Women in War Celia Lee, Paul Edward Strong, 2012-06-19 The changing role of women in warfare a neglected aspect of military history is the subject of this collection of perceptive thought provoking essays By looking at the wide range of ways in which women have become involved in all the aspects of war the authors open up this fascinating topic to wider understanding and debate The discuss how particularly in the two world wars women have been increasingly mobilized in all the armed services originally as support staff then in defensive combat roles They also consider the tragic story of women as victims of male violence and how women have often put up a heroic resistance and examine how women have been drawn into direct combat roles on an unprecedented level a trend that is still controversial in the present day The collection brings together the work of noted academics and historians with the wartime experiences of women who have remarkable personal stories to tell The book will be a milestone in the study of the recent history of the parts women have played in the history of warfare Authors Dr Juliette Pattinson Professor Mark Connelly Georgina Natzio Christine Halsall Jonathan Walker Major Imogen Corrigan Dr Halik Kochanski Dr T A Heathcote Elspeth Johnstone Mike Ryan Grace Filby Dr George Bailey Tatiana Roshupkina Leicester Chilton Paul Edward Strong Celia Lee John Lee

The Ring of Truth Wendy Doniger, 2017-04-03 Why are sex and jewelry particularly rings so often connected Why do rings continually appear in stories about marriage and adultery love and betrayal loss and recovery identity and masquerade What is the mythology that makes finger rings symbols of true or as the case may be untrue love The cross cultural distribution of the mythology of sexual rings is impressive from ancient India and Greece through the Arab world to Shakespeare Marie Antoinette Wagner nineteenth century novels Hollywood and the De Beers advertising campaign that gave us the expression A Diamond is Forever Each chapter of The Ring of Truth like a charm on a charm bracelet considers a different constellation of stories stories about rings lost and found in fish forgetful husbands and clever wives treacherous royal necklaces fake jewelry and real women modern women s revolt against the hegemony of jewelry and the clash between common sense and conventional narratives about rings Herein lie signet rings

betrothal rings and magic rings of invisibility or memory The stories are linked by a common set of meanings such as love symbolized by the circular and unbroken shape of the ring infinite constant eternal a meaning that the stories often prove tragically false While most of the rings in the stories originally belonged to men or were given to women by men Wendy Doniger shows that it is the women who are important in these stories as they are the ones who put the jewelry to work in the plots

We Can Take It! Mark Connelly, 2014-07-10 We Can Take It shows that the British remember the war in a peculiar way thanks to a mix of particular images and evidence Our memory has been shaped by material which is completely removed from historical reality These images including complete inventions have combined to make a new history The vision is mostly cosy and suits the way in which the Britons conceive of themselves dogged good humoured occasionally bumbling unified and enjoying diversity In fact Britons load their memory towards the early part of the war Dunkirk Blitz Battle of Britain rather than when we were successful in the air or against Italy and Germany with invasions This suits our love of being the underdog fighting against the odds and being in a crisis Conversely the periods of the war during which Britain was in the ascendant are perversely far more hazy in the public memory

Summer Hugh Leonard, 1979

Not All Were Heroes: A Private in the Corps of Engineers in the Pacific During World War II Herbert L. Martin, 2007 The daily life of a soldier in World War II in journal entries with drawings by the author

The Woman's Film of the 1940s Alison L. McKee, 2014-04-03 This book explores the relationship among gender desire and narrative in 1940s woman s films which negotiate the terrain between public history and private experience The woman s film and other form of cinematic melodrama have often been understood as positioning themselves outside history and this book challenges and modifies that understanding contextualizing the films it considers against the backdrop of World War II

In addition in paying tribute to and departing from earlier feminist formulations about gendered spectatorship in cinema McKee argues that such models emphasized a masculine centered gaze at the inadvertent expense of understanding other possible modes of identification and gender expression in classical narrative cinema She proposes ways of understanding gender and narrative based in part on literary narrative theory and ultimately works toward a notion of an androgynous spectatorship and mode of interpretation in the 1940s woman s film ,
