Word and Church John Webster,2016-01-28 In Word and Church readers are treated to chapters that examine the field of Christian Dogmatics presenting a clear trajectory in the work of John Webster that moves from interpretation of 20th century Protestant theology to doctrinal construction Webster addresses the modern traditions of Christian divinity and the topics which come to the fore in making sense of these traditions the nature of the Bible and its interpretation the place of Jesus Christ in modern theological culture and the basis and shape of human agency As a whole the book boldly indicates how dilemmas or inadequacies in modern treatments of these topics might be clarified by more direct employment of language about God and the gospel The classic chapters present the work of one of the world s leading contemporary theologians at his creative best For this Cornerstones edition the author has provided a new preface in which he contextualizes the work within his current theology God in History; Or, The Progress of Man's Faith in the Moral Order of the World Christian Carl Josias von Baron Bunsen, 1870

Reading in the Presence of Christ: A Study of Dietrich Bonhoeffer's Bibliology and Exegesis Joel

Banman,2021-02-11 Bonhoeffer's writings include a significant amount of biblical interpretation but his potential contributions in the fields of biblical studies and theological exegesis of Scripture have not been sufficiently explored. This study reassesses some of his key exegetical writings in light of his theology of revelation and bibliology unfolding the ways in which his reading of the Bible is determined by his theology of Scripture Through this analysis Joel Banman demonstrates that the uniting factor of Bonhoeffer's biblical interpretation is not methodological but bibliological he reads Scripture as the living word of the present Christ
