Now Or Never How We Can Save Our Public Schools:

Now Or Never Tom Luce, Chris Tucker, 1995      Do what Works Tom Luce, 2005      Community Organizing for Urban School Reform Dennis Shirley, 1997

Observers of all political persuasions agree that our urban schools are in a state of crisis. Yet most efforts at school reform treat schools as isolated institutions disconnected from the communities in which they are embedded and insulated from the political realities which surround them. Community Organizing for Urban School Reform tells the story of a radically different approach to educational change. Using a case study approach, Dennis Shirley describes how working class parents, public school teachers, clergy, social workers, business partners, and a host of other engaged citizens have worked to improve education in inner city schools. Their combined efforts are linked through the community organizations of the Industrial Areas Foundation, which have developed a network of over seventy Alliance Schools in poor and working class neighborhoods throughout Texas. This deeply democratic struggle for school reform contains important lessons for all of the nation's urban areas. It provides a striking point of contrast to orthodox models of change and places the political empowerment of low income parents at the heart of genuine school improvement and civic renewal.

Asking the Right Questions about Schools John Chrysostom Dougherty, Chrys Dougherty, 2002

Parents who want to be more involved in their child's education, who want to be aware of what their child should be learning, and who want to be an informed part of the education process need to read this book. The first half of the book guides parents into an understanding of what a good education should look like, what skills and content children should learn, and the characteristics of a successful school. The second half is an action guide for improving education, keeping children from academic failure, raising standards, improving school safety, classroom teaching, and academic accountability. Each chapter stands alone, and together the result is a handbook for the informed parent.

The Rising State Bonnie C. Fusarelli, Bruce S. Cooper, 2009-02-02

State and national policymakers are increasingly important in shaping the nature, scope, and direction of education initiatives, resulting in the erosion of local control. The Rising State weaves together leading national experts' perspectives that focus on equity, comparative differences in state educational policies, agenda setting, and the nationalization of education policy. The contributors provide policymakers, teachers, administrators, parents, and the general public with an opportunity and means to understand the success and failure of the growth of state power and centralization of control of education in the United States and offer forecasts for future developments.

Optimizing Student Success in School with the Other Three Rs Robert J. Sternberg, Rena F. Subotnik, 2006-06-01

The Other Three Rs model began as an American Psychological Association (APA) initiative sponsored by Robert J. Sternberg, IBM Professor of Psychology and Education at Yale University, and Past President of the APA. For both this initiative and this edited volume, Sternberg assembled a diverse team of experts who identified reasoning, resilience, and responsibility as three learnable skills that, when taken together, have great potential for increasing academic success. The authors of this volume present in detail their
