Illustrated* Nellie Bly,2021-04-14 Nellie Bly born Elizabeth Jane Cochran was an American journalist writer and entrepreneur She made a name for herself and pioneered the field of investigative journalism by writing an undercover expose on a woman's lunatic asylum. Her colorful and hands-on reporting style earned her the nickname of girl stunt reporter. In 1889 she pitched the idea of a trip around the world to her editor. In the spirit of Jules Verne's character Phileas Fogg, Bly proposed she could circle the globe in less than 80 days. On November 14, 1889, Nellie achieved her goal, having circled the globe in exactly 72 days, 6 hours, and 10 minutes. During her trip, Bly visited England and France where she met with Jules Verne as well as Italy, the Suez Canal, Ceylon, Singapore, Hong Kong, and Japan.

Women in Journalism - The Best of Nellie Bly Nellie Bly, 2021-05-06. First published between 1887 and 1890. Women in Journalism: The Best of Nellie Bly is an insightful volume containing all of Elizabeth Cochrane Seaman's best journalistic works, including the famous exposés Ten Days in a Mad House, Women in Journalism (which includes the most shocking and captivating reports that Elizabeth Cochrane Seaman wrote during her journalistic career), The pioneering columnist (which inspired a new era of journalism), girl stunt reporting, and many female journalists began to put themselves in the midst of the action, narrating their experiences in popular novel-like reports. The Nellie Bly Collection Volume IV Tri Fritz, 2024-11-10. At the beginning of 1889 Nellie Bly was on a roll in New York City. The fervor from her bombshell asylum expos the previous year had not abated. Readers were clamoring for more from the upstart and incendiary journalist and she would deliver. By 1890 Nellie would become a worldwide sensation. Notable in COLLECTION VOL IV is Nellie's continued advocacy for women. She highlights advancement in educational opportunities with articles on women attending college and medical school as well as profiling the wives of cabinet secretaries along with the first interview with future female icon Helen Keller. However overshadowing all of this was a second signature story for Nellie Bly: her trip around the world. The journey she took to beat the fictional record set in Jules Verne's novel Around the World in 80 Days would bring her acclaim in cities across the globe, serving as a benchmark moment in the journey of equality for women. Finally COLLECTION VOL IV concludes with an early serialized version of Nellie's novel The Mystery of Central Park. Spreading her wings, Nellie Bly would fly in the face of sexist culture while flying around the world as a beacon of hope and empowerment.

19th Century Female Explorers Caroline Roope, 2025-08-05. As any historian will testify, a nineteenth century woman's place was very much at home. Or was it? For a lucky and plucky few who had a little determination and the ability to withstand lice infestations, climbing mountains in corsets, rascally guides, and occasional certain death as well as the raised eyebrows of the society they left behind, then the world really was their oyster. In this lively re-telling of twenty-two extraordinary ladies who did just that, Caroline Roope invites you to journey to the further corners of the earth along with them. From humble missionary Annie Royle Taylor who knew God would keep her safe to the haughty aristocrat Lady Hester Stanhope who defied convention and dressed as a Turkish man including pistol, knife, and turban, their collective voices still resonate hundreds of years later. Drawing on their original accounts and archival sources, this expertly researched book brings to light a wealth of stories that are full of grit, sometimes literally, courage, and just enough humor to wish we'd been there with them on their adventures on the other side of the horizon. So pack a suitcase along with a good thick skirt à la Mary Kingsley and prepare to go beyond the garden gate.
