Pleasure Boating In The Victorian Era:

Pleasure Boating in the Victorian Era Paul A. L. Vine, 1983 Pleasure Boating on the Thames Simon Wenham, 2014-05-05 The River Thames above London underwent a dramatic transformation during the Victorian period from a great commercial highway into a vast conduit of pleasure. Pleasure Boating on the Thames traces these changes through the history of the firm that did more than any other on the waterway to popularise recreational boating. Salter Bros began as a small boat building enterprise in Oxford and went on to gain worldwide fame not only as the leading racing boat constructor but also as one of the largest rental craft and passenger boat operators in the country. Simon Wenham's illustrated history sheds light on over 150 years of social change, how leisure developed on the waterway including the rise of camping as well as how a family firm coped with the changes brought about by industrialisation, a business that today still carries thousands of passengers a year. The RIB David Sutcliffe, 2010 The Social History of English Rowing Neil Wigglesworth, 2013-10-31 This book seeks to redress the balance of reporting in the sport's literature which has always favoured the activities of aquatic gentlemen at the public schools, Oxford and Cambridge Universities, Henley Regatta and on the River Thames. This study focuses on the many who helped instigate and nurture the sport but who have been forgotten due to their not being associated with the elite of the sport. The Arctic Journal of Captain Henry Wemyss Feilden, R. A., The Naturalist in H. M. S. Alert, 1875-1876 Trevor Levere, 2019-11-04 The British Arctic Expedition of 1875-6 was the first major British naval expedition to the high Arctic where science was almost as important as geographical exploration. There were hopes that the expedition might find the hypothetical open polar sea and with it the longed-for Northwest Passage and it did reach the highest northern latitude to date. The Royal Society compiled instructions for the expedition and selected two full-time naturalists, an unusual naval concession to science, of whom one Henry Wemyss Feilden proved a worthy choice. Feilden was a soldier who fought in most of the wars in his lifetime, including the American Civil War on the Confederate side. On board HMS Alert he kept a daily journal, a record important for its scientific content but also as a view of the expedition as seen by a soldier, revealing admiration and appreciation for his naval colleagues. He performed whatever tasks were given to him, including the rescue of returning sledge parties stricken by scurvy. He also did a remarkably comprehensive job in mapping the geology of Smith Sound; some of his work on the Cape Rawson Beds was the most reliable until the 1950s. He was an all-round naturalist and a particularly fine geologist and ornithologist. He was not just a collector; he pondered the significance of his findings within the context of the best modern science of his day in zoology (Charles Darwin on evolution), in botany (Hooker on phytogeography) and in geology (Charles Lyell's system). He illustrated his journal with his own sketches and also enclosed the printed programmes of popular entertainments held on the ship and verses for birthdays and sledging. There was a printing press onboard. The journal gives a vigorous impression of a ship's company well occupied through the winter, then increasingly active in sledging and geographical discovery in spring before the scurvy.

induced decision to head home in the summer of 1876 After his return Feilden had dealings with many scientists and their institutions finding homes for and meaning in his collections Twenty-First-Century Perspectives on British Travel Writing Samia Ounoughi,Emmanuelle Peraldo,Anne-Florence Quaireau,2025-03-11 Twenty First Century Perspectives on British Travel Writing evidences the evolution of travel writing studies over the last two decades and points to innovative ways to study this heterogeneous genre This volume seeks to build bridges between the study of travel writing and disciplines of sciences and human sciences so that the analyses of travel texts images and objects lead to interdisciplinary enrichment This volume revisits the complicated relationship between fact and fiction science and literature and the world and the word through transdisciplinary approaches Through case studies of British travel writing from the eighteenth to the twenty first centuries the contributors provide illustrations of the fruitful intersection of travel writing studies with other methodologies such as literary studies gender studies postcolonial studies visual studies areal studies engineering studies food studies animal studies ecocriticism posthumanism and geocriticism British Canals Joseph Boughey,Charles Hadfield,2012-05-30 The first edition of British Canals was published in 1950 and was much admired as a pioneering work in transport history Joseph Boughey with the advice of Charles Hadfield has previously revised and updated the perennially popular material to reflect more recent changes For this ninth edition Joseph Boughey discusses the many new discoveries and advances in the world of canals around Britain inevitably focussing on the twentieth century to a far greater extent than in any previous edition of this book while still within the context of Hadfield s original work The Royal Military Canal Paul Vine,2010-03-15 The history of the waterway and military road from Shorncliffe in Kent to Cliff End in Sussex

Waterways and the Cultural Landscape Francesco Vallerani,Francesco Visentin,2017-09-11 Water control and management have been fundamental to the building of human civilisation In Europe the regulation of major rivers the digging of canals and the wetland reclamation schemes from the sixteenth to nineteenth centuries generated new typologies of waterscapes with significant implications for the people who resided within them This book explores the role of waterways as a form of heritage culture and sense of place and the potential of this to underpin the development of cultural tourism With a multidisciplinary approach across the social sciences and humanities chapters explore how the control and management of water flows are among some of the most significant human activities to transform the natural environment Based upon a wealth and breadth of European case studies the book uncovers the complex relationships we have with waterways the ways that they have been represented over recent centuries and the ways in which they continue to be redefined in different cultural contexts Contributions recognise not only valuable assets of hydrology that are at the core of landscape management but also more intangible aspects that matter to people such as their familiarity affecting what is understood as the fluvial sense of place This highly original collection will be of interest to those working in cultural tourism cultural geography heritage studies cultural history landscape studies and leisure studies Canoe and Kayak Handbook

British Canoe Union,2002 This handbook is an invaluable source of information for both novice and expert For the beginner it provides an overview of all aspects of the different paddle sports whilst the expert can use it as an update to the current theory and practice The Whole Paddler's Catalog Zip Kellogg,1997 For canoeists kayakers and rafters Types of paddling boats and gear voyaging health and safety conservation The Stroudwater and Thames and Severn Canals From Old Photographs Volume 1 Edwin Cuss,Mike Mills,2010-03-15 A captivating look at the history of the Stroudwater and Thames and Severn Canals through a fascinating collection of beautiful photographs The Story of Cambridge Stephanie Boyd,2005-01-16 This attractively illustrated book is intended to introduce readers of all ages to the fascinating university city of Cambridge Stephanie Boyd tells the story of the development of both town and gown over the past thousand years in an accessible narrative that brings to life both the institutions and the individuals associated with this celebrated seat of learning She looks at the colleges laboratories and increasingly companies that have grown up in Cambridge and at the individuals including kings queens scientists architects poets and writers particularly associated with the city To ÓJoy My Freedom Tera W. Hunter,1998-09-15 As the Civil War drew to a close newly emancipated black women workers made their way to Atlanta the economic hub of the newly emerging urban and industrial south in order to build an independent and free life on the rubble of their enslaved past In an original and dramatic work of scholarship Tera Hunter traces their lives in the postbellum era and reveals the centrality of their labors to the African American struggle for freedom and justice Household laborers and washerwomen were constrained by their employers domestic worlds but constructed their own world of work play negotiation resistance and community organization Hunter follows African American working women from their newfound optimism and hope at the end of the Civil War to their struggles as free domestic laborers in the homes of their former masters We witness their drive as they build neighborhoods and networks and their energy as they enjoy leisure hours in dance halls and clubs We learn of their militance and the way they resisted efforts to keep them economically depressed and medically victimized Finally we understand the despair and defeat provoked by Jim Crow laws and segregation and how they spurred large numbers of black laboring women to migrate north Hunter weaves a rich and diverse tapestry of the culture and experience of black women workers in the post Civil War south Through anecdote and data analysis and interpretation she manages to penetrate African American life and labor and to reveal the centrality of women at the inception and at the heart of the new south A Murder to Die For Stevyn Colgan,2018-01-25 When hordes of people descend on the picturesque village of Nasely for the annual celebration of its most famous resident murder mystery writer Agnes Crabbe events take a dark turn as the festival opens with a shocking death Each year the residents are outnumbered by crowds dressed as Crabbe s best known character the lady detective Millicent Cutter The weekend is never a mild mannered affair as fan club rivalries bubble below the surface but tensions reach new heights when a second Crabbe devotee is found murdered Though the police are quick to arrive on the scene the facts are tricky to ascertain as the witnesses suspects and victim are all dressed as Miss Cutter And they all want to solve that crime too Resorts and Ports Peter Borsay, John K. Walton, 2011 Resorts and Ports draws together a group of case studies which for the first time explore the changing relationships between port and resort activities in a cross section of European maritime settings over three centuries The book will interest academics in tourism studies history geography and cultural studies as well as providing essential information and analysis for policy makers in coastal regeneration The Eye of the Mammoth Stephen Harrigan, 2019-10-01 History natural history human history and personal history and place are the cornerstones of The Eye of the Mammoth Stephen Harrigan's career has taken him from the Alaska Highway to the Chihuahuan Desert from the casinos of Monaco to his ancestors village in the Czech Republic And now in this new edition he movingly recounts in Off Course a quest to learn all he can about his father who died in a plane crash six months before he was born Harrigan's deceptively straightforward voice belies an intense curiosity about things that by his own admission may be unknowable Certainly we are limited in what we can know about the inner life of George Washington the last days of Davy Crockett the motives of a caged tiger or a father we never met but Harrigan's gift a gift that has also made him an award winning novelist is to bring readers closer to such things to make them less remote just as a cave painting in the title essay eerily transmits the living stare of a long extinct mammoth New Jersey Intracoastal Waterway and Inlets O&M, 1975 Women in English Social History, 1800-1914 Barbara Kanner, 1990 The Little Book of Warwickshire Lynne Williams, 2015-07-06 Warwickshire home to William Shakespeare Rupert Brooke and the legendary Lady Godiva boasts a rich and engaging history Revealed within is a plethora of entertaining facts about Warwickshire's famous and occasionally infamous men and women its towns and countryside battles and sieges literary artistic and sporting achievements and its customs ancient and modern including the 800 year old Atherstone Ball Game akin in nature to running with the bulls in Pamplona which is still played every Shrove Tuesday This reliable reference book and quirky guide can be dipped into time and time again to reveal something new about the people the heritage the secrets and the enduring attraction of the county A remarkably enlightening little book this is essential reading for visitors and locals alike
