Dale M. Bauer, 2009-01-01 American women novelists of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries registered a call for a new sexual freedom Dale Bauer contends By creating a lexicon of sex expression many authors explored sexuality as part of a discourse about women's needs rather than confining it to the realm of sentiments where it had been relegated if broached at all by earlier writers This new rhetoric of sexuality enabled critical conversations about who had sex when in life they had it and how it signified Whether liberating or repressive sexuality became a potential force for female agency in these women's novels Bauer explains insofar as these novelists seized the power of rhetoric to establish their intellectual authority Thus Bauer argues they helped transform the traditional ideal of sexual purity into a new goal of sexual pleasure defining in their fiction what intimacy between equals might become Analyzing the work of canonical as well as popular writers_ including Edith Wharton Anzia Yezierska Julia Peterkin and Fannie Hurst among others_ Bauer demonstrates that the new sexualization of American culture was both material and rhetorical Theory and Research in Promoting Public

Performing Action Joseph R. Gusfield, 2015-03-31 In recent years the social sciences and the humanities have drawn closer to each other in thought and method This rapprochement has led to new perceptions of human behavior by sociologists as well as new methodological orientations Sociologist Joseph R Gusfield draws upon drama and fiction to show how human action is shaped by the formal dimensions of performance Gusfield first defines the concept of behavior as artistic performance He then analyzes routine and classic social research reports as literary performances in qualitative and quantitative terms Next he moves to social movements and public actions demonstrating how objects and events are products of the interpretation and reflection of individuals He draws upon literary and artistic conventions to deal with issues of representation and meaning In the first and last chapters Gusfield provides a conceptual summary examining the relation between sociology as science and art arguing that sociological methods are neither science nor art but partake of both Following the philosopher Paul Ricoeur Gusfield shows how human behavior can be read as a text always telling the participant or observer something about something Performing Action will be of interest to sociologists psychologists and students of aesthetics and critical theory The Eloquence of Silence Marnia Lazreg, 2014-04-23 The Eloquence of Silence makes a critical departure from more traditional studies of Algerian women which usually examine female roles in relation to Islam and instead takes an interdisciplinary look at the subject arguing that Algerian women's roles are shaped by a variety of structural and symbolic factors These elements include colonial domination demographic change nationalism socialist development policy of the 1960s and 70s family formation and the progressive shift to a capitalist economy Covering both pre colonial and colonial eras as well as the independence period this book focuses on the changes that took place in family structure and law customs education and the war of decolonization as they affected gender relations Marnia Lazreg approaches the post colonial era through an examination of how Algeria's model of economic development structural adjustment policies and the rise of religious political opposition affected women's lives Mark Lane Express ,1926
