

The Raven

Deep into that darkness peering, Long I stood there, wondering, fearing,
Doubting, dreaming dreams no mortals Ever dared to dream before;
But the silence was unbroken,
And the stillness gave no token,
And the only word there spoken
Was the whispered word, "Lenore!"
This I whispered, and an echo Murmured back the word, "Lenore!"
Merely this, and nothing more.

Love Song For A Raven:

Lovesong for a Raven Elizabeth Lowell, 2002 The Tlingit Indians George Thornton Emmons, Frederica De Laguna, 1991 This comprehensive study of the Tlingit Indians of southern Alaska and the coast of British Columbia is an edited version of manuscripts by the ethnographer G T Emmons compiled in the 1880s and 1890s Extensive bibliography and illustrations The Raven's Lament Evangeline Thornfield, The carriage wheels clattered against the cobblestones with a rhythm that matched the frantic beating of Eleanor Blackwood's heart Through the rain streaked window she caught her first glimpse of Ravenshollow Manor a towering edifice of black stone that seemed to claw at the storm darkened sky Lightning illuminated its Gothic spires and gargoyle adorned corners casting dancing shadows that made the ancient structure appear alive with malevolent intent Eleanor pulled her woolen cloak tighter around her shoulders as the carriage lurched to a halt before the manor's imposing oak doors The driver a grizzled man who had spoken little during their journey from the village refused to meet her eyes as he handed down her modest trunk Are you certain you won't stay the night at the inn miss he asked his voice barely audible above the howling wind These old places they're not meant for the living after dark Eleanor squared her shoulders drawing upon the resolve that had carried her through years of governess positions in households where she was neither family nor servant but something uncomfortably between Thank you for your concern but I am expected The advertisement was quite specific about my arrival date The driver shook his head and climbed back onto his perch without another word Eleanor watched as the carriage disappeared into the mist shrouded moor its lanterns swallowed by the darkness until she stood alone before the manor's threshold The brass knocker was fashioned in the shape of a raven's head its obsidian eyes seeming to follow her movements as she lifted it and let it fall against the door The sound echoed through the night like a death knell and Eleanor found herself counting the seconds until footsteps approached from within

Lovesong Geraldine McCaughrean, 2019-01-01 In Lovesong three time Whitbread Prize winner Geraldine McCaughrean has written what Philippa Gregory called Probably the best historical novel I have ever read At the centre of the story is a talented troubadour Peter Oriole and his daughter Princess Ouallada The opening sections of the book trace Oriole's journey from France to the Holy Land in the service of two very different crusader Knights one a saintly aesthete the other a cynical opportunist The twelfth century was a time when men and women were inventing or perhaps reinventing the nature of love itself and it was the troubadour's task to express that love in song their fate either glory or scandalous ruin What does love mean to Oriole As he discovers both romance and passion in his own life we are introduced to an extraordinary cast of characters rogues mountebanks villains heroes damsels both in and out of distress soldiers and holy men all working out their own destiny each compellingly and convincingly drawn This is the story of one man's wreck on the sea of passion and his daughter's stormy voyage in his wake With strikingly detailed imagery and characterisation that is totally convincing and compassionate Geraldine McCaughrean has written a novel of ideas which is also storytelling at full
