Architectures of Security Benjamin J. Muller, Can E. Mutlu, 2024-11-19 Architectures of Security Design Control Mobility examines the relationship between architecture security and technology focusing on the way these factors mutually constitute a ferocious architecture an architecture aesthetic or design that is violent forcing the performances and practices of sovereign power and neoliberalism The text provides examples from urban spaces in both the global north and south which discipline the mobility and movement of populations as well as reinforce socioeconomic cleavages From borders and borderlands to airports museums and public buildings the authors portray often inhumane examples of sovereign power

Copyright Blayne Haggart, 2014-04-30 Widespread file sharing has led content industries publishers and distributors of books music films and software to view their customers as growing threats to their survival Content providers and their allies especially the U S government have pushed for stronger global copyright policies through international treaties and domestic copyright reforms Internet companies individuals and public interest groups have pushed back with massive street protests in Europe and online internet blackouts that derailed the 2012 U S Stop Online Piracy Act SOPA But can citizens or smaller countries really stand in the way of the U S copyright juggernaut To answer this question Copyright examines the 1996 World Intellectual Property Organization internet treaties that began the current digital copyright regime Blayne Haggart follows the WIPO treaties from negotiation to implementation from the perspective of three countries the United States Canada and Mexico Using extensive interviews with policymakers and experts in these three countries Haggart argues that not all the power is in the hands of the U S government Small countries can still set their own course on copyright legislation while growing public interest in copyright issues means that even the United States might move away from ever increasing copyright protection

Remaking Policy Carolyn Hughes Tuohy,2018-06-03 One of the most persistent puzzles in comparative public policy concerns the conditions under which discontinuous policy change occurs In Remaking Policy Carolyn Hughes Tuohy advances an ambitious new approach to understanding the relationship between political context and policy change Focusing on health care policy Tuohy argues for a more nuanced conception of the dynamics of policy change one that makes two key distinctions regarding the opportunities for change and the magnitude of such changes Four possible strategies emerge large scale and fast paced big bang large scale and slow paced blueprint small scale and rapid mosaic and small scale and gradual incremental As Tuohy demonstrates these strategies are determined not by political and institutional conditions themselves but by the ways in which political actors individually and collectively read those conditions to assess their prospects for success in the present and over time Drawing on interviews as well as primary and secondary accounts of ten health policy cases over seven decades 1945 2015 in the US UK the Netherlands and Canada Remaking Policy represents a major advance in understanding the scale and pace of change in health policy and beyond

The Capacity to Innovate Sarah Giest,2021 In The Capacity to Innovate Sarah Giest provides insight into the collaborative and absorptive capacities needed to provide public support to local innovation through cluster organizations The book offers a detailed view of the vertical multi level and horizontal dynamics in clusters and cluster policy and addresses how they are managed and supported Using the biotechnology field as an example Giest highlights challenges in the collaborative efforts of public bodies private companies and research institutes to establish a successful eco system of innovation in this sector The book argues that cluster policy in collaboration with cluster organizations should focus on absorptive and collaborative capacity elements missing in the cluster context in order to improve performance Currently governments operate at different levels local to supranational in order to support clusters and cluster policies are often pursued in parallel to other programs As the book shows this can lead to uncoordinated efforts and ineffective cluster strategies Relational dynamics are often overlooked when working backwards from performance indicators since their effects are largely indirect but Giest demonstrates that both the cluster organization and the cluster eco system play a role The Capacity to Innovate advocates for a coordinated effort by government and cluster organizations to support capacity elements lacking within the specific cluster context

systems of governance in which citizens actively exchange ideas engage in debate and create laws that are responsive to their interests and aspirations While deliberative processes are being adopted in an increasing number of cases decision making power remains mostly in the hands of traditional elites In Democratic Illusion Genevieve Fuji Johnson examines four representative examples participatory budgeting in the Toronto Community Housing Corporation Deliberative Polling by Nova Scotia Power Incorporated a national consultation process by the Canadian Nuclear Waste Management Organization and public consultations embedded in the development of official languages policies in Nunavut In each case measures that appeared to empower the public failed to challenge the status quo approach to either formulating or implementing policy Illuminating a critical gap between deliberative democratic theory and its applications this timely and important study shows what needs to be done to ensure deliberative processes offer more than the illusion of democracy

Comparing Quebec and Ontario Rodney Haddow, 2015-03-27 Can sub units within a capitalist democracy even a relatively decentralized one like Canada pursue fundamentally different social and economic policies Is their ability to do so less now than it was before the advent of globalization In Comparing Quebec and Ontario Rodney Haddow brings these questions and the tools of comparative political economy to bear on the growing public policy divide between Ontario and Quebec Combining narrative case studies with rigorous quantitative analysis Haddow analyses how budgeting economic development social assistance and child care policies differ between the two provinces The cause of the divide he argues are underlying differences between their political and economic institutions An important contribution to ongoing debates about globalization's golden straightjacket Comparing Quebec and Ontario is an essential resource for understanding Canadian political economy
