Strand,2015-10-06 Back in print in this deluxe edition the former Poet Laureate of the United States and Pulitzer Prize winning poet s only collection of short fiction now part of the Ecco Art of the Story series Imagine a writer who combines Woody Allen s sense of exaggeration his ability to extrapolate situations to their funniest extremes with the perspective and self consciously elegant language of John Updike That s right you d have a creature who is never very likely to walk the face of the earth But Strand the prize winning Canadian born poet and professor of English at the University of Utah comes close to that model The stories in this first collection originally printed in Vogue The New Yorker and Michigan Quarterly Review vary widely Yet several of them share a spirit of stubborn determination in the pursuit of idiosyncratic meanings of happiness In one story a U S President noted mainly for reading Chekhov to his Cabinet and creating the National Museum of Weather resigns Another tale is about a man who says he has been married five times and in love six with none of the 11 experiences overlapping Then there s Stanley R the killer poet who murders his parents so he can write a poem about the experience Few writers though can manage to make one of man s favorite pastimes futile longing seem to be so hilarious touching and ultimately admirable as Strand does in very succinct ways People magazine      Short Story Index ,1994      The mystery of Edwin Drood and other stories Charles Dickens,1874      The Best Kidnappers and Other Stories Robinson N.

Designs of Darkness in Contemporary American Fiction Arthur M. Saltzman,2016-11-11 In Designs of Darkness Arthur M Saltzman examines some of the ways in which fiction has traditionally conspired to promote a goal oriented vision of the work of art and explores the ways in which postmodern or postrealist fiction consistently and unavoidably subverts the clarity of this vision Offering readings of works by well known authors including Barthelme Doctorow DeLillo and Hakes as well as works by lesser known writers Auster Gangemi Saltzman concentrates on the breakdown of epiphany in recent fiction both as philosophical motive and as structural foundation In contemporary fiction Saltzman contends ambiguities blossom far beyond our capacities to stabilize summarize or restore them to sense The old rules of the game in which a reader looking for truth can expect come sort of satisfactory resolution no longer apply Literature now comes out of the answerless Designs of Darkness in
