1986 NASA authorization United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology. Subcommittee on Transportation, Aviation, and Materials, 1985 Gaseous Detonation Physics and Its Universal Framework Theory Zonglin Jiang, Honghui Teng, 2022-12-16 This book highlights the theories and research progress in gaseous detonation research and proposes a universal framework theory that overcomes the current research limitations Gaseous detonation is an extremely fast type of combustion that propagates at supersonic speed in premixed combustible gas Being self sustaining and self organizing with the unique nature of pressure gaining gaseous detonation and its gas dynamics has been an interdisciplinary frontier for decades The research of detonation enjoyed its early success from the development of the CJ theory and ZND modeling but phenomenon is far from being understood quantitatively and the development of theories to predict the three dimensional cellular structure remains a formidable task being essentially a problem in high speed compressible reacting flow This theory proposed by the authors research group breaks down the limitation of the one dimensional steady flow hypothesis of the early theories successfully correlating the propagation and initiation processes of gaseous detonation and realizing the unified expression of the three dimensional structure of cell detonation The book and the proposed open framework is of high value for researchers in conventional applications such as coal mine explosions and chemical plant accidents and state of the art research fields such as supernova explosion new aerospace propulsion engines and detonation driven hypersonic testing facilities It is also a driving force for future research of detonation Advances in Compressible Turbulent Mixing , 1992 , NASA's University Program United States. We are grateful to the Scientific Committee Bjorn Engquist Chairman Roland Glowinski Mitchell Luskin and Andrew Majda for planning and implementing an exciting and stimulating year long program We especially thank the Workshop Organizers Bjorn Engquist Mitchell Luskin and Andrew Majda for organizing a workshop which brought together many of the leading researchers in the area of computational fluid dynamics George R Sell Hans Weinberger

PREFACE Computational fluid dynamics has always been of central importance in scientific computing It is also a field which clearly displays the essential theme of interaction between mathematics physics and computer science Therefore it was natural for the first workshop of the 1986 87 program on scientific computing at the Institute for Mathematics and Its Applications to concentrate on computational fluid dynamics In the workshop more traditional fields were mixed with fields of emerging importance such as reacting gas flows and non Newtonian flows The workshop was marked by a high level of interaction and discussion among researchers representing varied schools of thought and countries
