Environmental Movements and Waste Infrastructure sheds new light on the structures of political opportunity that confront environmental movements that challenge the state or corporate sector A series of case studies on collective action campaigns from the EU US and Asia is elaborated in order to illuminate the similarities and differences between anti incinerator protests within different states Several contributions share a concern about cross border or transnational waste flows Each case study looks beyond its initial local frame of reference and goes on to interrogate assumptions about NIMBYism or localism demonstrating the wider linkages and networks established by both grassroots campaigns and state and multinational agencies This book was previously published as a special issue of Environmental Politics
