characters have been seen as universal comic types Lionel Gossman reappraises Molière's comedy in the light of historical experience and interprets it in terms of the conditions from which it emerged He brings it into the mainstream of seventeenth century French literature and shows that Molière was concerned with the same things that concerned Descartes Corneille Racine or Pascal Five comedies Amphitryon Dom Juan Le Misanthrope Le Tartuffe and George Dandin are studied in the first part of the book A number of basic structures are found to be common to all of them and these give the author his point of departure for the second part of the book In the second part Gossman examines Molière's position with respect to other major seventeenth century French writers The comic vision of Molière Gossman argues no less than the tragic vision of Pascal or of Racine expresses a particular relation to the social structure of the time The subject matter of Molière's comedy is thus in the author's view not universal human nature but the men and women of the society in which Molière lived Indeed Gossman goes on to argue that the development of society after Molière made it difficult and in the end impossible for later writers to see the world in the comic light that illuminated Molière's writing Even in certain of Molière's own works in fact the comic vision shades into something close to Romantic irony English Synonyms Explained George Crabb, 1844 A Cyclopædia of Illustrations of Moral and Religious Truths; consisting of definitions, metaphors, similes, emblems, etc John Bate (Wesleyan Minister.), 1865 The Biblical Museum: a Collection of Notes, Explanatory, Homiletic, and Illustrative, on the Holy Scriptures ... New Testament James Comper Gray, 1871 Deceiver's Web Jane Rice-Oxley, 2008 Dante's Lyric Redemption Tristan Kay, 2016-01-28 Dante's Lyric Redemption offers a re-examination of two strongly interrelated aspects of the poet's work the role and value he ascribes to earthly love and his relationship to the Romance lyric tradition of his time It argues that an account of Dante's poetic journey that posits a stark division between earthly and divine love and between the secular lyric poet and the Christian auctor does little justice to his highly distinctive and often polemical handling of these categories The book firstly contextualizes traces and accounts for Dante's intriguing commitment to love poetry from the minor works to the Commedia It highlights his attempts especially in his masterpiece to overcome normative oppositions in formulating a uniquely redemptive vernacular poetics one oriented towards the eternal while rooted in his affective and indeed erotic past It then examines how this matter is at stake in Dante's treatment of three important lyric predecessors Guittone d'Arezzo Arnaut Daniel and Folco of Marseilles Through a detailed reading of Dante's engagement with these poets the book illuminates his careful departure from a dualistic model of love and conversion and shows his erotic commitment to be at the heart of his claims to pre-eminence as a vernacular author The Man of Sorrow Theodore Edward Hook, 1842
