La novia oscura Laura Restrepo, 2000 This extraordinary novel narrates the story of an obscure and hungry little girl named Sayonara a beautiful prostitute of Tora in the Colombian jungle where the workers go once a month looking for sex

Contemporary Spanish American Novels by Women Susan Carvalho, 2007 A reading of contemporary women's fiction in Spanish America in which space rather than time is seen as the driver of the narrative Space is critical to imaginative writing As English novelist Elizabeth Bowen has observed nothing can happen nowhere This book offers an interdisciplinary framework for reading novels and in particular women's fiction in Spanish America with a focus on geoplots on space rather than time as the narrative engine Following the work of Lefebvre and Friedman the author examines recent works by Spanish America's most visible women novelists Angeles Mastretta Mexico Isabel Allende Chile Rosario Ferré Puerto Rico Sara Sefchovich Mexico and Laura Restrepo Colombia and the ways in which their female protagonists challenge the spatial barriers erected by capitalist hegemony Margins borders liminal spaces the chora space and the body are emphasized as potential sites of transgression The analysis identifies spatial negotiation as a mechanism both for cementing and for undermining authority thus exposing the strategies through which literature constructs and represents power SUSAN CARVALHO is Associate Professor of Hispanic Studies at the University of Kentucky and Director of the Middlebury College Spanish School

La novia oscura Laura Restrepo, 2009-05-05 Con su característico talento Laura Restrepo construye un brillante relato en el que se combinan sensualmente el realismo y la imaginación la radiografía social y el romance A través de una serie de entrevistas la reportera que narra este relato da vida a un singular grupo de personajes cazadores de fortuna jefes guerrilleros obreros de refinería y prostitutas As intenta descifrar la misteriosa e impulsiva vida de Sayonara el personaje principal de La novia oscura Tal una exótica mariposa enigmática y arrogante Sayonara trabaja bajo las luces de La Catunga el burdel del pueblo Cada mes Sayonara embruja a los trabajadores de la Tropical Oil Company que bajan de las montañas en busca de un poco de dicha terrenal Pero estos no son los únicos en sucumbir a los encantos de Sayonara Su belleza atrae como una llama a una mezcla de personajes que van desde Sacramento su amigo de la infancia decidido a rescatarla del pecado hasta el misterioso Payán's Esta es la historia de Sayonara la novia oscura y revela un universo personal y político que quedar para siempre marcado por su paso

American writers Nancy Huston Linda Le Malika Mokeddem Cristina Peri Rossi Laura Restrepo and Cristina Siscar to identify a new nomadic subjectivity in the lives and works of transnational women today Haunting without Ghosts Juliana Martínez, 2020-12-01 An ambitious critical account of spectral realism a new politically charged strain of literature film and art that responds to Colombia's drug wars paramilitary violence and resulting demands for justice Latin American Women and the Literature of Madness Elvira Sánchez-Blake, Laura Kanost, 2015-05-14 At the turn of the millennium narrative works by Latin American women writers have represented madness within contexts of sociopolitical strife and gender inequality This book explores contemporary Latin American realities through madness narratives by prominent women authors including Cristina Peri Rossi Uruguay Lya Luft Brazil Diamela Eltit Chile Cristina Rivera Garza Mexico Laura Restrepo Colombia and Irene Vilar Puerto Rico Close reading of these works reveals a pattern of literary techniques a poetics of madness employed by the writers to represent conditions that defy language make sociopolitical crises tangible and register cultural perceptions of mental illness through literature A Companion to Latin American Women Writers Brigida M. Pastor, Lloyd Hughes Davies, 2012 This volume offers a critical study of a representative selection of Latin American women writers who have made major contributions to all literary genres and represent a wide range of literary perspectives and styles This volume offers a critical study of a representative selection of Latin American women writers who have made major contributions to all literary genres and represent a wide range of literary perspectives and styles Many of these women have attained the highest literary honours Gabriela Mistral won the Nobel Prize in 1945 Clarice Lispector attracted the critical attention of theorists working mainly outside the Hispanic area others have made such telling contributions to particular strands of literature that their names are immediately evocative of specific currents or styles Elena Poniatowska is associated with testimonial writing Isabel Allende and Laura Esquivel are known for the magical realism of their texts others such as Juana de Ibarbourou and Laura Restrepo remain relatively unknown despite their contributions to erotic poetry and to postcolonial prose fiction respectively The distinctiveness of this volume lies in its attention to writers from widely differing historical and social contexts and to the diverse theoretical approaches adopted by the authors Brigida M Pastor teaches Latin American literature and film at the University of Glasgow Her publications include Fashioning Cuban Feminism and Beyond El discurso de Gertrudis Gómez de Avellaneda Identidad Femenina y Otridad and Discursos Caribenhos Historia Literatura e Cinema Lloyd Hughes Davies teaches Spanish American Literature at Swansea University His publications include Isabel Allende La casa de los espíritus and Projections of Peronism in Argentine Autobiography Biography and Fiction A Companion to Latin American Literature Stephen M. Hart, 2007 The evolution of Latin American literature A Companion to Latin American Literature offers a lively and informative introduction to the most significant literary works produced in Latin America from the fifteenth century until the present day It shows how the press and its product the printed word functioned as the common denominator binding together in different ways over time the complex and variable relationship between the writer the reader and the state The meandering story of the evolution of Latin American literature from the letters of discovery written by Christopher Columbus and Vaz de Caminha via the Republican era at the end of the nineteenth century when writers in Rio de Janeiro as much as in Buenos Aires were beginning to live off their pens as journalists and serial novelists until the 1960s when writers of the quality of Clarice Lispector in Brazil and Garc a M rquez in Colombia suddenly burst onto the world stage is traced chronologically in six chapters which introduce the main writers in the main genres of poetry prose the novel drama and the essay A final chapter evaluates the post boom novel testimonio Latino and Brazyuca literature gay Afro Hispanic and Afro Brazilian literature along with the Novel of the New Millennium This study also offers suggestions for further reading STEPHEN M HART is Professor of Hispanic Studies University College London and Profesor Honorario Universidad de San Marcos Lima Reflecting on Faith Schools Helen Johnson, 2013-09-13 Profound changes in society government policy and the political landscape as well as cataclysmic events such as 9 11 have greatly altered perceptions of faith schools and their existence now causes more controversy than ever Taking a reflective practice approach this study by people working within faith schools and colleges explores the new hot issues surrounding the subject in a sophisticated way Looking at the supposed secularisation of the West the nature of the multi cultural and multi faith society the role of women the spiritual development of children and most of all the form that the tolerance of religious diversity should take in liberal societies this book encourages readers to re examine their assumptions and to consider faith schools as a part of the future of the English schooling system within a multi cultural society This book was previously published as a special issue of The International Journal of Children s Spirituality

Re-Imagining Community and Civil Society in Latin America and the Caribbean Roberta Rice, Gordana Yovanovich, 2016-07-15 Latin American and Caribbean communities and civil societies are undergoing a rapid process of transformation Instead of pervasive social atomization political apathy and hollowed out democracies which have become the norm in some parts of the world this region is witnessing an emerging collaboration between community civil society and government that is revitalizing democracy This book argues that a key explanation lies in the powerful and positive relationship between community and civil society that exists in the region The ideas of community and civil society tend to be studied separately as analytically distinct concepts however this volume seeks to explore their potential to work together A unique contribution of the work is the space for dialogue it creates between the social sciences and the humanities Many of the studies included in the volume are based on primary fieldwork and place based case studies Others relate literature music and film to important theoretical works providing a new direction in interdisciplinary studies and highlighting the role that the arts play in community revival and broader processes of social change A truly multi disciplinary book bridging established notions of civil society and community through an authentically interdisciplinary approach to the topic A History of Colombian Literature Raymond Leslie Williams, 2016-06-13 In recent decades the international recognition of Nobel Laureate Gabriel García Márquez has placed Colombian writing on the global literary map. A History of Colombian Literature explores the genealogy of Colombian poetry and prose from the colonial period to the present day. Beginning with a comprehensive introduction that charts the development of a national literary tradition, this History includes extensive essays that illuminate the cultural and political intricacies of Colombian literature. Organized thematically, these essays survey the multilayered verse and fiction of such diverse writers as José Eustacio Rivera, Tomás Carrasquilla, Álvaro Mutis, and Darío Jaramillo Agudelo. Written by a host of leading scholars, this History also devotes special attention to the lasting significance of colonialism and multiculturalism in Colombian literature. This book is of pivotal importance to the development of Colombian writing and will serve as an invaluable reference for specialists and students alike.

The Routledge Handbook of Violence in Latin American Literature Pablo Baisotti, 2022-02-28 This Handbook brings together essays from an impressive group of well established and emerging scholars from all around the world to show the many different types of violence that have plagued Latin America since the pre-Colombian era and how each has been seen and characterized in literature and other cultural mediums ever since. This ambitious collection analyzes texts from some of the region's most tumultuous time periods beginning with early violence that was predominately tribal and ideological in nature to colonial and decolonial violence between colonizers and the native population through to the political violence we have seen in the postmodern period marked by dictatorship, guerrilla warfare, neoliberalism as well as representations of violence caused by drug trafficking and migration. The volume provides readers with literary examples from across the centuries showing not only how widespread the violence has been but crucially how it has shaped the region and evolved over time.

Global Issues in Contemporary Hispanic Women's Writing Estrella Cebreiro, Francisca López, 2013 Carolyn Tuttle led a group that interviewed 620 women maquila workers in Nogales, Sonora, Mexico. The responses from this representative sample refute many of the hopeful predictions made by scholars before NAFTA and reveal instead that little has improved for maquila workers. The women's stories make it plain that free trade has created more low-paying jobs in sweatshops where workers are exploited. Families of maquila workers live in one or two room houses with no running water, no drainage, and no heat. The multinational companies who operate the maquilas consistently break Mexican labor laws by requiring women to work more than nine hours a day, six days a week, without medical benefits, while the minimum wage they pay workers is insufficient to feed their families. These findings will make a crucial contribution to debates over free trade, CAFTA-DR, and the impact of globalization. The book visits continuities and discontinuities among Spanish and Latin American women with regards to the ways in which they approach writing as a political weapon to express ecological concerns, to denounce social injustice, to re-articulate existing paradigms such as local versus global, violence versus pacifism, immigrant versus citizen, and to raise consciousness about racist, sexist, and other discriminatory practices. Such use of writing as an instrument of ethical and political exploration is underlined throughout the different articles in the volume as the authors emphasize pluralism social justice gender equality tolerance and political representation This book offers readers a broad perspective on the multiple ways in which Hispanic women writers are explicitly exploring the social political and economic realities of our era and integrating global perspectives and gender concerns into their writing highlighting the unprecedented level of sociopolitical engagement practiced by 20th and 21st century Hispanic women writers
