Reading the World's Stories Annette Y. Goldsmith, Theo Heras, Susan Corapi, 2016-08-11 Reading the World's Stories is volume 5 in the Bridges to Understanding series of annotated international youth literature bibliographies sponsored by the United States Board on Books for Young People USBBY is the United States chapter of the International Board on Books for Young People IBBY a Switzerland based nonprofit whose mission is bring books and children together

The series promotes sharing international children's books as a way to facilitate intercultural understanding and meet new literary voices. This volume follows Children's Books from Other Countries 1998, The World through Children's Books 2002, Crossing Boundaries with Children's Books 2006, and Bridges to Understanding: Envisioning the World through Children's Books 2011, and acts as a companion book to the earlier titles. Centered around the theme of the importance of stories, the guide is a resource for discovering more recent global books that fit many reading tastes and educational needs for readers aged 0-18 years. Essays by storyteller Anne Pellowski, author Beverley Naidoo, and academic Marianne Martens offer a variety of perspectives on international youth literature. This latest installment in the series covers books published from 2010-2014 and includes English language imports as well as translations of children's and young adult literature first published outside of the United States. These books are supplemented by a smaller number of culturally appropriate books from the US to help fill in gaps from underrepresented countries. The organization of the guide is geographic by region and country. All of the more than 800 entries are recommended, and many of the books have won awards or achieved other recognition in their home countries. Forty children's book experts wrote the annotations. The entries are indexed by author, translator, illustrator, title, and subject. Back matter also includes international book awards, important organizations, and research collections, and a selected directory of publishers known for publishing books from other countries.

How To Write A Horror Movie Neal Bell, 2020-03-20. How to Write a Horror Movie is a close look at an always popular but often disrespected genre. It focuses on the screenplay and acts as a guide to bringing scary ideas to cinematic life using examples from great and some not so great horror movies. Author Neal Bell examines how the basic tools of the scriptwriter's trade, including structure, dialogue, humor, mood, characters, and pace, can work together to embody personal fears that will resonate strongly on screen. Screenplay examples include classic works such as 1943's I Walked With A Zombie and recent terrifying films that have given the genre renewed attention, like writer-director Jordan Peele's critically acclaimed and financially successful Get Out. Since fear is universal, the book considers films from around the world, including the found footage REC from Spain (2007), the Swedish vampire movie Let The Right One In (2008), and the Persian language film Under The Shadow (2016). The book provides insights into the economics of horror movie making and the possible future of this versatile genre. It is the ideal text for screenwriting students exploring genre and horror, and aspiring scriptwriters who have an interest in horror screenplays.

The Morals of Monster Stories Leslie Ormandy, 2017-08-14. The simplicity of children's picture book stories, told with illustrations and a few well-chosen words or none at all, makes them powerful tools for teaching morals and personal integrity. Children follow the story and see the characters' behaviors on the page and interpret them in the context of their own lives. But unlike many picture books, most children's lives don't feature monsters. This collection of new essays explores the societally sanctioned behaviors imparted to children through the use of monsters and supernatural characters. Topics include monsters as instructors, the normalization of strangers, or the other, fostering gender norms, and therapeutic monsters among others. A

Women, Monstrosity and Horror Film Erin Harrington, 2017-08-10 Women occupy a privileged place in horror film. Horror is a space of entertainment and excitement of terror and dread and one that relishes the complexities that arise when boundaries of taste of bodies of reason are blurred and dismantled. It is also a site of expression and exploration that leverages the narrative and aesthetic horrors of the reproductive, the maternal and the sexual to expose the underpinnings of the social, political and philosophical othering of women. This book offers an in-depth analysis of women in horror films through an exploration of gynae-horror films concerned with all aspects of female reproductive horror from reproductive and sexual organs to virginity, pregnancy, birth, motherhood and finally to menopause. Some of the themes explored include the intersection of horror, monstrosity and sexual difference; the relationships between normative female heterosexuality and the twin figures of the chaste virgin and the voracious vagina dentata; embodiment and subjectivity in horror films about pregnancy and abortion; reproductive technologies; monstrosity and mad science; the discursive construction and interrogation of monstrous motherhood and the relationships between menopause, menstruation, hagsploitation and abject, barren bodies in horror. The book not only offers a feminist interrogation of gynae-horror but also a counter-reading of the gynae-horrific that both accounts for and opens up new spaces of productive, radical and subversive monstrosity within a mode of representation and expression that has often been accused of being misogynistic. It therefore makes a unique contribution to the study of women in horror film specifically while also providing new insights in the broader area of popular culture, gender and film philosophy.
