Webber, 2017-02-27 This collection of essays by international specialists in the literature of Berlin provides a lively and stimulating account of writing in and about the city in the modern period The first eight chapters chart key chronological developments from 1750 to the present day while subsequent chapters focus on Berlin drama and poetry in the twentieth century and explore a set of key identity questions ethnicity migration gender writing by women and sexuality queer writing Each chapter provides an informative overview along with closer readings of exemplary texts The volume is designed to be accessible for readers seeking an introduction to the literature of Berlin while also providing new perspectives for those already familiar with the topic With a particular focus on the turbulent twentieth century the account of Berlin's literary production is set against broader cultural and political developments in one of the most fascinating of global cities
