Ending Mass Incarceration Katherine Beckett, 2022 Ending Mass Incarceration explores why mass incarceration is a failed public safety strategy and what should be done to bring about truly transformative change Although policymakers on both the left and right now recognize mass incarceration as a problem rather than a solution and many states have taken steps to reduce prison populations the criminal legal response to crime is harsher than ever This book identifies three key dynamics that are bolstering mass incarceration It also identifies three broad changes that would limit the power and reach of the criminal legal system while also addressing the social problems to which it is a misguided response Drug Dependence, 1970-03 Drug Topics, 1981 Encyclopedia of Social Problems Vincent N. Drug Discovery and Development Michael Williams, Jeffrey B. Malick, 2012-12-06 The conceptual process of drug discovery is one that is often the result of an identified need in a defined disease area This need represents a mandate from the marketing department of a pharmaceutical company or a breakthrough at the research level that has agreed applicability in response to a valid therapeutic demand Although the intelligent design and development of new therapeutic entities as evidenced by Sir James Black's H₂ receptor antagonist cimetidine Tagamet is intellectually satisfying many novel drugs arise from serendipity from the chance observation of the research scientist or the clinician that a compound has unexpected actions of use for the treatment of human disease states Drugs that have been identified by this route include the antipsychotic chlorpromazine and the putative anxiolytic buspirone The events surrounding the process of drug discovery and development are the theme of the present volume which attempts to present in a logical and lucid manner the complexity of a process that is often naively assumed to represent nothing more than the identification of a new compound and its rapid introduction into humans free of such complications as efficacy selectivity safety bioavailability toxicity and need
