dominated environments and those especially of long duration and high intensity can be highly damaging and leave long lasting effects This book describes the climatic conditions that give rise to droughts and their various forms and chief attributes Past droughts are described including those that had severe impacts on human societies As a disturbance droughts can be thought of as ramps in that they usually build slowly and take time to become evident As precipitation is reduced flows from catchments into aquatic systems decline As water declines in water bodies ecological processes are changed and the biota can be drastically reduced though species and populations may survive by using refuges Recovery from drought varies in both rates and in degrees of completeness and may be a function of both refuge availability and connectivity For the first time this book reviews the available rather scattered literature on the impacts of drought on the flora fauna and ecological processes of aquatic ecosystems ranging from small ponds to lakes and from streams to estuaries The effects of drought on the biota of standing waters and flowing waters and of temporary waters and perennial systems are described and compared In addition the ways in which human activity can exacerbate droughts are outlined In many parts of the world especially in the mid latitudes global warming may result in increases in the duration and intensity of droughts Drought and Aquatic Ecosystems is essential reading for freshwater ecologists water resource managers and advanced students

Nature's Kindred Spirits James I. McClintock, 1994-04-01 In Nature's Kindred Spirits James McClintock shows how their mystical experiences with the wild led to dramatic conversions in their thinking and behavior By embracing the ecstasy of nature they reject modern alienation and spiritual confusion From Aldo Leopold America's most important conservationist and author of the classic A Sand County Almanac to Pulitzer Prize winners Annie Dillard and Gary Snyder and defenders of the desert Joseph Wood Krutch and Edward Abbey these writers share a common vision that harkens back to Henry David Thoreau and John Muir To nineteenth century Romantic ideals they add the authority of modern ecological science Collectively they have elevated nature's importance in American culture shaping the growth of the environmental movement and influencing American environmental policies Widely admired among educated readers but relatively neglected by the literary establishment these writers unite the experiential with the metaphysical the ordinary with the sacred the personal with the public and the natural with the social Using ecology as a touchstone McClintock further draws connections among science politics religion and philosophy to create an enlightening overview of the work of these kindred spirits The Land's Wild Music Mark Tredinnick, 2011-04-14 The Land's Wild Music explores the home terrains and the writing of four great American writers of place Barry Lopez Peter Matthiessen Terry Tempest Williams and James Galvin In their work and its relationship with their home places Tredinnick an Australian writer searches for answers to such questions such as whether it's possible for a writer to make an authentic witness of a place how one captures the landscape as it truly is and how one joins the place in witness so that its lyric becomes one's own and enters into one's own work He asks what it might mean to enact an ecological imagination of the world and whether it might be possible to see the work and the writer as part of the place itself The work is a meditation on the nature of landscape and its power to shape the lives and syntax of men and women It is animated by the author s encounters with Lopez Matthiessen Williams and Galvin by critical readings of their work and by the author s engagement with the landscapes that have shaped these writers and their writing the Cascades Long Island the Colorado Plateau and the high prairies of the Rocky Mountains Tredinnick seeks the spring of nature writing deep in the nature of a place itself carried in a writer s wild self inside and resonated over and over again at the desk until it is a work in which the place itself sings
