Seasons of Change Matthew Morrill, 2001-04-29 Growing up in the 1960s and 70s then maturing to adulthood and entering the workforce in the 80s has created almost a schizophrenic identity for Bryce F Derneher Derneher faces life with a multitude of conflicts between family career love interests friends and life goals Today's world doesn't respect quality or values instead speed to market and efficiencies in workflows are the corporate ideals In Bryce's heart he knows that the deep rooted good values from yesteryear are hidden within most people People are just afraid today to show them At least he has to believe in his heart that people are just afraid to show their values Surely people aren't as bad as their daily actions in life From the 2001 perspective values demonstrate weakness in the marketplace Values make the worker a liability and less important to a corporation than the dollar in the coffer at the end of the day The dollar is number one People are number two Values are bad business Profit margins are the only concern The most curious aspect of life today is what happens when values meet the technologically cold world of the 21st century Can the person true to his values survive
