CHAPTER II And now under the Lotus in the Heart glows the lamp of the Soul Protected by the gods who there stand guard it sheds its soft rays in every direction A MIGHTY spirit moves through the pages of the Bhagavad Gita It has the seductive influence of beauty yet like strength it fills one as with the sound of armies assembling or the roar of great waters appealing alike to the warrior and the philosopher it shows to the one the righteousness of lawful action and to the other the calmness which results to him who has reached inaction through action Schlegel after studying the poem pays tribute to it in these words By the Brahmins reverence of masters is considered the most sacred of duties Thee therefore first most holy prophet interpreter of the Deity by whatever name thou wast called among mortals the author of this poem by whose oracles the mind is rapt with ineffable delight to doctrines lofty eternal and divine thee first I say I hail and shall always worship at thy feet The second chapter begins to teach philosophy but in such a way that Arjuna is led on gradually step by step to the end of the dialogue and yet the very first instructions from Krishna are so couched that the end and purpose of the scheme are seen at the beginning Although philosophy seems dry to most people and especially to minds in the Western world who are surrounded by the rush of their new and quite undeveloped civilization yet it must be taught and understood It has become the fashion to some extent even in the Theosophical Society to scout careful study or practice and go in for the rapid methods inaugurated in America In many places emotional goodness is declared to exceed in value the calmness that results from

Judge, Robert Crosbie, Raghavan Iyer, H. P. Blavatsky, 2017-03-10 Lord Krishna strings the sacred teachings of the Bhagavad Gita on the golden thread of mental posture the relation between the spiritual seeker and Divine Wisdom embodied as the Light of the Logos in lustrous beings Mental posture refers primarily to an attitude of mind and constitutes the sacred trust between chela and guru Those who wish to become sincere and true servants of all humanity with its immense suffering and of the Great Masters of Wisdom with their inexhaustible light must prepare themselves by a process of purgation whereby they negate the false conceptions of themselves derived from the world into which they are born through their heredity upbringing environment and education This is done by a method of intense self questioning Upanishadic Platonic thought is essentially a dialogue with oneself When people really begin to ask questions of themselves and also attempt to apply the principles evolved in formulating questions in a multiplicity of contexts then they gradually begin to glimpse the dynamic albeit mysterious relation between the manifest and the unmanifest The constant underlying theme of all these essays is the crucial need for unconditional devotion to Universal Good as a prerequisite for traveling on the spiritual Path There is simply nothing else that can serve as a substitute for the highest of noble motives for living the spiritual life But these writings also bear upon the crucial and thorny problem of translating theoria into praxis and they shed a pristine light upon the obstacles and difficulties encountered by every aspirant who self consciously chooses to tread the Path of Renunciation Notes on the Bhagavad Gita Tiruvalum Subba Row,1934 Bhagavad Gita Jeaneane Fowler,Merv Fowler,2011-11-23 Provides a text and detailed commentary on the Bhagavad Gita an important Hindu scripture which is a dialogue between Arjuna the man and Krishna the God This book examines major Hindu concepts and presents the background to the Gita It also contains detailed notes to the Gita chapters Notes on the Bhagavad-Gita T.
