

CELL STRUCTURE

03/04/22

Organisms are made up of cells.
Most organisms are multicellular and have cells that are specialised to do a particular job. Microscopes are needed to study cells in detail.

Light microscope

Cells range in size:

- animal cells are between 0.01mm - 0.05mm
- plant cells are between 0.01mm - 0.10mm

The human eye can see objects as small as around 0.05mm. A microscope is required to see cells in any detail.

CALCULATING MAGNIFICATION OF AN IMAGE =

microscopes use lenses to magnify the image of a biological specimen.

CELL SIZE

the best unit to measure most cells is the micrometer μm .

for some sub cellular structures, for instance ribosomes, or organisms such as viruses, it's best to use a smaller unit - the nanometer.

one meter can be broken down into the following measurements.

electron microscope

Standard form:

when writing and working with very large numbers, we use standard form. Standard form numbers are written as:

$$- A \times 10^n$$

↳ A is the number: greater than one, but less than 10.

↳ n is the index or power, always in powers of 10.

$$(10^{-3}, 10^{-4}, 10^{-15}, 10^3, 10^{15}, 10^{125})$$

	mm	μm	nm
division of a meter as a fraction	$\frac{1}{1000}$ meter	$\frac{1}{1000000}$ meter	$\frac{1}{1000000000}$ meter
division of a meter in S.F.	$1 \times 10^{-3} \text{ m}$	$1 \times 10^{-6} \text{ m}$	$1 \times 10^{-9} \text{ m}$

Technical Note ,1917 The Runes of Evolution Simon Conway Morris,2015-06-30 How did human beings acquire imaginings that can conjure up untrue possibilities How did the Universe become self aware In The Runes of Evolution Simon Conway Morris revitalizes the study of evolution from the perspective of convergence providing us with compelling new evidence to support the mounting scientific view that the history of life is far more predictable than once thought. A leading evolutionary biologist at the University of Cambridge, Conway Morris, came into international prominence for his work on the Cambrian explosion, especially fossils of the Burgess Shale, and evolutionary convergence, which is the process whereby organisms not closely related, not monophyletic, independently evolve similar traits as a result of having to adapt to similar environments or ecological niches. In The Runes of Evolution, he illustrates how the ubiquity of convergence hints at an underlying framework whereby many outcomes, not least brains and intelligence, are virtually guaranteed on any Earth-like planet. Conway Morris also emphasizes how much of the complexity of advanced biological systems is inherent in microbial forms. By casting a wider net, The Runes of Evolution explores many neglected evolutionary questions. Some are remarkably general. Why, for example, are convergences such as parasitism, carnivory, and nitrogen fixation in plants concentrated in particular taxonomic hot spots? Why do certain groups have a particular propensity to evolve toward particular states? Some questions lead to unexpected evolutionary insights. If bees sleep as they do, do they dream? Why is that insect copulating with an orchid? Why have sponges evolved a system of fiber optics? What do mantis shrimps and submarines have in common? If dinosaurs had not gone extinct, what would have happened next? Will a saber-toothed cat ever re-evolve? Conway Morris observes. Even amongst the mammals, let alone the entire tree of life, humans represent one minute twig of a vast and largely fossilized arborescence. Every living species is a linear descendant of an immense string of now vanished ancestors, but evolution itself is the very reverse of linear. Rather, it is endlessly exploratory, probing the vast spaces of biological hyperspace. Indeed, this book is a celebration of how our world is and was populated by a riot of forms, a coruscating tapestry of life. The Runes of Evolution is the most definitive synthesis of evolutionary convergence to be published to date.
