Rapprochement Or Rivalry:

Rivalry and Alliance Politics in Cold War Latin America Christopher Darnton, 2014-06-30 The success or failure of foreign policy initiatives in Latin America is heavily influenced by bureaucratic and military background players Rivalry and Alliance Politics in Cold War Latin America Christopher Darnton's comparative study of the nature of conflict between Latin American states during the Cold War provides a counterintuitive and shrewd explanation of why diplomacy does or doesn't work Specifically he develops a theory that shows how the parochial interests of state bureaucracies can overwhelm national leaders foreign policy initiatives and complicate regional alliances His thorough evaluation of several twentieth century Latin American conflicts covers the gamut of diplomatic disputes from border clashes to economic provocations to regional power struggles Darnton examines the domestic political and economic conditions that contribute either to rivalry continued conflict or rapprochement diplomatic reconciliation while assessing the impact of U S foreign policy Detailed case studies provide not only a robust test of the theory but also a fascinating tour of Latin American history and Cold War politics including a multilayered examination of Argentine Brazilian strategic competition and presidential summits over four decades three rivalries in Central America following Cuba's 1959 revolution and how the 1980s debt crisis entangled the diplomatic affairs of several Andean countries These questions about international rivalry and rapprochement are of particular interest to security studies and international relations scholars as they seek to understand what defuses regional conflicts creates stronger incentives for improving diplomatic ties between states and builds effective alliances The analysis also bears fruit for contemporary studies of counterterrorism in its critique of parallels between the Cold War and the Global War on Terror its examination of failed rapprochement efforts between Algeria and Morocco and its assessment of obstacles to U S coalition building efforts

Pakistan rivalry Russia's Road to Corruption United States. Congress. House. Speaker's Advisory Group on Russia, 2000 How Rivalries End Karen Rasler, William R. Thompson, Sumit Ganguly, 2013-03-15 Rivalry between nations has a long and sometimes bloody history Not all political opposition culminates in war the rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union is one example but in most cases competition between nations and peoples for resources and strategic advantage does lead to violence nearly 80 percent of the wars fought since 1816 were sparked by contention between rival nations Long term discord is a global concern since competing states may drag allies into their conflict or threaten to use weapons of mass destruction How Rivalries End is a study of how such rivalries take root and flourish and particularly how some dissipate over time without recourse to war Political scientists Karen Rasler William R Thompson and Sumit Ganguly examine ten political hot spots stretching from Egypt and Israel to the two Koreas where crises and military confrontations have occurred over the last seven decades Through exacting analysis of thirty two attempts to deescalate strategic rivalries they reveal a pattern in successful conflict resolutions shocks that overcome foreign policy inertia changes in perceptions of the adversary's competitiveness or threat positive responses to conciliatory signals and continuing effort to avoid conflict after hostilities cease How Rivalries End significantly contributes to our understanding why protracted conflicts sometimes deescalate and even terminate without resort to war Collateral Damage Nicholas Khoo, 2011-02-21 Although the Chinese and the Vietnamese were Cold War allies in wars against the French and the Americans their alliance collapsed and they ultimately fought a war against each other in 1979 More than thirty years later the fundamental cause of the alliance's termination remains contested among historians international relations theorists and Asian studies specialists Nicholas Khoo brings fresh perspective to this debate Using Chinese language materials released since the end of the Cold War Khoo revises existing explanations for the termination of China's alliance with Vietnam arguing that Vietnamese cooperation with China's Cold War adversary the Soviet Union was the necessary and sufficient cause for the alliance's termination He finds alternative explanations to be less persuasive These emphasize nonmaterial causes such as ideology and culture or reference issues within the Sino Vietnamese relationship such as land and border disputes Vietnam's treatment of its ethnic Chinese minority and Vietnam's attempt to establish a sphere of influence over Cambodia and Laos Khoo also adds to the debate over the relevance of realist theory in interpreting China's international behavior during both the Cold War and post Cold War eras While others see China as a social state driven by nonmaterial processes Khoo makes the case for viewing China as a quintessential neorealist state From this perspective the focus of neorealist theory on security threats from materially stronger powers explains China's foreign policy not only toward the Soviet Union but also in relation to its Vietnamese allies

Theorizing Indian Foreign Policy Mischa Hansel,Raphaëlle Khan,Mélissa Levallant,2017-04-21 Examined from a non Western lens the standard International Relations IR and Foreign Policy Analysis FPA approaches are ill adapted because of some Eurocentric and conceptual biases These biases partly stem from first the dearth of analyses focusing on non Western cases second the primacy of Western born concepts and method in the two disciplines That is what this book seeks to redress Theorizing Indian Foreign Policy draws together the study of contemporary Indian foreign policy and the methods and theories used by FPA and IR while simultaneously contributing to a growing reflection on how to theorise a non Western case Its chapters offer a refreshing perspective by combining different sets of theories empirical analyses historical perspectives and insights from area studies Empirically chapters deal with different issues as well as varied bilateral relations and institutional settings Conceptually however they ask similar questions about what is unique about Indian foreign policy and how to study it The chapters also compel us to reconsider the meaning and boundary conditions of concepts e g coalition government strategic culture and sovereignty in a non Western context This book will appeal to both specialists and students of Indian foreign policy and International Relations Theory Reconsidering the East Asian Peace William R.

Thompson,Thomas J. Volgy,2024-08-01 This volume re examines the notion of the East Asian peace arguing that it requires updating for the current and near future context of US Chinese rivalry The East Asian peace refers to the remarkable change in conflict levels in eastern Eurasia over the past 80 years or even the past 130 years or so Prior to the late 1970s East Asia was regarded as the most conflictual region on the planet Although insurgencies have continued in places such as Myanmar Thailand and the Philippines after the 1980s East and Southeast Asia became one of the world s least conflictual regions

Geopolitics and economic development worked hand in hand to reduce conflict in the region and in this respect the East Asian peace has been a confluence of peace. The general problem with a confluence of peace is that the factors that shape it evolve over time and the specific circumstances in question seem to be evolving in a different direction with East Asia shaping up to be the most central locale of the contest between US and Chinese hegemony both regionally and perhaps globally. This book argues that the idea of the East Asian peace now requires adjustment to the current and near future context. The more general arguments presented here focus on alternative interpretations of how regional peace and order should be interpreted while the more specific arguments involve interpretations of Chinese and other countries' behavior in the context of the heightened rivalry between China and the United States. This book will be of much interest to students of East Asian politics, peace studies, foreign policy and international relations.

Transition to Global Rivalry John Albert White, 2002-06-27 During the years before the First World War the realignment of world powers resulted in agreements concluded in 1904 and 1907 between Britain, France, Russia and Japan. John Albert White terms this a Quadruple Entente, a more accurate and complete description than the more commonly used Triple Entente which omits Japan. His more inclusive view leaves undisturbed the conception of Europe as the centre of political gravity but at the same time calls proper attention to the enhanced role which Japan had won through her victories in the Sino-Japanese and Russo-Japanese wars and by her careful management of her entry into the larger family of nations. This wider perspective on the crucial pre-war years shows how in its political context as well as its geographical terrain and its general impact the First World War was a world war in every sense.

The Broken Olive Branch: Nationalism, Ethnic Conflict, and the Quest for Peace in Cyprus Harry Anastasiou, 2009-01-19 In the second volume Anastasiou focuses on emergent post-nationalist trends, their implications for peace and recent attempts to reach mutually acceptable agreements between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. He documents the transformation of Greece, Cyprus and Turkey within the context of Europeanization and globalization. While leaders of both communities have failed to resolve the conflict, Anastasiou argues that the accession of Cyprus into the European Union has created a structure and process that promises a multiethnic democratic Cyprus. With great depth and balance, The Broken Olive Branch presents a fresh analysis of the Cyprus conflict and new insights on the influence of nationalism.
