My Song: Memoir of an ER Physician Craig Dean, MD, 2014-05-12 Thirty years in the making one hundred thousand patients later the hundred numinous patients I will forever treasure It has been said that memoirs are the narratives of our life and as such become the manner and method of how we make sense out of our life's journey Indeed I could not imagine my life without my career in the ER since without it I would truly feel like a naked wizened skeleton devoid of skin flesh or viscera The ER experience was the alchemist's stone that touched my ordinary life and in so many ways made it exquisitely gilded Many were the patients that stirred the invisible fabric of my soul and made the ordinary universe seem so much more expansive and unequalled The magnificence of the ER flows from the commanding variety of patients not unlike the arresting diversity of flora in the plant kingdom renders a regal awe upon the eyes and souls of the beholder

Reader We humans have come to a crossroads in our history we can either destroy the world or create a good future The Shambhala Principle offers the principle of basic goodness as a way of addressing the personal and social challenges that we face Do we as humans have confidence in the basic goodness of humanity as well as of society itself As a Tibetan lama and spiritual leader this strikes me as our most compelling global issue The book revolves around a dialogue with my father the legendary Ch gyam Trungpa Whether his responses were direct or mystical he continuously returned to the topics of basic goodness and enlightened society Not only did he show me how I could become confident in their existence through awareness and meditation he also taught me how basic goodness is a socially viable standard that could stabilize and transform our world However this book is not a memoir or even a message It is an invitation to readers to reflect on their own basic goodness and the basic goodness of society and then contemplate the question Can we rouse our energy and confidence to create a good world that is founded on this principle I encourage you to join me in this contemplation Sakyong Mipham
