

The Plenitude We Cry For

A Poem by Sandra Appleton

"I know of no work quite like it, for the unfolding organic feminine attentive realization of a natural object, both direct and associative. Rilke entered on things in a similar way but not at this length."

realized This idea does not belong to the general presuppositions of current ordinary usage It is nevertheless not difficult to find other similar examples outside of the language of sports It may be that such a use of modal notions is sometimes calculated to express that in the context in question there are no real alternative courses of events in contradistinction to other cases in which some possible alternatives remain unrealized Even though modal notions are currently interpreted without the presupposition that each genuine possibility should be realized at some moment of the actual history there are contemporary philosophical models of modalities which incorporate this presupposition In his book Untersuchungen über den Modalkalkül Anton Hain Meisenheim am Glan 1952 pp 16 36 Oscar Becker presents a statistical interpretation of modal calculi American Women Writers: Supplement Lina Mainiero, 1979 Mazzini, and Other Essays Henry Demarest Lloyd, 1910 Leaves from st.
