Ordinary Knowledge An Introduction To Interpretative Sociology:

Ordinary Knowledge Michel Maffesoli, 1996-06-03 In this important and stylish book Michel Maffesoli argues that it is impossible to reduce knowledge to a conception of science inherited from the nineteenth century. Instead he argues we must go beyond intellectual conformities based on limited and archaic moral or political foundations. This approach emphasizes the growing importance of information and communication in modern societies. Maffesoli suggests that sociologists have too often succumbed to the positivist fascination of analytical formalism and dualistic thinking. Rather than viewing society as a finished product he develops an approach which seeks to analyse in all their nuances and contradictions the new forms of social life particularly everyday life which are beginning to emerge in the late twentieth century. A timely contribution to current debates. Ordinary Knowledge will be welcomed by students and researchers in sociology and social theory. The Ethical Foundations of Postmodernity Nina Michaela von Dahler, Nina Michaela Von Dahler, 2013-07 A return to ethics which began in the 1980s and 1990s and is still predominant today has been ascribed to literary studies and theory. In this book theoretical issues within ethics are discussed based on the examples of literary analyses. The authors examined are Margaret Atwood, Jeffrey Eugenides and Robert M. Pirsig. The main questions concern the foundation on which ethical concepts are based and the way in which such concepts function. These topics are evidently connected to matters of human concepts and human nature in general which are understood to be fundamentally communicative. Contrary to popular conclusions of relativity the need for a realist foundation of ethics implying universal validity will be revealed. It is not only possible but also necessary to develop such an idea of ethics within a postmodern relativist framework. A communicative foundationalist ethics will thus be designed. With regard to literature an increasing emergence of first person narrative can be witnessed in addition to a new focus on a realist and more mimetic style after a peak of pluralist conceptions at the end of the twentieth and the beginning of the twenty first centuries. The analysis of such narrative situations will reveal the significance of the narrative generation of individual personalities for an understanding of ethical questions. The conflict between relativist and realist points of view centers on the postmodern critique of the individual. The study of the literary generation of individuals will elucidate means of confronting this critique. The theoretical background includes the poststructuralist and communicative concepts of Judith Butler and Seyla Benhabib as well as Ernst Tugendhat's analytical approach. Nina von Dahler studied English language and literature, philosophy, sociology and educational sciences at the Universities of Hamburg and Heidelberg. This book is based on her Ph.D. thesis. Narratives and Social Change Emiliana Mangone, 2022-04-01 This book is an important contribution to narrative research and highlights how narratives can produce social change. The author demonstrates this through an analysis of concepts like future uncertainty and risk both in terms of individual impact and as collective forms of social life. The book reconstructs the relationships between future uncertainty and risk through everyday how narratives exert power over individual and social life by influencing individual or collective decisions and choices Narratives also change future prospects thus producing social change Some of the examples the author draws out for discussion are in specific the narration of the migration flows in the Mediterranean Sea and the narration of the pandemic emergency from COVID 19 The result of different narratives has been the emergence of new ideologies and of a complex series of dynamics in which the local ends up becoming global and vice versa Highly topical and interdisciplinary in its approach this book is of interest to researchers and students of the sociology of culture and communication media and communication studies social and cultural psychology and cultural anthropology

Culture and Everyday Life in Rela(c)tion Emiliana Mangone,Giovanna

Russo,2025-05-30 In this book the theme of culture and cultural processes has been approached along a line of reflection that takes into account the changes that have occurred in recent years in society contemporary to us Collective Memory Narratives in Contemporary Culture Antonella Pocecco,Estrella Gualda,Emiliana Mangone,2023-11-27 Starting from the central importance of memory in contemporary societies this book encourages a transdisciplinary reflection on how the presentification of the past is never a simple reenactment but corresponds to the interaction between memory and cultural sensitiveness present beliefs and needs expectations and forecasts for the future It studies cultural re construction through collective stories including academic debates media narratives collective mobilizations state narratives of history architectural reconstructions and artistic expressions It looks at how technological innovations have profoundly changed the practices of conservation and dissemination of collective memory with particular reference to cultural digitization Finally it shows that the relevance and selection of events the organization of connections and cross references between past present and future as well as the importance of diversified collective imaginaries are the keys to narrative constructions of memory that prove to be sensitive and decisive for its continuity and its intergenerational transmission This interdisciplinary collection is for students and scholars of the social sciences cultural studies and the humanities interested in memory studies

Identities, Nations and Politics after Communism Roger E. Kanet,2013-10-18 This book focuses on questions of identity that have confronted the countries of Central and Eastern Europe after the collapse of the communist system that had previously provided them with an identity This development both facilitated and necessitated a reassessment of the now independent nations history orientation symbols and identity In some cases new states were created without a clear national identity while in others the nation was regaining statehood but not always within borders that had an historical association with the nation concerned The multiethnic character of the space of the former Soviet Union and its erstwhile satellites and the long historical legacy of complex relations boundary changes population migration and economic and social changes presented different challenges to the various nations and states concerned The essays in this volume attempt to elucidate and understand the issues of ethnic and national identity and their relationship to the emerging statehood in various regions of the post communist world This study makes clear that some nation states were far better prepared to handle these issues than others and that the longer term impact of the communist experience has varied This book was previously published as a special issue of Nationalities Papers

The Taming of Fate S. Macamo,2017-07-05 This book is about how extreme situations appearing to have a destructive potential can actually be used to produce meaningful individual and social lives It is about the taming of fate This notion means and accounts for the ability of individuals and communities to rebuild their lives against all odds The book is based on case studies that draw from theoretical insights derived from the sociology of disasters It addresses some limitations of the sociology of risk chief among which is the rejection of the relevance of the notion of risk to the study of technologically non advanced societies The book argues that this rejection has deprived the study of the human condition of an important analytical asset The book claims that risk is a property of social action which can best be understood through the analytical scrutiny of its role in the historical constitution of social relations

Technologies of Religion Sam Han,2016-02-05 Bringing together empirical cultural and media studies of religion and critical social theory

Technologies of Religion Spheres of the sacred in a post secular modernity investigates powerful entanglement of religion and new media technologies taking place today taking stock of the repercussions of digital technology and culture on various aspects of religious life and contemporary culture more broadly Making the argument that religion and new media technologies come together to create spheres environments produced by an architecture of digital technologies of all sorts from projection screens to social networking sites the book suggests that prior social scientific conceptions of religious worship participation community and membership are being recast Using the case of the strain of American Christianity called multi site an emergent and growing church model that has begun to win favor largely among Protestants in the last decade the book details and examines the way in which this new mode of religiosity bridges the realms of the technological and the physical Lastly the book situates and contextualizes these developments within the larger theoretical concerns regarding the place of religion in contemporary capitalism Technologies of Religion Spheres of the sacred in a post secular modernity offers an important contribution to the study of religion media technology and culture in a post secular world

The Mind Possessed Emma Cohen, 2007-08-09 Illustrated mainly with hypothetical or anecdotal examples this book considers in detail how the psychological systems undergirding spirit concepts are activated in real world settings and specifically how those concepts can give rise to trance and spirit possession phenomena

The Secret Life of Cities Helen Jarvis, Andy C. Pratt, Peter Cheng-Chong Wu, 2016-07-01 Contemporary urbanisation has two faces global flows of people money and information and that of localised social and economic disparities Recent research has focused on the headlines of global cities as control centres of the world economy and social and economic shock waves that have raged through cities and regions but less attention has been paid to the secret life of cities and the changing nature of everyday life in the wake of such changes This book challenges current research and policy agendas recommending spatial concentration and relocation as a solution to the problems of environmental sustainability and social dislocation Instead this book highlights the key linkages between social and environmental problems it argues that neither are likely to be resolved with a simple spatial fix The book draws attention to local contexts of contemporary urbanisation emphasising consideration of policy making from the perspective of the household as a key unit of analysis in identifying links between labour and housing markets transport and leisure This book draws upon detailed household interviews about the daily experience of life in a global city It illustrates the dilemmas and solutions that people routinely find in order to go on in their lives It shows that these local fixes that are managed at the level of the household work in spite of and sometimes against existing policies aimed at sustainability It concludes that policy making needs to be radically overhauled in order to address the integrated nature of people's everyday lives

Reflexivity in Language and Intercultural Education Julie S. Byrd Clark, Fred Dervin, 2014-04-03 With the impact of accelerated globalization digital technologies mobility and migration the fields of Applied Linguistics Language and Intercultural Education have been shifting One shift in need of further exploration is that of systematic and coherent reflexivity in researching language and culture This unique and timely book thus examines the significance of reflexivity as an integral process particularly when researching the multifaceted notions of multilingualism and interculturality in education It also contributes to current critical approaches to representations of languages and cultures in identity politics As such the authors offer innovative ways of engaging with reflexivity in teaching learning and research through multimodal and complex ways The chapters span a diverse range of educational settings in Asia Australia Europe and North America

Clubbing Ben Malbon,2002-03-11 Clubbing explores the cultures and spaces of clubbing Divided into three sections Beginnings The Night Out and Reflections Clubbing includes first hand accounts of clubbing experiences framing these accounts within the relevant research and a review of clubbing in late 1990s Britain Malbon particularly focuses on the codes of social interaction among clubbers issues of gender and sexuality the effects of music the role of ecstasy clubbing as a playful act and personal interpretations of clubbing experiences The 'Postmodern Turn' in the Social Sciences Simon Susen,2015-07-23 Simon Susen examines the impact of the postmodern turn on the contemporary social sciences On the basis of an innovative five dimensional approach this study provides a systematic comprehensive and critical account of the legacy of the postmodern turn notably in terms of its continuing relevance in the twenty first century Why We Take Drugs Tom Yardley,2012-03-29 In older cultures the use of intoxicant drugs was integrated into the rhythms of social existence and bounded by rituals and taboos that ensured their dangerous forces were contained and channelled In modern western societies by contrast the state and the institutions of society have washed their hands of any responsibility for assimilating the desire for intoxication into social existence and by doing so have sponsored a free for all that has often had disastrous consequences for individuals and communities alike Why We Take Drugs provides a timely intervention in the growing debate about the wisdom of the ongoing war on drugs Rather than adopting the assumption that drug and alcohol use is a problem that poses a threat to society this book makes a case for the idea that society is a problem for intoxicant drug use and that it is society that poses a threat by denying those who seek intoxication a legitimate and socially sanctioned space in which to experience these altered states Scholarly yet approachable it provides a new understanding of the meaning and role of intoxicant drug use in contemporary society setting an in depth phenomenological analysis of intoxication as an embodied experience within a wide sociological anthropological and historical context These ideas are brought to life by intimate and revealing accounts of ordinary drug users experiences with a wide range of substances This book will appeal to a wide range of students and scholars throughout the social sciences particularly in the areas of drug and alcohol studies body studies cultural studies anthropology and philosophy Gender and Agency Lois McNay,2013-05-29 This book reassesses theories of agency and gender identity against the backdrop of changing relations between men and women in contemporary societies McNay argues that recent thought on the formation of the modern subject offers a one sided or negative account of agency which underplays the creative dimension present in the responses of individuals to changing social relations An understanding of this creative element is central to a theory of autonomous agency and also to an explanation of the ways in which women and men negotiate changes within gender relations In exploring the implications of this idea of agency for a theory of gender identity McNay brings together the work of leading feminist theorists such as Judith Butler and Nancy Fraser with the work of key continental social theorists In particular she examines the work of Pierre Bourdieu Paul Ricoeur and Cornelius Castoriadis each of whom has explored different aspects of the idea of the creativity of action McNay argues that their thought has interesting implications for feminist ideas of gender but these have been relatively neglected partly because of the huge influence of the work of Michel Foucault and Jacques Lacan in this area She argues that despite its suggestive nature feminist theory must move away from the ideas of Foucault and Lacan if a more substantive account of agency is to be introduced into ideas of gender identity This book will appeal to students and scholars in the areas of social theory gender studies and feminist theory
