legitimation of human rights and their guarantee by the state while at the same time rehabilitating the classical theory of political justice represented by Plato and Aristotle. He questions the success of the positivists in avoiding extra legal normative claims and casts doubt on the plausibility of their criticism of the Natural Law tradition. Most anarchists, he argues, rely on an uncritical assumption that social institutions other than states and legal orders do not coerce. In Hffe's view, some coercion is unavoidable and the grounds for its justification must be examined. Principles of justice will be those principles which define fundamental rights and which must be enforced if rights are to be respected.

Detecting Canada Jeannette Sloniowski, Marilyn Rose, 2014-03-25. The first serious book length study of crime writing in Canada. Detecting Canada contains thirteen essays on many of Canada's most popular crime writers including Peter Robinson, Giles Blunt, Gail Bowen, Thomas King, Michael Slade, Margaret Atwood, and Anthony Bidulka. Genres examined range from the well loved police procedural and the amateur sleuth to those less well known such as anti detection and contemporary noir novels. The book looks critically at the esteemed sixties television show Wojeck as well as the more recent series Da Vinci's Inquest, Da Vinci's City Hall, and Intelligence, and the controversial Durham County, a critically acclaimed but violent television series that ran successfully in both Canada and the United States. The essays in Detecting Canada look at texts from a variety of perspectives including postcolonial studies, gender and queer studies, feminist studies, Indigenous studies, and critical race and class studies. Crime fiction, enjoyed by so many around the world, speaks to all of us about justice, citizenship, and important social issues in an uncertain world.
