The BBC Tom Mills, 2020-10-13 The BBC the mouthpiece of the Establishment The BBC is one of the most important institutions in Britain it is also one of the most misunderstood Despite its claim to be independent and impartial and the constant accusations of a liberal bias the BBC has always sided with the elite As Tom Mills demonstrates we are only getting the news that the Establishment wants aired in public Throughout its existence the BBC has been in thrall to those in power This was true in 1926 when it stood against the workers during the General Strike and since then the Corporation has continued to mute the voices of those who oppose the status quo miners in 1984 anti war protesters in 2003 those who offer alternatives to austerity economics since 2008 From the outset much of its activity has been scrutinised by the secret services at the invitation of those in charge Since the 1990s the BBC has been integrated into the market while its independence from government and big business has been steadily eroded The BBC is an important and timely examination of a crucial public institution that is constantly under threat

Making News Richard R. John, Jonathan Silberstein-Loeb, 2015 This book charts the rise and fall of the newspaper as the primary medium for the conveyance of news The book focuses on two of the most influential media markets in the modern world Great Britain and the United States between 1688 and 1995 In 1688 Parliament created institutional arrangements that would hasten the rise of the newspaper as the dominant medium for the circulation of news In 1995 the National Science Foundation commercialized the Internet encouraging an astonishing proliferation of information on all manner of topics including the news Per capita newspaper circulation had been declining for decades partly due to shifting social norms and partly due to the rise of broadcast news The Internet exacerbated this trend partly because it provided a cheaper news source and partly because it quickly became a superior vehicle for advertising a major source of revenue for newspaper publishers for over two hundred years However only rarely has advertising revenue and direct sales covered costs Almost never has the demand for news generated the revenue necessary for its supply Non market institutional arrangements have ranged from direct government subsidies to organizational forms that enabled news organizations to cooperate From a historical perspective the large profits reaped by a handful of newspaper publishers in the post Second World War era were anomalous and in no sense a baseline for public policy Never again will the newspaper be the dominant news medium To guarantee an informed citizenry in the future it is necessary to understand how the news business worked in the past This book is organized around eight essays each written by a distinguished specialist and each explicitly comparative Its theme is the indispensability in both Great Britain and the United States of non market institutional arrangements in the provisioning of news
