Literary Authority and the Modern Chinese Writer Wendy Larson,1991

Throughout the twentieth century Chinese writers have confronted the problem of creating a new literary tradition that both maintains the culturally unique aspects of a rich heritage and succeeds in promoting a new modernity In the first book length treatment of the topic Wendy Larson examines the contradictory forms of authority at work in the autobiographical texts of modern Chinese writers and scholars and the way these conflicts helped to shape and determine the manner in which writers viewed themselves their texts and their work Larson focuses on the most famous writers associated with the May Fourth Movement a group most active in the 1920s and 1930s and their fundamental ambivalence about writing She analyzes how their writing paradoxically characterized textual labor as passive negative and inferior to material labor and the more physical political work of social progress and she describes the ways they used textual means to devalue literary labor The impact of China's increasing contact with the West particularly the ways in which Western notions of individualism and democracy influenced Chinese ideologies of self and work is considered Larson also studies the changes in China's social structure notably those linked to the abolition in 1905 of the educational exam system which subsequently broke the link between the mastery of certain texts and the attainment of political power further denigrating the cultural role of the writer

The Gate of Darkness Hsia Tsian, 2016-02-16 As one of the few foundational texts to provide a critical overview of the aesthetics and politics of the leftist literary movement in China The Gate of Darkness was previously published by the University of Washington Press in 1968 to great critical acclaim Posthumously edited by the author's brother Professor C T Hsia this book critiques the works of leftist Chinese writers including Lu Hsiang-shan Chiang Kuang-tzu and the Five Martyrs As one of the few foundational texts to provide a critical overview of the aesthetics and politics of China's leftist literary movement The Gate of Darkness examines the conflicting dilemmas between leftist authors' own ideals and the strict ideological frameworks imposed by the propaganda policies of the Chinese Communist Party in the early twentieth century Numerous reviews appearing in the leading East Asian studies journals have acknowledged the historical importance of the book which has few comparisons The cultural critic Leo Ou-fan Lee believes that this book gives one of the most significant scholarly analyses of Lu Xun's work towards the end of his life revealing the darkness that pervaded his later works such as Wild Grass He calls Tsian Hsia a creative and compassionate scholar who has opened Lu Hsiang-shan's inner gate of darkness to unveil a fascinating world of demons and ghosts as dramatized in village operas and popular superstitions
