Oudar,2012-12-06 The field of nonlinear optics has witnessed a tremendous evolution since its beginnings in the early sixties Its frontiers have been extended in many directions and its techniques have intruded upon many areas of both fundamental and practical interest The field itself has been enriched with many new phenomena and concepts that have further extended its scope and strengthened its connection with other areas As a consequence it is becoming increasingly unrealistic to expect to cover the different facets and trends of this field in the lectures or proceedings of a summer school however advanced these may be However much of the current progress and interest in this field springs to a large extent from the promise and expectation that highly performing all optical devices that exploit and operate on the principles of nonlinear optics will constitute an important branch of future technology and will provide new alternatives in information processing and transmission The conception of new devices in general requires an intricate and bold combination of facts and methods from most diverse fields in order to perform functions and operations that fit into an overall technological ensemble

This volume contains contributions based on the lectures delivered at the Third International Workshop on Nonlinear Dynamics and Quantum Phenomena in Optical Systems which was held in Blanes Girona Spain 13 October 1990 Blanes is a charming small town located on the well known Costa Brava With the convenient facilities of the Centre for Advanced Studies CEAB Blanes followed of the previous meetings of this series which were held at Palma the tradition de Mallorca and Santander We aimed to provide an opportunity for scientists active in the broad field of quantum optics to meet in an informal atmosphere thus promoting the exchange of ideas and allowing a search for interconnections between seemingly unrelated topics and a cross fertilization of the different subfields of quantum optics We encouraged contributions dealing with the newest and most important developments in quantum optics The main topics included instabilities chaos spatiotemporal dynamics and pattern formation in lasers and nonlinear optical devices phase dynamics generation and detection of squeezed and other non classical states of light coherent interaction of light with atomic systems and multiphoton processes and above threshold ionization The meeting brought together a group of 72 optical scientists from Belgium France Germany Israel Italy Spain the United Kingdom USA and USSR In the technical program nine invited papers were included presented by eight distinguished specialists      Nonlinear Optics: Materials and Devices C.
