The food & drink guide for Papua New Guinea, 2025-09-25 Papua New Guinea Cookery Jeanne Clarke, 1977

Rural household welfare in Papua New Guinea: Food security and nutrition challenges Schmidt, Emily, Fang, Peixun, Mahrt, Kristi, 2022-08-04 Papua New Guinea continues to encourage a policy focus on food and nutrition security The PNG National Nutrition Policy 2016 2026 and Nutrition Strategic Action Plan 2018 2022 NSAP set a path to improve coordination secure sufficient funding and improve technical capacity of nutrition focused pro gram implementation As policy prioritizes improved nutrition outcomes it is important to understand the cost that households face of securing a higher level of nutrition Ensuring a healthy diet that meets nutrition standards is relatively expensive in PNG The analysis presented in this paper which uses detailed household food and non food consumption data suggests that 4 5 of households in the survey sample live below the healthy diet poverty line which sets a calorie threshold and defines healthy diet nutrition targets That is these households do not have the income available or do not consume sufficient food and non food goods to meet their basic needs which includes securing a nutritious diet that meets food based dietary guidelines The complete travel guide for Papua New Guinea , At YouGuide we are dedicated to bringing you the finest travel guides on the market meticulously crafted for every type of traveler Our guides serve as your ultimate companions helping you make the most of your journeys around the world Our team of dedicated experts works tirelessly to create comprehensive up to date and captivating travel guides Each guide is a treasure trove of essential information insider insights and captivating visuals We go beyond the tourist trail uncovering hidden treasures and sharing local wisdom that transforms your travels into extraordinary adventures Countries change and so do our guides We take pride in delivering the most current information ensuring your journey is a success Whether you're an intrepid solo traveler an adventurous couple or a family eager for new horizons our guides are your trusted companions to every country For more travel guides and information please visit www.youguide.com Food and Agriculture in Papua New Guinea R. Michael Bourke, Tracy Harwood, 2009-08-01 Agriculture dominates the rural economy of Papua New Guinea PNG More than five million rural dwellers 80% of the population earn a living from subsistence agriculture and selling crops in domestic and international markets Many aspects of agriculture in PNG are described in this data rich book Topics include agricultural environments in which crops are grown production of food crops cash crops and animals land use soils demography migration the macro economic environment gender issues governance of agricultural institutions and transport The history of agriculture over the 50 000 years that PNG has been occupied by humans is summarised Much of the information presented is not readily available within PNG The book contains results of many new analyses including a food budget for the entire nation The text is supported by 165 tables and 215 maps and figures Food Systems Profile - Papua New Guinea Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, European Union, CIRAD, 2023-08-03 Food systems are intimately linked to our lives through the food we eat our nutrition and health our livelihoods jobs and the environment and natural resources of the planet The main challenge for food systems is to produce nutritious food for all while preserving our biodiversity and environment and ensuring equitable distribution of wealth This Food Systems Profile provides a summary of the main food system issues in Papua New Guinea and highlights potential solutions for their sustainable and inclusive transformation It is the result of a systemic analysis and stakeholders consultation that was part of a global assessment of food systems in over 50 countries following a joint initiative by the European Union FAO and CIRAD which aims at catalysing the sustainable and inclusive transformation of food systems

Household wellbeing in rural Papua New Guinea: Poverty analysis from the 2023 PNG Rural Household Survey Mahrt, Kristi, Schmidt, Emily, Fang, Peixun, Mukerjee, Rishabh, 2025-02-26 This analysis provides the first poverty assessment using the cost of basic needs approach in Papua New Guinea in 15 decades The cost of basic needs poverty methodology is the standard approach to estimating poverty in low and middle income countries It aims to reflect the cost of a food basket and nonfood needs to secure a healthy life and minimum standard of living Using the cost of basic needs approach we calculate and compare two poverty measurements First we compute a standard traditional cost of basic needs poverty line where the food poverty line is defined by a dietary energy calorie threshold Second we extend the standard cost of basic needs approach to calculate a healthy diet food poverty line that meets both the dietary energy threshold as well as recommended nutrition targets Results suggest that 43 percent of sample individuals live below the standard cost of basic needs poverty line When recalculating the poverty line to account for a healthy diet threshold a mix of food groups set at quantities consistent with dietary guidelines we find that 64 percent of the sample is below the healthy diet poverty line On average households within the survey sample over consume the recommended daily quantity of staples and fats however daily consumption of vegetables fruits and protein rich foods e g fish meat nuts fall short of recommended targets The above poverty analysis begs the question of what characteristics are associated with higher income earning households we use per capita consumption expenditure as the rural income proxy Regression analysis suggests that greater production assets land and labor education market access and income diversification via non farm businesses and migrant remittances are associated with higher household incomes While we hypothesized that households engaged in cash crop sales i e cocoa coffee betelnut horticulture would be significantly better off we find that only cocoa farming households have significantly higher incomes The regression analysis reveals that facilitated access to a market is one of the most important indicators explaining per capita consumption expenditure i e income per person Households that are more than 4 hours from a market have about 25 percent less income compared to households that are within 2 hours from a market Conversely households that report owning a small business non farm enterprise are associated with approximately 25 percent greater consumption expenditure per capita While market access and income diversification are important to household incomes weather shocks such as floods are associated with significant declines 8 percent in per capita consumption expenditure Given the above results a pilot social safety net program in more remote greater than 4 hours from a market and flood prone areas where household incomes are significantly lower may provide important insights on the most efficient mechanisms to build resilience among PNG's vulnerable population Including a community asset building component e.g building and maintenance of rural feeder roads and bridges in the social safety net program could be tested to understand how best to support rural urban market linkages and incentivize off farm employment Understanding that a social safety net program requires significant resourcing including financial logistics and time there are other opportunities to improve rural welfare within the country Facilitating remittance transfers from migrants to rural households via electronic banking services and easing banking costs for rural households may increase remittance payments In addition facilitating access to primary education via reduced school fees and increasing school attendance via school feeding programs could provide greater income earning opportunities for better educated households as well as if designed properly fill some of the nutrition gaps demonstrated by the large share of individuals that live under the healthy diet poverty line presented in this paper
