Bolting Horses and Falling Bombs Anthony Trevail, 2014-11-11 Author Anthony Trevail was born in 1936 in Plymouth and witnessed first hand the terrible bombing of that city by Hitler's Third Reich Through the eyes of a child the war is shown to have been a time of great adventure Yet looking back and writing with the hindsight of maturity Trevail shows that for adults it was a time of fear and of tragedy This book is of great interest not only for its evocation of what it was like for one family that lived through the devastation of war but for the way it highlights how individual events such as bolting horses determine the course of history making and breaking families along the way This incredible story is based on real persons and events as experienced by the author and also as recounted to him by his parents To fill in certain gaps in the events and to protect the identity of some of those still living some names and events are fictional Travel back to England to feel the effects of world war that became The Making of a Plymouth Family 1924 to 1945

Frankie's Back in Town Jeanie London, 2010-02-01 Doesn't take much to start the talk in this town And no one knows that better than Francesca Raffa Once the town's rebel and favorite topic of conversation she's returned home a responsible single mom and respectable executive Nothing to whisper about here That is until police chief Jack Sloan pays her a visit or three Suddenly the rumor mill is spinning with speculation about exactly what is going on between Francesca and Jack Some think she's the prime suspect in a criminal investigation And others well they think there's something a little more intimate happening If the heated looks Jack sends Francesca's way are any indicator that second group might be closer to the truth
