Sue Taft is a paddler as anyone who knows her from Geneva, Ohio, to Columbia, Maryland, and on rivers from the Yough in the East to the Missinaibi in Canada to the Middle Fork of the Salmon in the West can tell you. Introduced to paddling at eight years old, Sue has remained enamored with boats, paddles, and whitewater throughout her life. By her early twenties, Sue was an active member of Cleveland's Keel-Haulers Club and an avid whitewater veteran. Her interest in the sport has driven an infatuation and a passion for exploring and tracking the history of whitewater, culminating in the publication of The River Chasers. Although professionally a chemist, a scientist, an IT consultant, and a writer, Sue's real life is lived on water, in a boat, with a Backlund paddle in hand.

Revolutionizing Innovation Dietmar Harhoff, Karim R. Lakhani, 2016-03-04 A comprehensive and multidisciplinary view of the emerging paradigm of user and open innovation offering both theoretical and empirical perspectives The last two decades have witnessed an extraordinary growth of new models of managing and organizing the innovation process that emphasizes users over producers Large parts of the knowledge economy now routinely rely on users communities and open innovation approaches to solve important technological and organizational problems This view of innovation pioneered by the economist Eric von Hippel counters the dominant paradigm which cast the profit seeking incentives of firms as the main driver of technical change In a series of influential writings von Hippel and colleagues found empirical evidence that flatly contradicted the producer centered model of innovation Since then the study of user driven innovation has continued and expanded with further empirical exploration of a distributed model of innovation that includes communities and platforms in a variety of contexts and with the development of theory to explain the economic underpinnings of this still emerging paradigm This volume provides a comprehensive and multidisciplinary view of the field of user and open innovation reflecting advances in the field over the last several decades The contributors including many colleagues of Eric von Hippel offer both theoretical and empirical perspectives from such diverse fields as economics the history of science and technology law management and policy The empirical contexts for their studies range from household goods to financial services After discussing the fundamentals of user innovation the contributors cover communities and innovation legal aspects of user and

Romancing the Wild Robert Fletcher,2014-02-24 The worldwide development of ecotourism including adventures such as mountain climbing and whitewater rafting as well as more pedestrian pursuits such as birdwatching has been extensively studied but until now little attention has been paid to why vacationers choose to take part in what are often physically and emotionally strenuous endeavors Drawing on ethnographic research and his own experiences working as an ecotour guide throughout the United States and Latin America Robert Fletcher argues that participation in rigorous outdoor activities resonates with the particular cultural values of the white upper middle class Westerners who are the majority of ecotourists Navigating 13 000 foot mountain peaks or treacherous river rapids demands deferral of gratification perseverance through suffering and a willingness to assume risks in pursuit of continuous progress In this way characteristics originally cultivated for professional success have been transferred to the leisure realm at a moment when traditional avenues for achievement in the public sphere seem largely exhausted At the same time ecotourism provides a temporary escape from the ostensible ills of modern society by offering a transcendent wilderness experience that contrasts with the indoor sedentary mental labor characteristically performed by white collar workers
