Chitnis, 2021-10-12 Originally published in 1976 this book discusses the relationship of the age of intellectual enlightenment in Scotland to the age of economic improvement and analyses the Scottish Enlightenment from a more sociological point of view. It describes the intense period of high intellectual endeavour and activity that took place in the resorts of the cultural social Scottish elite in 18th and early 19th Century Scotland. It discusses the crucial place of lawyers in 18th Century Scottish society and examines the intellectual features of the Scottish university system charting the rise of the societies clubs and other institutions such as the Encyclopaedia Britannica and The Edinburgh Review. Selected Essays on the Conflict of Laws Friedrich Juenger, 2021-10-25 Friedrich K Juenger on the conflict of laws is always worth attending to. Rejecting the conventional wisdom that prevails in the field he sees the conflict of laws not as a discipline devoid of substantive values but as a powerful catalyst for multistate justice. Here is a wide ranging collection of essays on a variety of problems posed by transactions that transcend state and national borders. The essays include a comparison of jurisdiction issues in the United States and the European Communities opinions on forum shopping a critique of interest analysis techniques and a plea for a comparative approach to choice of law issues. Invaluable studies in the extraterritorial application of United States antitrust law recognition of foreign money judgments and divorces and regional conventions round out the collection. Published under the Transnational Publishers imprint. Adam Smith and the Philosophy of Law and Economics R.P. Malloy, J.

Evensky, 2012-12-06 Adam Smith and the Philosophy of Law and Economics is a unique book. Malloy and Evensky bring together a team of international and interdisciplinary scholars to address the work of Adam Smith as it relates to law and economics. In addition to their own contributions the book includes works by Dr John W Cairns of the University of Edinburgh Dr J Ralph Lindgren of Lehigh University Professor Kenneth A B Mackinnon of the University of Waikato and the Honorable Richard A Posner of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Together these authors bring expertise from the areas of law philosophy history economics and law and economics to a new study of Adam Smith and his work. Part One of the book presents new and important observations on Smith's views on community ethics the court system criminal law and delictual or tort law liability. In this part of the book Smith's work is also examined from the perspective of his use as persuasive authority in the works of modern legal economists. In Part Two the living Smith is explored by way of a debate between two major contributors in the field of law and economics. The debate and its analysis create a unique and contemporary opportunity to study Smith as a foundational source in the midst of a current academic and social policy dispute. The understanding of Adam Smith that emerges from this book is new and complex. It will challenge the one dimensional portrayals of Smith as a promoter of self interest and it will correct many of the misinterpretations of Smith that are currently fashionable in the worlds of law and economics and the philosophy of law. Women and Enlightenment in illuminates both the life and the work of one of the most important literary figures of the age and contributes significantly to the scholarship on this rich period In the introduction Irma S Lustig sets the tone for the volume She reveals that the essays examining Boswell as Citizen of the World are deliberately paired with those that analyze his artistic skills to emphasize that Boswell's sophistication as a writer is inseparable from his cosmopolitanism The essays in Part I focus on the relationship of the Enlightenment at home and abroad to Boswell's personal development Marlies K Danziger restores to significant life the continental philosophers and theologians Boswell consulted in his search for religious certainty Peter Perreten examines Boswell's enraptured study of Italian antiquity and his responses to the European landscape Richard B Sher and Perreten document the personal and aesthetic influence of Henry Home Lord Kames Scottish jurist and leading Enlightenment figure on Boswell Michael Fry discusses Boswell's relationship with Henry Dundas political manager for Scotland and Thomas Crawford examines Boswell's long standing interest in the volatile political issues of the period including the French Revolution through his correspondence with William Johnson Temple In evaluation Boswell's performance as Laird of Auchinleck John Strawhorn documents his efforts to improve the estate by use of new agricultural methods The essays in Part II study aspects of Boswell's artistry in Life of Johnson the magnum opus that set a standard for biography Carey McIntosh examines Boswell's use of rhetoric and William P Yarrow offers a close scrutiny of metaphor Isobel Grundy invokes Virginia Woolf in demonstrating Boswell's acceptance of uncertainty as a biographer John B Radner reveals Boswell's self assertive strategies in his visit with Johnson at Ashbourne in September 1777 and finally Lustig examines as a subplot of the biography Johnson's patient efforts to win the friendship of Margaret Montgomerie Boswell An appendix by Hitoshi Suwabe serves scholars by providing the most exact account to date of Boswell's meetings with Johnson

Scottish Society, 1707-1830 Christopher A. The Language of Mineralogy Matthew D. Eddy, 2016-12-05 Classification is an important part of science yet the specific methods used to construct Enlightenment systems of natural history have proven to be the belte noir of studies of eighteenth century culture. One reason that systematic classification has received so little attention is that natural history was an extremely diverse subject which appealed to a wide range of practitioners including wealthy patrons, professionals and educators. In order to show how the classification practices of a defined institutional setting enabled naturalists to create systems of natural history, this book focuses on developments at Edinburgh's medical school, one of Europe's leading medical programs. In particular, it concentrates on one of Scotland's most influential Enlightenment naturalists, Rev. Dr. John Walker, the professor of natural history at the school from 1779 to 1803. Walker was a traveller, cleric, author and advisor to extremely powerful aristocratic and government patrons as well as teacher to hundreds of students, some of whom would go on to become influential industrialists, scientists, physicians and politicians. This book explains how Walker used his networks of patrons and early training in chemistry to become an eighteenth century naturalist. Walker's mineralogy was based firmly in chemistry, an approach common in Edinburgh's medical school but a connection that has been generally overlooked in the history of British geology. By explicitly connecting eighteenth century geology to the chemistry being taught in medical settings, this book offers a dynamic new interpretation of the nascent earth sciences as they were practiced in Enlightenment Britain. Because of Walker's influence on his many students, the book also provides a unique insight into how many of Britain's leading Regency and Victorian intellectuals were taught to think about the composition and structure of the material world.

Money in the Western Legal Tradition David Fox, Wolfgang Ernst, 2016-01-28 Monetary law is essential to the functioning of private transactions and international dealings by the state; nearly every legal transaction has a monetary aspect. Money in the Western Legal Tradition presents the first comprehensive analysis of Western monetary law, covering the civil law and Anglo-American common law legal systems from the High Middle Ages up to the middle of the 20th century. Weaving a detailed tapestry of the changing concepts of money and private transactions throughout the ages, the contributors investigate the special contribution made by legal scholars and practitioners to our understanding of money and the laws that govern it. Divided in five parts, the book begins with the coin currency of the Middle Ages, moving through the invention of nominalism in the early modern period to cashless payment and the rise of the banking system and paper money, then charting the progression to fiat money in the modern era. Each part commences with an overview of the monetary environment for the historical period, written by an economic historian or numismatist. These are followed by chapters describing the legal doctrines of each period in civil and common law. Each section contains examples of contemporary litigation or statute law which engages with the distinctive issues affecting the monetary law of the period. This interdisciplinary approach reveals the distinctive conception of money prevalent in each period, which either facilitated or hampered the implementation of economic policy and the operation of private transactions.
