Nuclear Lessons:

Nuclear Lessons Richard Curtis, Elizabeth R. Hogan, Shel Horowitz, 1980 Nuclear Lessons Learned ,2010 Nuclear Education and Training OECD Nuclear Energy Agency, 2012 The OECD Nuclear Energy Agency NEA first published in 2000 Nuclear Education and Training Cause for Concern which highlighted significant issues in the availability of human resources for the nuclear industry Ten years on Nuclear Education and Training From Concern to Capability considers what has changed in that time and finds that while some countries have taken positive actions in a number of others human resources could soon be facing serious challenges in coping with existing and potential new nuclear facilities This is exacerbated by the increasing rate of retirement as the workforce ages This report provides a qualitative characterisation of human resource needs and appraises instruments and programmes in nuclear education and training initiated by various stakeholders in different countries In this context it also examines the current and future uses of nuclear research facilities for education and training purposes Regarding the nuclear training component of workforce competence it outlines a job taxonomy which could be a basis for addressing the needs of workers across this sector It presents the taxonomy as a way of enhancing mutual recognition and increasing consistency of education and training for both developed and developing countries

Lessons Learned in Utility Management and the Status of the R&D Program Following the Accident at Three Mile Island United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology. Subcommittee on Energy Research and Production, 1985 The Second Nuclear Age Paul Bracken, 2012-11-13 A leading international security strategist offers a compelling new way to think about the unthinkable The cold war ended more than two decades ago and with its end came a reduction in the threat of nuclear weapons a luxury that we can no longer indulge It s not just the threat of Iran getting the bomb or North Korea doing something rash the whole complexion of global power politics is changing because of the reemergence of nuclear weapons as a vital element of statecraft and power politics In short we have entered the second nuclear age In this provocative and agenda setting book Paul Bracken of Yale University argues that we need to pay renewed attention to nuclear weapons and how their presence will transform the way crises develop and escalate He draws on his years of experience analyzing defense strategy to make the case that the United States needs to start thinking seriously about these issues once again especially as new countries acquire nuclear capabilities He walks us through war game scenarios that are all too realistic to show how nuclear weapons are changing the calculus of power politics and he offers an incisive tour of the Middle East South Asia and East Asia to underscore how the United States must not allow itself to be unprepared for managing such crises Frank in its tone and farsighted in its analysis The Second Nuclear Age is the essential guide to the new rules of international politics
